MEXICO CITY MENACED BY INSURRECTIONISTS.

Rebels Cut Railroad Communication; Troops Sent to Oaxaca; Fight is Imminent at Mazatlan.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Renewed rebel activities near Mexico City reported today through official channels. Cuernavaca, capital of Morelos and not far from Mexico City, was said to be held by rebels and the road to the Federal capital cut.

Small detachments of troops have been sent from Mexico City in an effort to put down uprisings. One detachment has been sent to Oaxaca, reports said, although the Carranza government hitherto has declared the state peaceful.

Mexico City officials also were said to have admitted finally that Gen. Obregon had gone over to the rebels and that he had forces in Guerrero. He has been operating on the border of Guerrero and Michoacan, and it was to this district that Gen. Alvaro Obregon is supposed to have fled from Mexico City.

Appeal for an American warship to protect foreigners at Mazatlan was sent to the State Department at the urgent instigation of the Mexican naval commander there, it was reported today. It was received about two weeks before it was made public, and while it came directly from the American consular agent, the fact that the Mexican consular agent had urged such action was not revealed only today.

Battle between Mexican Federal troops sent out from the Pacific coast at Manzanillo to meet the revolutionists marching on that place is imminent, according to advices received here today from Mexico.

The revolutionary army under Gen. Manuel Flores is rapidly approaching Manzanillo, the advices said, and the Federal forces have withdrawn to within forty-six miles of the city. In retreating, the Federal troops are said to have burned bridges and to have thrown up fortifications apparently with the intention of making a stand.

Detachment of Federal troops has been sent from Mexico City to Puebla in an effort to prevent any rebellion in that State. Railroad communication between Mexico City and Guadalajara has been interrupted by the destruction of bridges, an important railroad point.

MEXICAN NAVY TO MOVE.

PUEBLA, (Sonora) April 26.—General Calles intends to move with his troops to the west coast to aid in the defense of Mazatlan, two ports of which are supposed to be held by revolutionary forces, according to information received here. Sonora sympathizers announced the news was received here.

Two warships, it was reported, were sent through the Panama canal, if the United States reports are true. Two Carranza cruisers, it was said, are on the west coast and one of the five would be used against ports already held by rebels and others the revolutionists are attempting to capture. An American citizen was arrested in a Carranza spy last night by Sonora military officials, but released, according to information given W. W. Edwards, United States Consular Agent, who conducted an investigation today.

The American, according to the Sonora revolutionary authorities, was warned to return to the American side and remain out of Mexico. The Sonorans had evidence, they said, which would have convicted the American in a military court, but released him because of his youth and the desire to avoid complications with the United States.

NO DEATH PENALTY.

AGUA PRIETA (Son.) April 26.—The death penalty for political offenders in territory controlled by the Liberal Constitutionalist army is prohibited, in an order issued by Gov. Adolfo de la Huerta of Sonora, temporarily supreme commander of the revolution, today.

At headquarters of Gen. P. Elias Calles, military commander of the army of the northwest, it was announced that travelers and Carranza deserters from the vicinity of Pulpito Pass brought information here today that the expected attack of Carranza troops on Sonora had not taken place because the soldiers had shown no disposition to fight.

Col. Antonio Guerrero, with 500 Mayo Indians, arrived at Naco tonight to reinforce Sonora troops on the Chihuahua boundary. Guerrero is one of the most noted Indian fighters in Mexico and was chief of staff for Gen. Alvaro Obregon in the latter's Chihuahua campaign against Francisco Villa.

CHIHUAHUA CITY, April 26.—Confirmation has been received here that Gen. Arnulfo Gomez, in the Tampico oil fields, has revolted with part of his command, siding with Gen. Alvaro Obregon and joining hands with Palaez, the rebel chief operator in that section.

OIL FIELDS SAFE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

HOUSTON (Tex.) April 26.—Despite rumors that the Sonora revolution is involving the Tampico oil fields, the gist of messages received during the last thirty-six hours from that district by oil companies with headquarters here was "business as usual," and one message contained a request for more men to carry on development work. No word of fighting in the oil fields has been received here.

ANTI-TRUST SUIT WON.

Rail-Coal Combine Ordered Dissolved.

Supreme Court Gives Long-Pending Decision Against Reading Company.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Announcing its decision in a part of the long pending anthracite coal trust cases today, the Supreme Court, in a four to three opinion, sustained a majority of the government's charges of illegal combination against the Reading Company, a Pennsylvania holding corporation, and certain of its railroad and coal subsidiaries, and ordered their dissolution. Chief Justice White and Associate Justices Holmes and Van de Vanter, dissented, while Justices McReynolds and Brandeis took no part.

Associated with the Reading Company as defendants were the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, and the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company. The constant recurrence of the words "Lehigh Company" caused the opinion to exist that the so-called Lehigh case, which actually refers to the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, and which was argued last fall, with the Reading case, also was being decided.

Dispatches saying the government had also won its case against the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company were sent out, and it was not until an hour later, when copies of Justice Clarke's opinion were made available, that it was found the court had acted on the Reading case alone. The court concluded announcement of decisions without reaching the Lehigh Valley Railway case.

VIOLATES SHERMAN ACT.

The majority opinion held the holding company guilty of violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, and reversed Federal court decrees rendered in Philadelphia, in 1915, refusing to sustain the government's charges of monopoly, but directing separation of the Central Railway of New Jersey from its subsidiary coal company, the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company. Dissolution was ordered by the Supreme Court of the Reading Company, the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company; the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company; the Central Railroad of New Jersey, and the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, maintained through the holding corporation, so that they would be entirely independent of each other. Disposition of the stock and bonds of the companies held by the Reading Company, also was directed.

LEHIGH ROAD ESCAPES.

The court, however, sustained lower court decrees absolving the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, the Lehigh and New England Railroad Company, and the Lehigh and Hudson River Railway Company of charges as to restrictive covenants in mining leases respecting the shipping of coal. It also refused to order the dissassociation of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, and the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, maintained through the holding company.

Charges against directors of the holding company, including the late George F. Baer and Henry C. Frick as well as George F. Baker, Henry A. Dupont, Daniel Willard, Henry P. McKean and Samuel Dickson, who were also named as defendants, were dismissed.

"A majority of the individual defendants," the finding said, "have died since the suit was instituted and their successors have not been made parties, and since the conclusion to be announced can be given full effect by an appropriate decree against the corporation defendants, the case as against the remaining individual defendants need not be considered, and as to them the bill will be dismissed without prejudice."

Similar action was taken in regard to the Wilmington and Northern Railway companies. Injunctions restraining enforcement of provisions inserted by the Reading and Wilkesbarre Coal Company in coal leases, requiring the lessee to ship all coal mined by designated rail routes, were made permanent, the

JOHNSON'S RECORD OF FAILURE.

State Official Reviews His Career and His Acts and Says He is Wholly Unfitted to Serve as President of the United States.

BY FRANK C. JORDAN,
Secretary of State of California.

The nation needs in the Presidential office not a jingo patriot, coining phrases to meet emergencies; not a man who appeals to passion, who endeavors to raise class against class, who revels in sensationalism; not a silver-tongued or smooth-spoken demagogue, but our country needs a clean, straight-forward man of unquestioned constructive and organizing ability; possessing intimate knowledge of international affairs, free from class prejudice; gifted with clear and fearless utterance.

I am a Californian, a Republican, above all, an American, and, while it would be a source of pride and honor—possibly of great advantage for my State of California to have one of its sons in the Presidential chair, Hiram W. Johnson should not attain his ambition. He does not measure up, is not fitted for and particularly is it true that he is not entitled to Republican support for the great office he seeks.

I fully realize the importance of this statement—I am not actuated by personal feeling, but am moved by patriotic impulse. When I have finished my present term as Secretary of the State of California, I will have held public office for twenty-six years. Always as a regular Republican—not as a Republican for political expediency—have I been elected to office.

I am qualified to speak concerning his administration and any statement of mine can be substantiated by affidavit and by referring to the statutes of my State, the reports of the State comptrollers and to the exhaustive tables and statements prepared by the Taxpayers' Association of California. I was a close observer of his methods and practices during the period he served as Governor. For six years I was the lone Republican executive official.

During his administration he devoted his efforts in building up and strengthening his personal political "machine," than which no greater ever existed in any State of the Union. To that end the public service, its offices and patronage and power which the executive enjoyed was used.

CREDIT DUE TO OTHERS.

The friends of Senator Johnson assert that he drove the railroads out of politics—that he created a Railroad Commission, which made the corporations the servants of the State, not the masters. It is a fact that the railroad companies were never so well satisfied with existing conditions. Freights and fares have in few instances been reduced, but in many instances increased. Great corporations enjoy monopolistic control and competition has been stifled.

It is asserted that he gave California the initiative, referendum and recall, laws to protect women and children, a blue-sky law, a pure food law, the Employers' Liability and Workmen's Compensation Act, an eight-hour law for women and children, a law improving labor and housing conditions, an eight-hour law for underground miners, pensions for widows.

These measures did not originate with him, but were copied from the statutes of other States and reflected the tendencies of the times.

He is credited with the magnificent system of State highways in California. It is a fact that Gillett, the last regular Republican Governor of California, was the father of that great plan and left as a starter a bond issue of $18,000,000 for Johnson to spend.

He is given credit for giving the women of California the right of suffrage. It is a fact that Johnson refused to take a stand and that in no speech during the campaign did he assist in any way; on the contrary he is reported as saying: "The time is not opportune."

It is attempted to credit him with

UNION LABOR TO HOOVER

Workers Rally to Food Wizard.

San Francisco Trades League Requests All Toilers to Vote for Him.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—Lively "drives" for primary votes are to be conducted in Northern and Central California by both the Hiram W. Johnson and the Herbert C. Hoover camps in the final week of the campaign. Tonight the Hoover forces concentrated on a big union labor rally in Oakland, while Johnson meetings will be held in San Francisco, Petaluma and Santa Cruz.

Hoover speakers during the week will be Mrs. Robert J. Burdette of Los Angeles, Prof. Thomas Reed of the University of California, Mrs. Lydia Lawhead of Woodland, and others. Among the Johnson speakers will be Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco, Peter Clark MacFarlane, Frank R. Devlin, Mrs. Bradford Woodbridge, Col. Harris Weinstock, Atty.-Gen. U. S. Webb, and C. A. A. McGee.

FOR OAKLAND WORKERS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

OAKLAND, April 26.—A union labor mass meeting was held here tonight, with the theater of the Oakland Auditorium filled to capacity.

Arthur Tasheria, president of the Oakland Hoover Republican Club presided. The speakers included Prof. Thomas H. Reed of the University of California; Capt. T. T. C. Gregory, former aide of Hoover in Europe; Mrs. Robert J. Burdette of Pasadena, delegate on the Hoover ticket, and Frederick Ely, who represented the union labor men who are working with the California Hoover Republican Club.

Bands played up town for an hour preceding the meeting furnishing music which preceded the addresses. Singing by the audience was a part of the programme.

Ushers for the evening were members of the College Women's Hoover League, of which Miss Pearl Dewing is chairman, and Miss Florence Burrill, Miss Margaret Garth-Waite and Dr. Vernette Gibbons, the committee, having last night's ushering in charge.

Two hundred representative men and women of Alameda county were seated on the stage as vice-presidents of the meeting. Prominent among these were Former Governor George C. Pardee, State Senator Arthur H. Breed, Judge J. J. Mattos, Mrs. David P. Barrows, Mrs. George E. Perkins, Miss Ethel Moore, Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, of Pasadena, who is representing the women of California in the campaign for Hoover, spoke on the reason "Why women believe in Herbert Hoover."

"Women believe in Herbert Hoover, because of his untarnished integrity. He cannot be bought, nor does he try to buy people or support."

Frederick J. Ely, represented the union labor men, who are working for Hoover. He spoke of the things which Hoover has done for labor, of his introduction of the eight-hour day in his mining enterprises, of his dealing with thousands of workers without a strike, and his belief and practice of the principle of the right of collective bargaining.

"Hoover is for the League of Nations, and no man who belongs to the American Federation of Labor, which is on record as believing in such a league, can fail to vote for Hoover, and remain true to his union labor stand," he said.

Capt. T. T. C. Gregory spoke of the work Hoover did abroad, and of his qualifications as a man of business, with sound experience in his employment of labor, and of his handling of the greatest business in the world—the feeding of Europe.

Prof. Thomas H. Reed of the University of California made a short address.

"He is better qualified for the purpose of securing that economy of administration in the affairs of our government, which is absolutely essential to bring down this inflation and to restore normal living condition," he said.

UNION LABOR FOR HOOVER.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—The San Francisco Labor League for Hoover, in a circular letter issued today and sent to thousands of workers throughout the State, explains why it stands for Herbert Hoover, in preference to Hiram Johnson. The letter reads as follows:

Hoover is the man who established the eight-hour day in the mines.

Hoover insists upon the right of the workers to organize and bargain collectively.

Hoover is opposed to child labor.

Hoover believes in a living wage.

Hoover is for the League of Nations, to which the entire American labor movement is irrevocably committed.

Hoover is demanding a higher salary for public school-teachers.

While Hoover is a friend of organized union labor, he is opposed to all the "isms" which would destroy organized labor.

ULTIMATUM TO GERMANY; MUST FULFILL TREATY.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

SAN REMO, April 26.—Results of the Supreme Council's ten-day meeting are such that each government taking part seems to consider its aspirations have been measurably satisfied. The premiers and foreign ministers parted in great personal cordiality and apparently with much more confidence in the near future.

The Council's note to Germany, in its intentionally harsh form, complies with the French attitude toward a defaulting debtor, while in substance it is an expression of the British policy, making it easier for Germany to pay through the Council's consent to discuss with the chiefs of her government the amount of reparation, and the willingness of the Allies to examine proposals.

France also gains, for, as Paul Hymans, Belgian Foreign Minister, remarked today, "French hopes may be reduced, but her realities will be increased by the fixing of a global sum for Germany to pay."

M. Jasper, Belgian Minister of Reconstruction, says if such a sum is agreed upon, the Germans will start earnestly to work, because heretofore there has been no inducement for them to pay any part of unknown and vaguely enormous liabilities.

REVISION IS ESCHEWED.

The word "revision" is eschewed by the prime ministers in talking of the Treaty of Versailles, the word "interpretation" is coming into use. Italian Premier Nitti appears content over the Council leaving the Adriatic question to a continuance of direct negotiations with the Jugo-Slavs.

The Belgians are satisfied because they believe the western block of powers, Great Britain, France and Belgium, remains as solid as ever against Germany. They also favor immediate fixing of the amount of Germany's debts.

M. Venizelos, the Greek Premier, seems pleased over the extension of Greek territories by the addition of Thrace and Smyrna, ancient possessions of the Greek race.

The attitude of the Council was conciliatory toward Russia in instructing the executive committee of the Supreme Economic Council to negotiate with the soviet representative Krassin, for commercial arrangements.

ZIONISTS ARE HAPPY.

The Turks alone may feel that this has been a dark week for them; yet Cilicia has been left to Turkey. The French statesmen decided on taking no further commitments in the Near East, except Syria. The Turks also still have a chance to receive Erzeroum, through the arbitration of President Wilson in the matter of the Armenian boundaries.

The British Premier, Lloyd George, feels this has been one of the most successful meetings the Supreme Council has held, one of promise for the future of Europe and the restoration of economic relations.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

SAN REMO, April 26.—The text of the common declaration adopted by the Allies at the San Remo conference says:

"The Allied Powers have taken cognizance of the letter of Dr. Goeppert (head of the German delegation in Paris,) of April 20, transmitting a request from the German Minister of War, asking that the German government be authorized to retain an army of 200,000 instead of 100,000 men as provided for in the Versailles Treaty, and affirming that this is a necessity in order to maintain order.

"The Allies must declare immediately that a proposition of this nature cannot even be examined as long as Germany is failing to meet the most important obligations imposed by the peace treaty, and does not proceed with disarmament, on which depends the peace of the world. Germany has not fulfilled its engagements neither concerning the destruction of war material nor the decrease of its effectives, nor for the supplying of coal, nor for reparations or the costs of the armies of occupation. It has given neither satisfaction nor made excuses for criminal attacks, which several times members of the Allied missions in Germany have been the victims of.

GERMANY'S BAD FAITH.

"It has taken no steps to determine, as was provided for in the protocol of the treaty, its obligations concerning reparations in order to make propositions with the view of fixing the total amount, which it must pay, despite the urgent character that a settlement of this sort presents in the interests of all the parties concerned. It seems to have not even considered how it can meet its obligations when they become due.

"The Allies realize the difficulties met by the German government, and do not seek to impose too narrow an interpretation of the treaty, but they are unanimous in declaring that they cannot tolerate a continuation of these infractions of the treaty of Versailles; that the treaty must be executed and remain as the basis of relations between Germany and the Allies, and that they are resolved to take all measures, even if necessary the occupation of an additional part of German territory, in order to insure execution of the treaty. They affirm, however, that they have no intention of annexing any part of the German territory.

TO EXCHANGE VIEWS.

"At the same time the Allies deem that questions arising from violations of the peace treaty, as well as from the measures necessary to insure its execution, would be more easily solved by exchanges of views between the chiefs of the governments than by note. Thus they decide to invite the chiefs of the German government to direct conference with the chiefs of the Allied governments and request that at the proposed meeting the German government present to them explanations and precise positions on all the subjects mentioned in the foregoing.

"If a satisfactory agreement is arrived at on these points the Allied governments will be willing to discuss with the German representatives any questions which affect the internal order and economic well being of Germany. But Germany must understand that the entry of the Allies for execution of the treaty is as solid as it was few days and that the only method of taking her place in the world is loyalty to execute the engagements to which she has subscribed."

BELGIANS SATISFIED.

Paul Hymans, the Belgian Foreign Minister, said today that the Belgians were "altogether satisfied with results of the conference, which ends with a demonstration of the intimate and sincere unity of the Allies."

"The impression in Europe, and particularly in Germany, will be considerable," he declared. "Germany will realize that her maneuver to divide the Allies has turned against her. . . .

"This close and very thorough understanding gratifies us, because it is necessary to our security as well as the security of the world. . . .

"The disarmament of Germany is a matter that is the center of the conference's attention. It is necessary to render Germany inoffensive."

ARABS ATTACK BRITISH TROOPS IN PALESTINE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

CAIRO, April 26.—Fighting is reported as taking place between Arabs and British troops in Palestine.

Two thousand Bedouins attacked Semakh, south of Lake Tiberias, from which the small British force withdrew after a fight in which they suffered a few casualties.

The incident was not important, according to the official view, being merely a local development of recent Bedouin cattle forays.

CUT OFF LEGS TO GET CASH.

NEW YORK, April 26.—The story of how two Milwaukee robbers stole $1723 attached with court plaster to a sailor's leg, was told today in court when the robbers, Frank Frator and John Defranza, were sentenced to Sing Sing for eight to twenty years.

Frank Zic, the sailor, it seems, was afraid of banks. He plastered his money to his person. The robbers learned his secret and went to work, one covering him with a revolver, while the other cut off the legs of his trousers.

RISE IN SUGAR PROSPECT.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Representatives of large sugar refineries and Department of Justice officials met here today, but progressed no farther than discussion of the "whole sugar situation," they said. The conference will be resumed tomorrow.

Meanwhile, reports persisted that a further rise in sugar prices was in sight.

Alfred Fitz, assistant Attorney-General in charge of the price fixing campaign, would not discuss the conference. Before it met he said the question of prices would be taken up only in its relation to the problem of sufficient sugar to meet the demand. It developed tonight, however, that much of today's discussion bore on prices.

Those in attendance said there was much talking but no action. Government officials who attended refused to divulge the substance of what was discussed, nor would they indicate what efforts were under consideration toward halting a further skyrocketing in prices. Refiners declared they could not guarantee adequate supplies without further increases. The abnormal demand for sugar has forced them into hard competition with foreign buyers, they said. Mr. Figg's efforts in connection with the sugar situation have been directed at developing sources of supply which will prove sufficient to meet requirements. He was said to have asked refiners to survey the world's visible supply and for a statement of the amount of their stocks. None of the refiners was said to have even "normal" supplies. Amounts held were not disclosed to the public.

FROM STARS TO TWINS.

Scientists Solve World Problems; Million Worlds Like Ours Possible.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Whether there is one great universe, perhaps ten times as large as commonly believed, or a million "island" universes similar to that of which the earth is a party, was discussed at tonight's session of the annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences.

Dr. Heber D. Curtis of Lick Observatory, California, defended the old idea that the milky way contained practically all the stars, and the planetary and diffused nebulae and the star clusters. He said such a universe was "relatively small," being less than 30,000 light-years in diameter, and not more than 3000 light-years in thickness. He reminded his hearers, however, that light travels 186,000 miles a second.

Dr. Harlow Shapely, of the Mt. Wilson Solar Observatory, advanced the theory of a galaxy of stars ten or more times larger than the Milky Way. Beyond this galaxy, he declared, there undoubtedly are other universes, the only traces of which appear as dim star clusters through the telescope.

Another discussion concerned twins. Dr. C. B. Davenport, of the Carnegie Institute, presented a study showing that about 1.1 per cent. of human births were plural and that twins are especially likely to occur in families of which the mother or father, or both, have close blood relatives who were twins.

MAY SETTLE OWN SQUABBLE

San Remo Council Agrees to Let Italy and Jugo-Slavia Negotiate.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

SAN REMO, April 26.—The council of premiers at the request of Premier Nitti of Italy and Foreign Minister Trumbitch of Jugo-Slavia will allow the Adriatic question to remain in negotiation between the Italian and Jugo-Slav governments, it was learned today.

Reports that the Adriatic question, including the disposition of Fiume, would be settled by the San Remo council in accordance with President Wilson's programme, appeared from San Remo advices last night to be at least premature.

It was stated that the settlement proposed by Premier Nitti varied from President Wilson's proposal by including a constitution for the buffer state of Fiume to which both the French and British premiers objected.

Premier Nitti was informed by both the French and British delegations that Italy should either accept President Wilson's plan or abide by the pact of London, which gave Fiume to the Jugo-Slavs.

JUGO-SLAVS IN PROTEST.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The Jugo-Slav government in a note to Premier Nitti of Italy has protested against the Supreme Council now in session at San Remo, Italy, taking up settlement of the Adriatic controversy.

The note, which was received today at the Serb-Croat-Slovene Legation here, said the direct negotiations between Italy and Jugo-Slavia had not been interrupted and also that Jugo-Slavia had not been invited to participate in the San Remo discussions.

Proposals from the Supreme Council at San Remo that the United States accept a mandate for Armenia and that President Wilson fix the boundaries of that country had not been received today at the State Department.

It was said that this country could not accept any mandate without action by Congress. There has been a strong sentiment in Congress against the United States becoming a mandatory power.

tears and reducing the cost of living.

Hoover is a real friend of humanity. He is not a politician. He is a great executive and has made a success of everything he has undertaken.

OPPOSING JOHNSON.

Organized labor of California should oppose the candidacy of Hiram W. Johnson for President for the following reasons:

Johnson side-stepped a vote on the Esch-Cummins bill, the most important union labor measure that has been up in the Senate since Johnson was elected to represent the people of California in that body.

Johnson, since he has been in the Senate, has taken no active part in securing anti-Asiatic legislation, which means so much to the workers of California.

Johnson has been a bitter opponent of the League of Nations, in spite of organized union labor's indorsement of that measure for bringing about a permanent world-wide peace.

While Governor of California, Johnson would not permit the Legislature to enact an anti-injunction law, in spite of union labor's demand for such a law.

Johnson is a politican, and has spent much of his time since first elected to public office in doing politics to further his own political ambitions.

At the primary election on May 4, organized union labor should be consistent. Labor should heed the advice of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, to "reward your friends and defeat your enemies."

WILL VOTE FOR HOOVER.

If that advice is heeded by organized labor of California, Herbert Hoover will get the vote of every trade unionist, as organized labor of California cannot consider as its friend a man whom labor has made and who has repeatedly ignored labor's wishes, as is shown by Johnson's record.

No matter how you are registered, when you go to the polls on May 4, vote for the Hoover delegates to the Republican National Convention. The Johnson delegates, many of them, are among the most bitter enemies of organized union labor.

MASSACHUSETTS BALLOT.

BOSTON, April 26.—None of the candidates for delegate-at-large to the Republican and Democratic national conventions will appear on the ballot in the mass primaries on Tuesday, as pledged to vote for any particular man for the Presidential nomination.

Four of the Republican candidates are running as a group, although under the law they must be voted for separately. They are Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Speaker F. H. Gillett of the National House of Representatives; Former Senator H. Murray Crane, and Edward A. Thurston. Although all are unpledged, Senator Lodge has announced that he will present the name of Gov. Coolidge to the convention if the Governor desires it.

The other candidates for the four Republican delegates-at-large are former Gov. Samuel W. McCall, who has declared in favor of Herbert Hoover; former Lieut.-Gov. Lewis A. Frothingham, who has announced that he will vote for Maj.-Gen. Wood, with Hoover as second choice; Congressman Alvan T. Fuller, who has pledged himself for Wood; Thomas W. Lawson, and Russel A. Wood.

On the Democratic ticket, the "regular" slate is composed of Senator David I. Walsh, Richard H. Long, Dist.-Atty. Joseph C. Pelletier, and Daniel F. Doherty. Former Congressman Joseph F. O'Connell, only other candidate, has made his campaign on the declaration that he will work for an anti-prohibition plank in the platform to be adopted at San Francisco.

WASHINGTON CONVENTION.

BELLINGHAM, April 26.—Washington Republicans, in convention here tomorrow will elect ten district delegates and four delegates-at-large to the Republication National Convention, and adopt a platform outlining the party's policy on State and national issues. More than 1000 delegates will attend tomorrow's sessions.

The convention will be called to order by State Chairman Sam Walker at 10 o'clock. At caucuses held yesterday and today, it was practically decided to name Judge C. W. Howard of Bellingham temporary chairman, and W. P. Bell, Everett, as permanent chairman.

National Committeeman S. A. Perkins arrived today and Senator Poindexter was expected late tonight. He will address the convention tomorrow afternoon.

If results of caucuses of Washington Republicans here on the eve of the State convention are followed, delegates to the national convention will be instructed to further the candidacy of United States Senator Miles Poindexter for the Presidential nomination. A fight is expected over a proposal to bind the delegation to a second choice.

Headquarters for supporters of the candidacy of Herbert Hoover were established here today and supporters of Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood and Senator Hiram Johnson were active at caucuses. Johnson supporters announced they would support Senator Poindexter's candidacy, anticipating that if the Washington Senator failed of nomination at Chicago, the vote of the delegation would be thrown to Johnson.

MONEY LAID ON HOOVER TO WIN.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—The first big bet on the Hoover-Johnson result to be wagered in this city was placed today by Maurice Zuckerman, wealthy produce merchant, who wagered $1500 to $1000 that the Hoover ticket would sweep the State.

The short end of the bet was taken by Louis R. Lurie, realty man. Zuckerman sizes up the situation as follows:

"The women throughout the country will be for Hoover. They know him like they know their own kitchen.

"Secondly, Hoover is the only business man who commands the confidence and vote of the working people.

"Third, as a business man he will be acceptable to the business interests of the country.

"Fourth, the Republicans are too smart to overlook the opportunity by failing to nominate him.

"The people want an Americanised League of Nations," continued Zuckerman, "and a peace treaty that will protect the small nations of Europe from control, through commercialism, of Germany.

"Hoover is an American who understands the thought and conditions and people of Central Europe.

"Hoover ought to be and will be the next President of the United States."

LASHES JOHNSON AS DEMOCRACY TRAITOR.

Hiram Johnson was denounced as much a traitor to the cause of liberty and democracy as Sir Roger Casement by Rev. Eli Eriksen, ex-Marist monk, in an address to an audience which filled Calvary Baptist Church last night. The ex-priest declared that the Presidential candidate is in league with pro-German Sinn Feiners and anti-Britishers over the country. Adding that he is himself an American citizen, he declared that a large sum had been raised in this city for the Sinn Fein cause—with the ultimate end of creating war between England and America and destroy the Protestant church.

That some Protestant churches are depending more on the dollar than on the spirit of Jesus Christ in the world evangelization movement was another statement of Rev. Eriksen. "There are Red Cross drives, blue cross drives, white cross drives and doughnut drives, until sometimes we seem to think more of a doughnut than of Jesus," shouted the Danish minister, who, though he speaks brokenly, is a most entertaining preacher.

Though he was telling of his escape from the Little Brothers of St. Mary monastery in Dundee, Scotland, the visitor, who was converted by the Salvation Army while a monk, spoke of what he believes to be the sins of the Protestant churches. He launched into an expose of the workings of the monastery. He declared the war was started in Ireland, and is not yet finished, as he said the whole plan is to "remove the Vatican from Rome to Ireland."

"If the Sinn Feiners in this country will go back to Ireland," he said, "and meet those gallant Ulsterites, they will get all the fight they want right in their own country. This matter is not of our concern. We must keep our hands off because back of the Kaiser, and back of the Sinn Feiners, you will find the Pope and Rome."

GRAVES REPLIES TO LAWLER.

And with Obvious Pleasure Takes Large Patches of Skin Off the Hide of Hiram.

LOS ANGELES, April 26.

Oscar Lawler, Esq.

My dear Mr. Lawler: We are both men whose sole political desire is the welfare of our beloved country. We are both men who believe its destiny at this time can safely be intrusted only to the Republican party. We both recognise the supreme importance of nominating as the Republican candidate the man of all men who best represents the Republicanism of today—the man with whose guiding hands at the helm we shall feel confident that our Ship of State will not go "on the rocks," toward which President Wilson has for so long set a direct course.

You favor the candidacy of Hiram Johnson—I do not. My opposition to him is not based on personal objection, but on political grounds. As fellow-seekers after the truth and prompted by your courteous letter, I ask you to consider with me certain outstanding facts in Senator Johnson's political career, and then answer a few simple questions. This, I think, will be of service to the electors of this State, for whose enlightenment, after all, our published letters are written.

LEGISLATIVE HISTORY.

When Hiram Johnson became Governor of this State there came into office with him a Legislature unique in the history of the State in its abject subserviency to his will. The members, if not his "yellow dogs," were certainly his "rubber stamps." This first Legislature was followed by others which also could hear only the master's voice. The result was that he stands responsible for a mass of legislation; some undoubtedly good, but much of it directed to the building up of political machine through bureaus, boards and commissions, until it is recognised as the most elaborate political machanism ever created for the service of one man. Vastly expensive, of course. The cost of the State government was immediately doubled, and soon trebled over that of his immediate predecessor. But "to hell with the cost," the people paid it, and his army of office holders, having much spare time, spent it in expounding to the people how cheap Gov. Johnson was at any price. So we had during his term and a half of office a saturnalia of extravagance, under the burden of which the State still groans, all to the building up of his future.

WHAT HE DIDN'T DO.

Let us take two instances in his political life that are held before the people as stamping him as a far-seeing reformer—with "vision" and with a "wide horizon," and with all the rest of the modern slap-trap political phraseology. These are:

(1.) He put the Southern Pacific out of politics.

(2.) He gave the women of the State the suffrage.

You, Mr. Lawler, certainly know the facts as well as I. As to the first, he never put the Southern Pacific out of politics. He knew, as you and I knew, that at least two years before he entered politics the Southern Pacific and all the other great railroads of the country made public announcement that they would look to the courts of the land alone to redress their wrongs. He knew, as you and I knew, that the widest publicity was given to this announced policy of withdrawal from politics that such magazines as McClure's published special articles on the matter. And he knew, as you and I knew, that the policy had been lived up to, and that the Southern Pacific was out of politics long before Hiram Johnson entered politics. But more even than this: Did not this courageous reformer refuse to contest for the gubernatorial nomination while there remained the possibility that the popular Gov. Gillett would again stand for office, and became a candidate only after the latter's positive withdrawal? I ask you then, is it not true that Hiram Johnson did not "put the Southern Pacific out of politics," and all his heroics over having done so is but ghost dancing over a grave he never dug nor filled? And further, I ask you: Do you think that if the Southern Pacific or any other great railroad corporation chose to remain in politics, there is any Hiram Johnson that could put it out?

Second: He gave the women the ballot.

The constitutional amendment so giving women the ballot was before the electors of the State during Hiram Johnson's first campaign for the Governorship. Did he ever in the multitude of speeches he made in that campaign say one word in advocacy of woman suffrage? I assert that he did not. No clam was more silent on this vital subject. And why? The matter was in controversy; the women had no vote of their own. By taking either side he might arouse antagonisms and lose votes. "Mum's the word" for this peerless, fearless leader, and mum he was. Is this not true?

WHAT ARE HIS SERVICES?

But after all we may agree that these are but vote-catching devices, and that the real question is, What are his services to the Republican party that justify the consideration of his name as leader of that party? Let us come to that.

When it comes to a consideration of his services to the Republican party, I assert that he has rendered no service, but to the contrary has committed four separate acts of disservice and treachery to that party. These acts are all a part of recent political history.

(1.) Controlling the California Republican delegation to the Chicago convention he bolted that convention with Roosevelt and joined the Bull Moose party under the latter's leadership, receiving as his price therefor the Vice-Presidential nomination. Result: The defeat of the Republican party and the first election of Wilson. Is this not true?

(2.) In the election that followed Taft was the regular Republican candidate. Hiram Johnson controlled the Republican party organization in California and was able to name the Republican electors. He named as such Republican electors, men not only not pledged to vote for Taft, but men pledged to vote for Roosevelt and himself. No Republican in this State could vote for Taft electors except by writing their names on the ballot. Thus the Republican party of California, in that election was disfranchised, and under Hiram Johnson's machinations Bull Moose electors pledged to vote for himself, masqueraded as Republicans and polled thousands of unwitting Republican votes. Is this not true?

(3.) Having, as he believed, killed the Republican party in California, and thinking also that it was nationally dead, he called on his followers to abandon the party and register as members of the Progressive-Bull Moose party. He had no eulogy to pronounce over the corpse of the party he believed he had slain—no words for the grand history of its past. Instead, he kicked the corpse, declaring that it stank to high heaven and was not fit to live, and so turned to the new party for his political opportunities. Nevertheless, he did try to elect a delegation to the next Republican convention, so that he could control the votes of California in the convention of a party of which he was not a member and which he had cursed as unfit to live. But this was too raw. His delegation was defeated and a real Republican delegation went to the next convention at Chicago. Johnson, of course, took his Bull Moose delegation to the Progressive convention, held at the same time in the same city. The result is familiar history. The Republican convention nominated Hughes. Roosevelt declared he would support Hughes. The Progressive party was a one-man party and that man was Roosevelt. It faded into mist on the colonel's announcement, and Hiram Johnson was left a man without a party.

What then? He, too, announced that he would support Hughes, and returning to California, called upon his followers to change their registration from Progressive to Republican, so as again to control that party and elect him United States Senator. He, still registered as a Progressive, he, the bitter enemy of the Republican party, announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate. He was able legally to do this preposterous thing, because of election laws of his own devising. And there is no more conspicuous instance of his domination of his followers than the swiftness with which at his word of command they, who had so recently declared their detestation of the Republican party and its principles, registered as members of that party to elect their chief to office.

THE HUGHES EPISODE.

Meantime, as you are well aware, the leaders of the Progressive party, having for the most part declared their support of Hughes, sought recognition on his campaign committee as tending to "harmony." A certain number of them were named as members of the Hughes National Campaign Committee. The "harmonizer" from California so named was Hiram Johnson's factotum, Chester Rowell, who by virtue of his appointment claimed an authority equal if not superior to that of the national committeeman for California—William H. Crocker. It is largely, if not wholly due to Mr. Rowell's activities that Mr. Hughes was brought to California—only a few days before the primary election which was to decide whether Hiram Johnson—the Progressive—could commit another rape of the Republican party by snatching the Seatorial nomination away from a real Republican, Willis Booth.

There was no earthly apparent reason why Mr. Hughes should have come to California at all, since the Republicans and Progressives were united in his support; Johnson had declared for him; Rowell was on his campaign committee. His victory in California was assured. And why, if he was to come to California at all, was his visit timed to bring him here just before—instead of after—the Senatorial primary? The reason, afterward made publicly known, was this: Johnson and his following, fearful that he might fail to win the Republican nomination for the Senate, wanted Mr. Hughes here before the primaries to declare in favor of his candidacy. Thus and thus only could "harmony" be established. On this errand Mr. Rowell sped to Portland, and was closeted with Mr. Hughes, who was on his journey to California. Mr. Hughes refused to mix in the State broil—refused, in short—to advocate Johnson's election, and in his opening speech in San Francisco declared simply that in State affairs he had no concern. Fair enough, was it not? Yet here was the offense unpardonable: On the very next day while Mr. Hughes was in the State, and under the charge of his "campaign manager," Mr. Rowell, that gentleman sent out the word to the Progressive followers. Rowell gave an interview to the press, in which he declared that Mr. Hughes was a great disappointment to the Progressives. His speech was unsatisfactory; he himself was "a frost." His campaign speakers throughout the State reported that when Wilson's name was mentioned the audience "tore the roof off," but Hughes's name was received in silence. This from Mr. Hughes's "national campaign manager" in California. Could plainer instructions be necessary to the Johnson-Rowell followers to slaughter Hughes than these words from his committeeman? If so, they were given by Gov. Johnson himself, who, here in Southern California refused to meet Mr. Hughes at the latter's invitation when both were at the Hotel Virginia. And the cause of this hostility? Do you not know that it arose solely from Mr. Hughes's refusal to espouse Hiram Johnson's Republican Senatorial candidacy in advance of the primary election?

(4.) In the primary election which followed Mr. Johnson and his Progressives were successful in once more getting control of the Republican organization. Mr. Rowell was made chairman of the Republican State Committee, and as such had charge of the Hughes campaign, as, of course, he had of Johnson's campaign. Johnson was billed and exploited, not as a Republican, though he had sought and obtained the nomination of that party, but as "the man that does things," as he surely does. So far as the Hughes campaign went, no visitor to the State would ever have learned that there was such a candidate. And the result you know. Johnson and Rowell are for Hughes (Rowell managing his campaign,) and Hughes loses the State to Wilson. Johnson and Rowell are for Johnson and Johnson carries the State by 300,000. Both were declared to have the combined support of Republicans and Progressives. Does the treachery of this require exposition? Is it not manifest that the word was carried to the Progressives "to knife" Hughes, and they did so with the same alacrity with which at the command of Johnson they changed their registration.

But it is said that Johnson spoke for Hughes in the campaign. True, he did, but only to "damn with faint praise," and even that only in the last week of the campaign when the poison had done its work. How much credit belongs to the murderer, who, after inflicting a dozen mortal wounds, shouts for a doctor to cure the dying man?

One consideration more, my dear Mr. Lawler. You are aware of the Hearst-Johnson alliance. You are aware that it had its beginning when Hiram Johnson argued (and incidentally lost) Mr. Hearst's case before the Supreme Court of the United States in which he was defending against the Associated Press for alleged improper lifting of the latter's news.

You are aware of the adroit methods by which Mr. Heart's papers stimulate class hatred, and foster discontent. You are aware that it is openly charged that Johnson's Chicago vote was an instructed vote by the Socialist Mayor Thompson to his followers to write in Senator Johnson's name. You are aware that the delegation from France, with grand old Joffre at its head, was refused a reception in Chicago by that same Mayor.

But enough. You are perhaps more familiar with the representative men of the Republican party than am I. Considering those men, will you say to me that Hiram Johnson above them all should be made the Republican nominee for President? For this essentially is what your advocacy of him means. If, indeed, you answer yes, and if your answer is in point of fact true, then may God help the United States of America, for she will greatly need divine aid.

And if he fails in his ambition what assurance can you give that he will not bolt and join with Mr. Hearst in another attempt to destroy the Republican party? Already, Mr. Hearst's papers are paving the way for this. Mr. Johnson has done this once, why do you say he will not do it again?

Very sincerely yours,

J. A. GRAVES.

HELP ELECT HOOVER.

FIGHTER FLAYS UNION OF JOHNSON, HEARST.

SAYS LOYAL AMERICAN SOLDIERS ARE BEGINNING TO REALIZE DANGER.

Ex-service men are beginning to realize the dangerous significance to them of the political alliance of Senator Johnson and William Randolph Hearst, according to Maxwell McArthur and M. A. Hope, ex-soldiers, who are in Los Angeles to hold a series of meetings with former American fighters in the interest of the Hoover campaign. They arrived yesterday and will visit a number of Southern California cities before returning to their homes in San Francisco and Stockton respectively to assist in getting out the heaviest possible vote among former service men.

"Because he is lined up with the radical, disturbing elements in this country, the actual enemies of our government," said Mr. W. R. Hearst as his mouthpiece and ally, Senator Johnson proves beyond question that he has put himself out of favor with the great mass of former American soldiers," declared Mr. McArthur, who has been active in the Hoover campaign from the beginning. "What Senator Johnson has done in the Senate in the last year to create turmoil and dissension at home and shatter American prestige abroad, and his subsequent offensive and defensive alliance with Hearst, who has seemed as pro-German and disloyal as any agent of the Kaiser, is utterly inconsistent with his pretense of 'upstanding Americanism.'

"The picture of these two men, working hand in hand, is ludicrous in the eyes of the American soldier, who, whatever his other faults may be, is intensely loyal. Whatever Johnson may say to the contrary, he did not show himself to be a thorough-going American in his attitude on vitally important war measures, and few former soldiers are deceived by what he is now pretending. Hearst, as every former doughboy knows, was pro-German, anti-British and anti-American all through the war. His name long before the war ended became hateful to the American soldier in Europe, and the soldier remembers this with a tenacity that is going to be felt in California on May 4. While Senator Johnson remains the working partner of Hearst, his claim of typifying the true American spirit must remain open to question."

CASH NEED IN HOOVER FIGHT.

Millionaires Back Johnson Machine: Money Required to Break Its Grip.

Money is the prime need in the campaign to elect in California a Republican delegation pledged to support Herbert Hoover for President. While the Johnson machine in this State, backed by a coterie of California millionaires, is raising a large sum to promote the Johnson cause, the organization that is fighting for Mr. Hoover is crippled by lack of funds.

Every citizen therefore, who is opposed to the domination of politicians, and to machine rule generally, can fight most effectively with his dollars. The Hoover campaign and the cause of efficient government can best be served right now by sending cash contributions to Henry S. McKee, vice-president of the Merchants' National Bank, Sixth and Spring streets, Los Angeles, and treasurer of the Hoover Republican Club of Southern California.

HOOVER CLUBS' FINAL DRIVE.

Plan Big Meetings this Week Throughout Southland.

Republican and Nonpartisan Organizations Co-operate.

Throughout Southern California this week a series of meetings of vital importance to the success of the candidacy of Herbert Hoover will be held, in accordance with the programme of the Hoover Republican Club and nonpartisan Make-Hoover-President Clubs. Both these organizations now have aggressive groups of campaign workers in the field, and the final week of the campaign will be replete with meetings and conferences.

It is probable that the Hoover Republican Club will wind up its work with a big mass meeting at Trinity Auditorium on next Friday evening, although a definite decision as to this had not been made yesterday. Edward D. Lyman, head of the local Hoover headquarters, 712 South Spring street, explained that a conference would be held today to decide the matter. In the event the meeting is held Henry M. Robinson, president of the First National Bank, and distinguished for his notable service to the government during the war, will preside, and among the speakers will be Thomas Gregory and Leslie A. Henry. Mr. Gregory, widely-known San Franciscan, has been active in the American Legion, and Mr. Henry was a leading organizer in the successive Liberty Loan drives. Hoover clubs from all parts of Southern California will be represented.

The Hoover rallies in near-by cities began last night with a big meeting at the Whittier High school. W. T. Bartell and Mrs. Herbert A. Cable, widely known club women, were the speakers. Inasmuch as the Hoover sentiment is unusually strong through the Whittier section, the meeting was largely attended and served to spread the fast-growing Hoover influence.

Tonight at 8 o'clock at the Woman's Club House, South Pasadena, there will be a meeting at which Mrs. Willoughby Redman and Leslie A. Henry will speak. Another important meeting in the interest of the former Food Administrator will be held at the Glendale High School, Glendale, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Elden and Mrs. Martha Richards will speak.

An important meeting will be held tomorrow at noon at the City Club, at which Reynold Blight will speak. Judge Hugh N. Wells will address a soldiers' meeting tomorrow at 2 o'clock p.m., at Markham hall, Soldiers' Home. At 2:30 o'clock there will be a meeting under the auspice of the Woman's Club in the Masonic building at Inglewood. Mrs. J. C. Urquhart will be the chief speaker.

Evening meetings will be held tomorrow in a number of nearby Southern California cities. T. A. Berkebile will address a meeting at the bandstand, Glendora, at 8 p.m. At the San Dimas school, at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening, George B. Wilson will be speaker. Dr. Silas Evans will address a meeting at the Fullerton park at 8 p.m.. A schedule of additional meetings to extend through the week is now being arranged by the speakers' bureau of the Hoover headquarters.

Statements to the effect that the executive board of the Woman's City Club is solidly behind Johnson, were emphatically denied yesterday by Mrs. Herman Darling, president of that influential organization.

"The executive board of the Women's City Club is not solidly behind the Johnson campaign," declared Mrs. Darling. "The club is strictly non-partisan. The members of the board have their own individual preferences, and on this matter the present political line-up is divided."

Mrs. Darling explained, however, that she is an ardent supporter of Herbert Hoover, as is also Mrs. Robert W. Richardson, first vice president of the club.

giving California a direct primary law. It is a fact that during the Gillett administration, under the leadership of Senator Wright, the direct primary fight was won, and Johnson was nominated at the first direct primary election held in the State.

Any interest he has shown has been in the direction of changing its provisions so as to perpetuate the machine he built up at the expense of the State.

WHY VOTES RALLY TO HOOVER.

He is given credit for "reformation of the ballot." He "reformed the ballot," and in 1912 prevented the Republicans of California from placing on and voting for Republican Presidential electors favorable to William Howard Taft—the first time in the history of the nation thousands upon thousands of Republicans in California were denied the right to vote for their choice for President; he endeavored to destroy party organization and prevent party action at the polls by his so-called nonpartisan laws, which would have placed California in the power of his "machine" if permitted to stand, and only by two appeals to the people through the referendum was consummation of the outrage prevented. He tinkered with the Presidential primary law and made it lawful for a man to register as a Democrat and at the polls change his affiliation and call for a Republican ticket. As a result, today in California his partisans are in a panic for fear the Hoover Republicans, aided by Hoover Democrats, may crush him in the fray. Today in California regular Republicans by thousands, and the women of California are rallying for Hoover, who is gaining tremendously because of his record of great accomplishment. Everywhere the preponderance of sentiment is in favor of Hoover, and party lines are forgotten as the primary contest approaches.

WASTEFUL ADMINISTRATION.

In statements being circulated over the nation, his friends claim "he transformed a bankrupt State" into one with an overflowing treasury. Let us see if that is true. Gov. Gillette, whom Senator Johnson succeeded, in his last message to the Legislature, stated that the balance in the treasury was over $7,000,000, which sum was over $3,000,000 over and above all obligations— the largest balance he asserted, by more than $1,000,000 ever left in the treasury at the end of any previous administration.

Senator Johnson became Governor in January, 1911, and, bear in mind, he held the office until the spring of 1913. The general appropriation bill 1909-1910 (Gillette) called for $16,400,000. The general appropriation bill of 1917-1918, after Johnson had served eight years, called for $37,000,000 and more. The cost of running the State had more than doubled. During the ten years (1909-1910 to 1919-1920) the population of the State increased 35 per cent. The assessed valuation increased 60 per cent., the fixed charges increased 160 per cent., the general appropriation increase was 113 per cent., the special appropriations increased 105 per cent., and the gross expenditure increase was 170 per cent.

The expense and outlays of the State during the seven years before Johnson took office were $35,000,000; during the first seven years of his administration $171,000,000. For September in 1910 (Gillette Governor) the comptroller drew warrants in favor of 285 persons holding positions by statute for the aggregate sum of $71,171 a month, or $854,000 a year. Five years after, under Johnson, in the same month, the comptroller drew 894 warrants, aggregating $130,340 per month, or over $2,164,000 a year. In September, 1910 (Gillette Governor) in seventy-six offices and departments 2845 persons were employed. In September, 1915, five years after, persons were employed, increased compensation of $1,000 a year. When in 1910-1911, there were twenty boards, commissions in existence, cost State annually $478,000.

When he gave over his office in 1918 there were forty-three boards and commissions, costing $2,597,000. The great report of the Taxpayers' Association, issued in June, 1918, showed a grand total of all appropriations made by the State Commission during the seven years preceding taking office on January 1911, was over $199,000,000, and the first seven years of his administration over $248,000,000; the result of his extravagant administration the State Comptroller in 1919, startled the State by stating that "new sources of revenue must be sought to provide revenue," because during the year 1921-1922 and 1923-1924 estimated the receipts would amount to $58,561,000, and the expenditure would be $81,[illegible].

This is part of the public administrative and constructive record of Hiram W. Johnson, who is now asking the Republicans of the State to place him in the chair of Washington, of the immortal Lincoln, the beloved McKinley. It is a national calamity if he should be the result of his efforts.

General Conference Expected to Lift Amusement Ban.

Modification of Proscribed Gaities is Foreseen.

Dancing, Theaters, Cards to be Advised Against.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SYRACUSE, April 26.—Rev. Dr. Edmund M. Mills, acting secretary of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which opens Saturday at Des Moines, said tonight the conference probably would revise the ban on amusements, changing it from a mandatory act in the book of discipline to a word of advice.

Memeorials submitted to Dr Mills from country-wide conferences show that about one-third of the preachers want to eliminate all reference to dancing, theaters and card playing, with others uncertain as to how to deal with the proposition.

In view of the fact that the preachers do not put men and women on trial for these amusements, Dr. Mills will move elimination of the following words in that part of the book of discipline dealing with the trial of a member for imprudent conduct:

"Dancing, playing at games of chance, attending theaters, horse races, circuses, dancing parties, patronizing dancing schools or taking part in such other amusements as obviously are of misleading and questionable moral tendency."

For such offense, the law calls first for reproof by pastors, secondly, reproof by pastor and class leader or "discreet" members of the church, and for the third offense, the accused shall be brought to trial.

After striking out the words referred to, Dr. Mills would have a star placed at this point dealing with trials making it compulsory for the ministers to read the chapter on "amusements" under the head of "advice."

This paragraph covers the situation in some detail and says:

"We affectionately admonish all people to make their amusements the subject of careful thought and frequent prayer; to study the subject of amusements in the light of their tendencies, and to be scrupulously careful in this matter to set no injurious examples. We advise and beseech every member of the church absolutely to avoid the taking of such diversions as cannot be used in the name of the Lord Jesus."

In the matter of laymen being seated in the annual conferences, the memorials show them to be defeated by at least 500 votes. The laymen carried the measure, 10 to 1, but were defeated by the ministers.

CHAMP CLARK SEEKS PRESIDENTIAL HONORS

NEW YORK, April 26.—Champ Clark, former speaker of the House of Representatives, has decided to become a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination, it was announced here today, by Mrs. Julia Sanders, an officer of the Swastika Club, a woman's political organization.

Mrs. Sanders said that Mr. Clark had made known his decision to her over the telephone from Washington, explaining he desired to make the announcement through a woman's organization "in appreciation of the charming compliment the women voters of the country have paid him," by supporting him during his public career.

"I will be glad to serve the people as I have served them for twenty-three years," said Mr. Clark. "I am not going into any State to wage a fight for delegates to the Democratic national convention. As a poor man, I cannot buy political patronage."

H.C.L. HITS MEMBERS OF FRENCH ACADEMY.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, April 25.—The expense of becoming a member of the French Academy, like that of everything else in France, has taken an upward trend.

Every new member must provide himself with a regulation uniform of green cloth with yellow facings. Before the war the outfit cost 659 francs. Two years ago it rose to 1200 francs and today Henry Bordeaux, who is about to be received into the academy, will have to pay 2016 francs for his uniform.

He must supply himself also with a special hat, sword and belt, which have shown a large increase in price.

COAL MINES AND RAILS DIVORCED

ISOLATION FLAGRANT.

Justice Clarke, in the majority opinion, charged the Reading holding company "an adroit division of property and of corporate agency," with "purposeful violating," in a flagrant manner, the Sherman anti-trust law, and with suppressing commerce and competition.

It also was declared to have secured a "dominating contract" over two great competing coal interests as well as two great competing interstate common carriers. The court said this "dominating power was not obtained by normal expansion to meet the demands of a business growing as a result of superior and enterprising management, but by deliberate, calculated purchase for control."

The majority opinion referred to the investigation conducted in 1915 by the Interstate Commerce Commission into the transportation of anthracite coal, which, the court said, "showed unlawful discrimination against other coal shippers by the holding company with the Reading Coal Company and by the Central Company with the Wilkesbarre Coal Company," asserting "such favoritism tends to discourage competition and to unduly restrain commerce."

Chief Justice White rendered a brief minority opinion in which the dissenting justices contended that the lower court should be sustained.

DECISION BY CLARKE.

Justice Clarke rendered the decision for the majority, while Chief Justice White, in a minority opinion in which Associate Justice Holmes and Van de Vanter joined, said the opinion of the lower court dismissing the government's suit should be sustained.

Associate Justices McReynolds and Brandeis did not participate in the decision. Justice McReynolds was attorney-general during the time the government prosecuted the suit, which was instituted in 1913.

Justice Clarke, said:

"Obviously, also it made the coal company and the railway company mere agents or instrumentalities of the holding company—mining and transportation departments of its business—for producing, purchasing and selling coal for transporting it to market. The Reading Railroad Company and the Reading Coal Company each had thereafter but one stockholder, the holding company, and their earnings were to be distributed, not in proportion to the shares of their capital stocks, aggregating $28,000,000, but were to go to the creditors and shareholders of the holding company, with its mortgage debt of $135,000,000 and its capital stock of $140,000,000. The holding company thus served to pool the property, the activities and the profits of the three companies.

"About 1900 the holding company and many other initial anthracite carriers and their controlled coal companies pursuant to an agreement with each other, made separate agreements with nearly all independent producers of coal thereafter mined from any of the mines now operated to pay therefor 65 per cent. of the average price of coal prevailing at tidewater points at, or near New York computed from month to month.

"Thus, this, (the lower court) held that once within two years and again within four years after it was organized, this holding company used the great power which we have seen was centered in its board of directors, by adroit division of property and of corporate agencies, for the purpose of violating, in a flagrant manner, the Anti-trust Act of 1890. . . .

RIVALRY AROSE.

"Again, when in 1901 a rivalry, imaginary or real, arose for the control of the Central Railroad Company, the holding company, regardless of the law, did not hesitate to purchase control of that great competing anthracite coal-carrying system, with its extensive coal-owning and mining subsidiaries.

"Again, and obviously, this dominating power was not obtained by normal expansion to meet demands of a business growing as a result of superior and enterprising management, but by deliberate, calculated purchase for control.

"That such a power, so obtained regardless of the use made of it, constitutes a menace to and an undue restraint upon interstate commerce within the meaning of the Anti-trust Act, has been frequently held by this court. . . .

"It is difficult to imagine a clearer case and in all essential particulars it rests on undisputed conduct and upon perfectly established law.

"For flagrant violation of the first and second sections of the Anti-trust Act, relations, between the Reading Company, the Reading Railroad Company and the Reading Coal Company and Letween these companies and the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey must be so dissolved as to give to each of them a position in all respects independent and free from stock or other control of either of the other corporations."

Regarding government contentions as to violations of the commodities clause by the Reading Railway Company and the Central Railroad Company, the majority opinion said:

COAL-RAIL COMBINE.

"But the question which we have presented by this branch of the case is not the technical one of whether ownership by a railroad company of stock in a coal company renders it unlawful for the former to carry the product of the latter, for here the railroad company did not own any stock of the coal company. The real question is whether combining in a single corporation the ownership of all of the stock of a carrier and of all of the stock of a coal company results in such community of interest or title in the product of the latter as to bring the case within the scope of the provisions of the act.

"All three of the Reading companies had the same office and directors, and it was under their authorities that the mines were worked and the railway operated, and they exercised that authority in the one case precisely the same character as the other—as officials of the holding company.

"The manner in which the stock of the three was held resulted, and was intended to result, in the abdication of all independent corporate action by both the railway company and the coal company, involving, as it did, the surrender to the holding company of the entire conduct of their affairs. It would be to subordinate reality to legal form to hold that the coal mined by the coal company under the direction of the holding company's officials was not produced by the same 'authority' that operated the Reading Railway lines. The case falls clearly within the scope of the act, and for violation of this commodity clause, as well as for its violation of the anti-trust act, the combination between the Reading Railway Company and the Reading Coal Company must be dissolved."

CENTRAL RAILROAD DECISION.

Regarding the Central Railroad Company and the Wilkesbarre Coal Company—which the court said presented a different question, as the former owned over eleven-twelfths of the stock of the coal company—Justice Clarke said:

"It may confidently be stated that the law upon this subject now is that, while the ownership by a railroad company of shares of the capital stock of a mining company does not necessarily create an identity of corporate interest between the two such as to render it unlawful under the commodities clause for the railroad company to transport in interstate commerce the products of such mining company, yet where such ownership of stock is resorted to, not for the purpose of participating in the affairs of the corporation in which it is held in a manner normal and usual with stockholders, but for the purpose of making it a mere agent, or instrumentality, or department of another company, the courts will look through the forms to the realities of the relation between the companies as if the corporate agency did not exist, and will deal with them as the justice of the case may require."

BREAKS COMMODITY CLAUSE.

"Applying this rule of law," he added, "to the relation between the Central Railroad Company and the Wilkesbarre Coal Company, with the former owning over eleven-twelfths of the capital stock of the latter and using it as the coal mining department of its organization, we cannot doubt that it falls within the condemnation of the commodities clause and that this relation must also, for this reason, be dissolved."

Justice Clarke, in concluding, said:

"It results that the decree of the District Court will be affirmed as to the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, the Lehigh and New England Railroad Company, the Lehigh and Hudson River Railway company as to the restrictive covenants in the mining leases with respect to the shipping of coal, as to the dissolution of the combination between the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, and the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, maintained through the Reading Company and the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

"As to the Wilmington and Northern Railroad Company and as to the individual defendants, the bill will be dismissed without prejudice. As to the Reading company, the Philadelphia and Reading Railways Company, the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, and the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, the decree of the District Court will be reversed, and the cause remanded with directions to enter a decree in conformity with this opinion dissolving the combination of the Reading company, the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company, the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, the Central Railroad of New Jersey, and the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, existing and maintained through the Reading company, with such provision for the disposition of the shares of stock and bonds, and other property of the various companies, held by the Reading company as may be necessary to establish the entire independence from that company and from each of the Philadelphia Reading Railroad Company, the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, and the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, and also that such disposition shall be made by the decree of the stocks and bonds of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, held by the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as may be necessary to establish entire independence between these two companies to the end that the affairs of all of these new combined companies may be conducted in harmony with the law."

PLAN NEW DEAL FOR PALESTINE.

Holy Land to Have a Sympathetic Civil Rule.

England Assures Zionist Delegates of Change.

Jews to Develop the Resources of the Country.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

SAN REMO, April 26.—Assurances have been given Zionist representatives by British delegates here, that the military administration of Palestine, which has been far from satisfactory to Jews, will be changed to a sympathetic civil rule. Zionists are represented in San Remo by Benjamin Cohen, of Chicago, Ill., who came from Palestine with Dr. Chayim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Commission.

"Zionism as a political movement has ended," said Mr. Cohen today. "With the creation of a national Jewish home, its work now is the development of Palestine and the bringing there of Jewish immigrants from Eastern Europe. This development will be largely agricultural.

"Palestine now has a population of 700,000. In the time of David it had 2,000,00[illegible]

"The plans of the Zionists are that we shall work with the hands rather than with the brain, as the Jews have been doing for the most part in other portions of the world. "America, I think," added Mr. Cohen, "will have to supply most of the money until the new state gets going."

LONDON, April 26.—Decision to permit the entrance into Allied countries of a Russian Bolshevik commercial delegation, has been reported by the Supreme Allied Council, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company. This delegation is headed by Maxim Litvinoff, assistant Bolshevik commissary of Foreign affairs, but Great Britain objects to receiving him on the ground he had taken advantage of diplomatic privileges and engaged in political propaganda while in England. On that occasion he issued an appeal to British labor.

Such action, it was said, would unduly inflame the passions of the electoral campaign.

WAR DEBT POOL IDEA NOT A HIT.

Senator Lodge Scores Plan of League Funding.

Sees Great Economic Danger in Case We Join.

Much Opposition to Taking Armenian Mandate.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, April 26.—A French and British move to have the League of Nations fund the war loans of the belligerents as joint obligations with the United States, if the latter joins the League as one of the chief guarantors, stirred up a ruction in the Senate today.

While this new aspect of the League of Nations was being debated on the floor, the cloakrooms were buzzing with opposition to the United States assuming a mandate for Armenia as proposed by the San Remo conference. The scheme found no advocates, even Senator Hitchcock fearing the international entanglements in which it would involve the United States.

Attention was also directed to the statement at San Remo that the League had been unable to function because it had no funds. The question raised is whether the Allies expected the United States to provide the funds. If so the Allies appear to be waiting for the banker to sit in before starting the game.

Senator Lodge had read in the Senate a dispatch from Paris quoting former President Poincare and others, to the effect that pooling the war debts would be again considered at the Brussels meeting of the League of Nations.

"During the meetings of the Paris Peace Conference," said Senator Lodge, "I heard from a delegate that there was great pressure to get an agreement in the treaty or League covenant, whereby all loans of different countries in the war could be merged, and all engaged in the contest should become jointly liable. Of course, that meant making the United States and Great Britain alone the guarantors, for most of the other guarantors could not have been of great value."

Reading again, the Senator brought out that two plans were to be proposed at Brussels, one the French plan for an international bond issue to refund all war loans, another the British plan drawn by J. Maynard Keynes, which Senator Lodge said would put "the whole burden of rehabilitating Germany upon us."

SEES GREAT DANGER.

"It is coming up again, and either by giving power to the League of Nations by necessary amendment or as a separate proposition, we shall be brought to face it," the Senator said. "Of course, not being in the League, we shall not be liable, unless we voluntarily join, or go in in a treaty to pool all the debts.

"To my mind, it is a very great danger, not that I think we are going to accede to it, but if we be drawn into such a treaty, it would become a serious danger to the whole American people, and would mean a burden of taxation which it would be difficult to estimate."

Senator Hitchcock interrupted, ridiculing the idea that such a proposal would be seriously considered by the League. "The Senator, of course, does not mean that the League will have anything to do with the distribution of debts incurred through the war," said he.

"Of course, many preposterous statements have been made. The Senator from Massachusetts would not credit the statement that twenty of thirty nations in the League would have anything to do concerning the distribution of the debts of the five or six nations that fought the war."

"It is not preposterous at all," said Senator Lodge. "The opinions of these Frenchmen and Englishmen are not preposterous, nor is Mr. Keynes's."

"Does the Senator think these nations which had nothing to do with fighting the war would voluntarily assume a share of the debt?" asked Senator Hitchcock.

"I am not saying they would assume it," said Senator Lodge. "The people who assume the debt would be those who owe it, and the object is to make it joint, but the neutrals will have no objection to having us pay the debt."

Senators Knox, New and Moses asserted that a mandate for Armenia would not be acceptable to the American people.

PEOPLE AGAINST MANDATE.

"I do not believe that the American public opinion would support our taking the mandate for Armenia," said Senator Hitchcock. "The subcommittee of the Foreign Relations Committee has reported on the resolution intended to provide relief for Armenia, and that report only went to the extent of recommending the sending of a warship and the landing of marines to protect the port of Batum, and also the furnishing of arms to equip the Armenian army. These recommendations themselves present many difficulties and would lead us into a situation the end of which we cannot foresee.

"The boundaries of Armenia have not yet been defined, and when they are, it is probable that large Turkish areas will be included. If that happens, conflicts between the Armenians and Turkey would be inevitable, and we would be involved. It might not be much of a war, but it would require some military effort on our part.

"Besides, acceptance of the Armenian mandate would require the wide separation of our army. If we accept the mandate, we should most certainly have Constantinople and control of the Dardanelles, but I see no mention of this in the offer of the Allies."

ADMIRAL BRITTAIN'S BODY ARRIVES TODAY.

SOLACE BRINGING REMAINS OF SUICIDE NAVAL OFFICER TO WASHINGTON.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

GUANTANAMO (Cuba) April 26.—The body of Rear-Admiral Carlo B. Brittain, chief of staff to the commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet, who committed suicide by shooting on Thursday last, is due to arrive at Washington tomorrow on the hospital ship Solace.

Rear-Admiral Brittain was in poor health and was confined to his bed when the flagship of the fleet left New York on January 7 and until after its arrival in Cuba. He was an indefatigable worker, and it is believed his illness brought his mental strain to the breaking point.

On the evening of April 21, Rear-Admiral Brittain attended a reception aboard the flagship. Apparently he was in good spirits. At 4 o'clock the next morning a shot was heard in his cabin. The officer of the deck found Rear-Admiral Brittain in the bathroom with a bullet hole through the heart. His service pistol was in the wash basin. Funeral services were held aboard the flagship.

Ensign Thomas R. Brittain, son of the dead officer, who was with the fleet at the time of his father's death, is accompanying the body to Washington.

Capt. Thomas R. Kurtz, assistant chief of staff, is now acting as chief of staff.

PARIS FACES TIEUP OF ALL BUSINESS.

GENERAL STRIKE FOR FIRST OF MAY IS CALLED BY FRENCH LABOR UNIONS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, April 26.—This city faces an almost complete paralysis of business on Saturday, May 1, as the result of a large number of unions voting to join the labor demonstration by calling a general strike. Public utility employees and all unionized workers on the pay rolls of the municipality, with the exception of health officers, and a large number of less important branches of labor, will participate in the strike. Work in most lines will be resumed after twenty-four hours, but the walkout of telephone and telegraph employees will interrupt communication.

Decision of the Congress of French Railway Workers to call a strike to enforce demands threatens a new danger, if the men lay down their tools before Saturday.

The government's policy, as regards the May Day demonstrations would include an immediate mobilization of the railroad men to break the strike, as was the case in February. As to the May Day demonstrations, it is understood that the government's plans call for even more vigorous action than last year. At that time the efforts to clear the streets ended with troops charging the crowd and firing on the strikers.

Demented Rancher Kills Self.

SANTA ROSA, April 26.—J. W. Morris, a rancher, shot and killed himself at his home near here yesterday, after firing two shots at his wife and a woman caller, according to the police. The women were uninjured. Morris is believed to have become demented.

Whooping Cough.

In this disease it is important that the cough be kept loose and expectoration easy. This is best accomplished by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. That preparation also tends to liquify the tough mucus, making it easier to expectorate, and renders the fits of coughing less frequent and less severe. It has been used in many epidemics of this disease with the best results. It contains no codeine or other narcotic.—[Advertisement.

HOME FROM CHINA.

Missionary, Captured by Bandits, Arrives at Victoria.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

VICTORIA (B. C.) April 26.—Dr. A. L. Shelton, American missionary in Southern China for 15 years, who was held captive by Chinese bandits in Yunnan from January 4 to March 12 during which time he had some frightful experiences, arrived in Victoria today with his wife and two daughters, Doris and Dorothy, on board the liner Empress of Asia. He and his family disembarked here and proceeded to Seattle and Cincinnati.

Dr. Shelton had planned a trip to Lhassa, and was on his way to Yunnan Fu with his family from his station in Batang when captured by Yang Tien-Fuhr's bandits. He plans to return to the Far East and resume his missionary work among the Tibetans.

CIVIL WAR GENERAL DIES; KNEW LINCOLN.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

AUBURN (N. Y.) April 26.—Gen. William H. Seward, son of the late Secretary Seward, died today after a long illness, aged 81. He was resident in Washington much of the period of the Civil War and knew Lincoln intimately. He led the One Hundred Thirty-eighth New York Volunteers, and later it became the Ninth Heavy Artillery.

After the Civil War, Gen. Seward entered the banking business. He was a director in many large corporations, including the American Express Company.

Chinese Merchants Convene.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Absence of queues and oriental costumes and the presence in their midst of a woman delegate were some of the evidences of Americanization apparent at the annual convention of the Chinese Merchants' Association, which opened a three weeks' session in Chinatown yesterday.

Nearly 600 delegates from all parts of the country were present. Two weeks will be devoted to discussions of Chinese trade in this country.

A Beautiful Old English Home

Do you seek rest? Are you a lover of the beautiful? Do you enjoy seclusion without isolation?

This beautiful old English home is a haven of rest. Its simple, modest beauty, restfulness, coziness and seclusion make one feel that he has found a snug harbor and suddenly left the noisy, rushing world far away.

Every square foot of this lot from the first front steps to the rear wall quietly suggests home—real home. No coldness, stiffness or severity here. No violence to artistic sense or to reverence for home that is home.

The house has twelve rooms, five bedrooms, two bathrooms, servants' rooms and bath on third floor, basement with furnace, automatic water heater, double garage with men's quarters and bath. Lot 108x150 feet.

The sunken garden in the rear, with its seclusion, gives you a feeling of having your own little spot under your own little sky and letting the rest of the world go by.

The price is $29,000, and if you don't want to spend it right away you had better not have it with you when you see the place. On the other hand you would be foolish not to make sure of the place because someone wants this home and wants it very much and when he sees it he is going to take it quickly.

Millions of Tiny Germs Cause Your Catarrh

Real Relief Comes Only by Cleansing Blood of These Germs.

Catarrh comes from a diseased germ that finds lodgment in the blood, and makes itself manifest by spreading its attack of poisonous irritation to the delicate linings of the nose, throat and air passages. These become stopped up by the inflammation of the mucous membranes, making it difficult for you to breathe, and you are constantly hawking and spitting in an effort to clear the clogged-up nostrils and get relief.

You must realize that your blood is loaded down with catarrh germs, and these germs must be removed from your blood before you can expect real, rational relief from the disease. And, of course, you know that you cannot reach these germs in your blood with sprays and douches.

Experience has proven that S. S. S. is the best remedy for Catarrh, because it is a fine old blood remedy that tends to free the blood of all disease germs. S. S. S. will cleanse your blood of the cause of Catarrh, and give real relief. It has been in constant use for more than fifty years, and is sold by all druggists. Buy a bottle today and lose no further time in getting on the right treatment.

Valuable literature or special advice regarding your own case will be furnished free of charge. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 161 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.—[Advertisement.

PLAN RETROACTIVE TAX.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 26.—A retroactive tax on war profits has been definitely agreed on by House Democrats and insurgent Republicans to raise funds for soldier relief legislation. Representatives Rainey, Democrat, and Johnson, Republican, in a statement tonight, announced a bill would be introduced tomorrow providing for the tax.

The plan of the Republican leaders has not been agreed on finally but its main provision probably will be imposition of a 1 per cent. tax on sales. The battle on financing soldier-bonus legislation, scheduled to commence in the House May 3, promises to hinge on these conflicting schemes.

Under the bill to be submitted tomorrow, an 8 per cent. tax will be levied on individual and corporate incomes "over and above the pre-war income," exempt $20,000 for individuals and $100,000 for corporations.

"In case of an individual," the bill proposes, "the term 'war profits' means the amount by which his average net income for the taxable years 1917, 1918, 1919 and 1920, less his average income, war profits and excess profits taxes for such years, exceed his net income for the taxable year of 1914.

"In case of a corporation in existence during the pre-war period the term 'war profits' means the amount by which its average net income for the taxable years 1917, 1918, 1919 and 1920, less its average income, war profits and excess profit taxes for such years, exceed its average net income for the pre-war period (the calendar years of 1911, 1912 and 1913) plus or minus, as the case may be, 10 per cent. of the difference between its average invested capital for the pre-war period and for its average invested capital for the years 1917, 1918, 1919 and 1920."

Corporations under the counter revenue bill of the Democrats and "insurgent Republicans" includes "associations, joint stock companies and insurance companies."

Mr. Rainey said the measure would raise $2,000,000,000 for carrying out the soldier relief.

PAPER SHORTAGE QUIZ TO START TOMORROW.

PUBLISHERS OF ALL CLASSES INVITED TO APPEAR BEFORE SENATE BODY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Congressional investigation of the print paper shortage will be started Wednesday by a subcommittee of the Senate Manufacturers' Committee, headed by Senator Reed, Democrat. Plans include inquiry into supplies, distribution and prices.

Pending Congressional action, assistance of the State Department in the paper situation was invoked in connection with efforts to secure removal of restrictions on export from Canada of raw materials.

Secretary Colby gave assurances that the suggestion of making restrictions the subject of diplomatic correspondence would be considered carefully.

Publishers of leading papers will be invited to appear before the committee, Senator Reed said. Invitations are being sent editors in western cities.

"Before the committee concludes its investigation it expects to give publishers of all classes of newspapers an opportunity to express their views," Senator Reed said.

Appointment of a commission to seek removal of Canadian embargoes on pulp wood was urged by Senator Underwood, Democrat, before the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Retaliatory legislation should be enacted, he said, if friendly efforts toward this end were unsuccessful.

"Serious injury will be suffered by our newspapers in a few years if there is no legislation," he said.

OTTAWA, April 26.—An American securities corporation has begun negotiations to acquire a million and a half acres of wood pulp forests in Southern Labrador, to supply wood pulp to newsprint manufacturing concerns in England, it was announced today.

ONLY ONE PURE-FOOD CASE IS DISMISSED.

CHARGES BROUGHT BY BUREAU OF CHEMISTRY FOR ADULTERATION, UPHELD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Government charges involving violation of pure food laws were upheld in forty-nine out of fifty cases recently decided in Federal courts, it was announced today by the Bureau of Chemistry, Department of Agriculture.

Ten actions were based on adulteration of tomato products including catsup. The most frequent charge was that of use of moldy or rotten tomatoes.

Stock feed made from cottonseed meal or cake was the basis of ten actions, the most frequent charge being misbranding. Canned salmon was the basis of four seizures. Spoilage was the charge made in each seizure.

Other prosecutions and seizures included a shipment of sardines which were destroyed and three shipments of olive oil adulterated with cottonseed oil. One shipper failed to appear to defend himself on the charge of adding water to milk and was fined $200 and costs.

Seven actions were based upon the charge of adulteration and misbranding of proprietary medicines.

SHIPPING BOARD DENIES COTTON RATE "POOLING"

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Officials of the Shipping Board tonight denied reports an arrangement had been reached for the "pooling" of ocean rates on cotton. It was said, however, certain foreign steamship lines had indicated their concurrence in an agreement in which rates to trans-Atlantic ports would be 7½ cents per hundred pounds less than from South America ports, 12½ cents per hundred pounds less from Norfolk than from Gulf ports and 25 cents per hundred less from North Atlantic ports than from Gulf ports.

To Head Americanization Work.

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) April 26.—The board of directors of the United States Chamber of Commerce in convention here today proposed the chamber assume supreme control of Americanization work in the United States, co-ordinating and directing the efforts of organizations now engaged in philanthropic and patriotic activities.

To finance this undertaking it was proposed adequate collections of money be made and disbursed by a "standing committee on American ideals," under rules prescribed by the board of directors.

Espee to Spend Millions.

[ST A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—The Southern Pacific Railroad plans to spend $30,000,000 on equipment during the next year, Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the board of directors, announced here last night.

Think what Labor owes to Him!

UNTIL His thirtieth year the Master was the Carpenter of Nazareth.

Could He possibly forget those carpenter years when the years of His ministry began? Could the men who labor with their hands ever be far from His thought and prayers?

To such men, oppressed and driven, men bent by toil, with hopeless hearts, He spoke a phrase that flamed with power.

"You are sons of God," He told them.

Sons of God—brothers of their rulers and employers; with an equal right to happiness, to comfort and opportunity. All the hopes of Labor in all the centuries had their beginning in that splendid thought.

The Churches cooperating under the name of the Interchurch World Movement offer the program of the Master; and His Golden Rule.

"Whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them."

By that rule the industry of the future must be directed. Its products must be not merely goods, but good; not merely wealth but happiness and character and joy.

If you believe these things, you believe in one of the fundamental purposes of the Churches and of their agent, the Interchurch World Movement.

And you have this month your chance to help. Whether you labor with hand or brain, whether you are inside the Church or out, you are a sharer in the benefits of the influence of Jesus Christ.

Help to make that influence the ruling spirit of the modern world. Help to make industry a spiritual enterprise, where men shall work together not in envy but in mutual respect—as brothers all, and "sons of God."

WOOD INDORSES CHOICE OF HAYS

General Says Chairman Can Act if He's Nominee.

Action of Candidate Stills Rumor on Hitchcock.

National Committeemen Opposed to Any Other.

CHICAGO, April 26. — Will H. Hays, Republican national committee chairman, has been indorsed by Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood as campaign manager if the general is nominated by the convention here June 8.

This announcement, made by Wood headquarters today, was said practically to assure Mr. Hays of the position, no matter who is nominated, and to end rumors that Wood, if successful, would appoint Frank Hitchcock, former Postmaster-General, his campaign manager.

The Republican National Committee has gone on record as opposed to selection of anyone other than Hays. Most candidates had indorsed Hays, but the position of Gen. Wood remained in doubt, following the arrival here of Mr. Hitchcock and circulation of reports he would displace Col. William Cooper Proctor of Cincinnati as the general's preconvention campaign manager, as director of the campaign, should Wood be nominated.

Col. Proctor today announced that "so far as I know, I am to remain in charge of Gen. Wood's campaign."

The question of Republican campaign management who brought to a head last week when national committeemen and regional party heads objected to selection of any one but Hays. Among the most ardent supporters of the chairman are Fred Upham, national treasurer, and Capt. Victor Heintz, in charge of the Republican regional headquarters here. Mr. Heintz announced he would resign unless the committee's indorsement of Hays was accepted by the successful candidate.

The tension produced by the stand of the Republican leaders was relaxed visibly following Gen. Wood's announcement today.

The present national committee will not appoint the campaign manager. That will be left to the new committee, but it is expected a majority of the committee will be reelected.

The national committee meets here May 10 to complete plans for the convention, including selection of a temporary secretary and other officers. Senators Lodge and Borah have both been mentioned as possible choice for permanent chairman.

Headquarters for Senator Johnson are to be opened here tomorrow under direction of Edgar Cook and offices for Herbert Hoover's campaign were opened today by Charles Stevenson, sugar administrator during the war.

Gov. Lowden and Gen. Wood have maintained national headquarters here for some time, while the managers for Senator Harding have opened offices at intervals.

OBREGON SUPPORTER FLEES FROM MEXICO.

CHIHUAHUA CITY, April 26.—Senor Abel S. Rodriquez declared to be a warm supporter of Gen. Alvaro Obregon, and one of the members of the Mexican Congress, who a few weeks ago signed a manifesto protesting against President Carranza's alleged interference in the Presidential elections, has disappeared. Rodrigues is said to be in American territory. He feared arrest.

This is the only rebellion thus far in the State of Chihuahua in connection with the Obregon uprising. The soldiers, commanded by Captains Machado and Merejada, believed that the Sinaloa leader, Gen. Juan Carrasco, who, with Gov. Iturbe of Sinaloa is defending Mazatlan against the Sonora rebels, also had revolted. As Carranza was their chief years ago, they deserted and headed toward Sinaloa to join Carrasco. Twenty of the deserters returned to Naco. Federal cavalry under Gen. Pablo Diaz pursued the others.

The increase will be retroactive until January 1, last and will remain in effect until June 30, 1922.

LAY PLANS FOR A NEW PARTY.

National Convention Meets in Chicago in July.

Will Represent the Needs of the Average Person.

Platform Includes Public Ownership of Utilities.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, April 26.—A national convention of the committee of forty-eight, to form a new political party, will be held here July 10 to 13, it was announced today by M. C. Harrison, divisional director of the organizaton.

The new party "representing the needs and hopes of average American men and women, will conduct an aggressive campaign both reactionary old parties and in support of a constructive program of economic, social and political progress," an announcement said.

The committee, which adopted a platform, and a statement of aims, at a convention in St. Louis last December, has a following of 50,000, Mr. Harrison said.

The organization's platform includes: Public ownership of transportation, including stockyards, large abattoirs, grain elevators, terminal warehouses, pipe lines and tanks. Public ownership of other utilities and of the principal natural resources, large water powers and large commercial timber tracts.

"We are witnessing a silent and ominous revolution in our national life," the statement said. "We have seen the tiller of the soil, so discouraged by tenancy, speculation and the increasing exactions of a swarm of middlemen, that hundreds of thousands are leaving the farms or curtailing production to a degree that menaces our country's food supply.

"We have seen our railroads wrecked by mismanagement, and then after the government had stepped in to repair the injury, returned to private management that had despoiled them. We are witnessing the effort to fix a legal status for labor, denying it the right to strike for higher wages, at the same time that profits are legally guaranteed to capital.

"This is the underlying cause of the strikes that have increased until all industry is a battlefield of harred and destruction."

"No land, including natural resources, and no patents to be held out of use for speculation and to aid monopoly. We favor taxes to force idle land into use.

"Equal economic, political and legal rights for all, irrespective of sex or color. Immediate and absolute restoration of free speech, free press, peacable assembly and all civil rights guaranteed by the Constitution. We demand abolition of injunctions in labor cases. We indorse the effort of labor to share in the management of industry and labor's right to organize and bargain collectively through representatives of its own choosing."

In a statement addressed to "Americans ready for a new party," it was declared that the time had come "for lovers of the real America to organize themselves anew," to form a "new political party to restore to America constitutional rights through which the government shall be made responsive to the will of the people."

The statement said the old parties were "bankrupt of Democratic purpose and have made their peace with a treasonable reaction."

INDORSE LOWDEN.

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) April 26.—The Republican Third District Convention at Harrison, today, adopted a resolution indorsing Gov. Lowden of Illinois for President. The two delegates elected to the Republican National Convention were uninstructed.

BRYAN VICTORIOUS IN NEBRASKA PRIMARIES.

RETURNS ASSURE COMMONER OF NINE DELEGATES TO HITCHCOCK'S SIX.

LINCOLN (Neb.) April 26.—Tabulations made today on the vote cast at last Tuesday's primary election on delegates to the Democratic National Convention give, in the absence of the official count, almost positive assurance that W. J. Bryan will be one of the four delegates at large.

Mr. Bryan is approximately 1300 votes ahead of his closest competitor, and the few precincts unreported are not believed sufficient to change the result. Partisans of Senator Hitchcock today conceded the selection of Mr. Bryan and with him former Congressman Stephens, as delegate at large together with two Hitchcock delegates at large, former Governors Shallenberger and Neville.

Seven Bryan district delegates are also selected, probably eight. These are made up of two in the first district, one in the third, one in the fourth, two in the fifth, one and probably two in the sixth, making the delegation stand: Bryan 9; Hitchcock, 6; with one in doubt.

The delegation, under the Presidential preference law, is pledged to support Senator Hitchcock for the Presidential nomination, but Mr. Bryan made the pre-primary announcement that if elected he would refuse to cast his vote for Mr. Hitchcock and would allow an alternate to vote in his place.

Once You Try Mazola You Will Never Go Back to Lard or Butter for Cooking— or Olive Oil for Dressings

OF interest to every wide-awake housewife are these important facts about the general use, the quality and the unusual economy of Mazola.

Deep Frying

No fat excels Mazola for deep frying. It is far better and a great deal more economical than lard or compounds. Mazola is 100% pure vegetable fat. It contains no moisture. Butter and Lard contain moisture. The same lot of Mazola can be used over and over again—even after frying fish and onions. Merely straining makes it perfectly fresh for use as a shortening. It carries no odors or flavors from the foods cooked in it and does not smoke up your kitchen.

Shortening

The purity and richness of Mazola best demonstrates itself in the fact that ¼ to ⅓ less Mazola is required than that of butter or lard. This means that your cakes and pie crust will not only be light, rich and easily digested but will cost you less to prepare. Being an oil, the tiresome "creaming-in process" is eliminated. Mazola is always ready for instant use.

Salad Dressings

Thousands of Italians, who certainly know olive oil, use Mazola. Not only because it costs about half that of the best olive oil, but because of its richness, quality and purity.

For French Dressing, Mazola blends readily—and mayonnaise made with Mazola will keep for weeks without separating.

CANTU OFFICIAL QUITS POSITION.

Secretary of State Sends His Resignation.

Lower California may Join Sonora Rebellion.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CALEXICO, April 26.—Political circles in the Northern District of Lower California, are agog over the resignation of Secretary of State Jacinto Barrera, Gov. Cantu's right-hand man, who has suddenly, and mysteriously left the cabinet.

Ill health was given by former Secretary Barrera as his reason, but according to information reaching this city from official sources, it is said that the revolutionary faction in Sonora is behind the move. It is an open secret that Barrera is in sympathy with the revolution, and has used his influence in that direction with Gov. Cantu. Urging the Governor to join the revolutionary State.

Mr. Barrera passed through Calexico today on his way to San Diego to join his wife and family, who are residents of that city. He was approached by newspaper men and asked for a statement. He refused to talk, other than to say that his failing health had caused the move.

Don Jose Aguilera has been selected by Gov. Cantu to fill the vacancy caused by Senor Barrera's resignation. Senor Aguilera was formerly district treasurer, succeeding the late Thomaso Belendoz.

Other changes in the cabinet of Gov. Cantu are expected, as a result of the resignation of Barrera, and it is possible that Cantu will again come forward with a statement declaring himself loyal to Carranza. The Governor adopted a "watch and waiting policy," pending the success or the failure of the revolutionary forces in the adjoining State of Sonora. No doubt the present crisis has brought the movement to a climax.

While little or no demonstration has been displayed on the streets of the Mexican cities, it is thought Gov. Cantu will not hesitate to cast his lot with Sonora republic should Sonora win, owing to the geographical position of the States south of the international line, Lower California can only be reached from Mexico proper by passing through the State of Sonora and it has been pointed out that it would be poor policy on the part of the Lower California executive to stand loyal to Carranza with an independent State standing between him and the central government at Mexico city. Intense interest has been shown in Washington over the developments during the past few days, although no opinion has been given out, according to advices reaching here today.

It was learned late today that Secretary Barrera, before accepting the position under Cantu was connected in the highest circles of President Carranza's administration in Mexico City and that he was sent to Mexicali by the President in order to keep the capital in close contact with the affairs of the State.

SOLDIERS GUARD BUTTE ROADS; I.W.W.'S LEAVE.

ONLY ONE-THIRD OF NORMAL NUMBER OF WORKERS REPORTED ON THE JOB.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BUTTE (Mont.) April 26.—Less than one-third of the normal number of men were reported at the various mines today, although members of the Metal Trades Unions have refused to endorse the strike called by the Metal Mine Workers' Union. Police reported that many I.W.W. are leaving town.

No attempt at picketing was made today, and soldiers continued to patrol the roads leading to the mines.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Edward McHugh, leader of the railroad strike in the New York district, announced today that strikers were organizing a new union to include the 15,000 members of forty-two locals throughout the country whose charters, he said, had been revoked by the big four brotherhoods.

McHugh added that the members of the big four, who he asserted had been expelled, planned to bring suit against the brotherhood to recover insurance premiums of $2 a month.

Asserting that the new union would have a membership of 8000 alone from the New York district, he said that it would not be divided as were the brotherhoods into different groups of workers. He also said that the union would have "no high-salaried officers like William G. Lee with a salary of $15,000 and expenses," and would elect its officers by referendum.

"NATURAL CAUSES" IS MELVIN JURY FINDING.

CORONER'S VERDICT DECLARES CEREBRAL HEMORRHAGE ENDED JUDGE'S LIFE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

OAKLAND, April 26.—A Coroner's jury found today that Associate Justice Henry A. Melvin of the State Supreme Court "came to his death from natural causes due to cerebral hemorrhage." The funeral of the justice was conducted this afternoon by the Oakland lodge of Elks and was attended by the leading jurists of the State.

J. Cal Ewing, fellow-member with Justice Melvin of the Oakland Elks' Lodge, was foreman of the Coroner's jury. Dr. O. D. Hamlin denied Justice Melvin was a patient at Merritt Hospital, but said he had gone there for a room when he could not find one in a hotel.

Dr. E. V. Tiffany, autopsy physician, said there had been a cerebral hemorrhage which apparently had caused death. Dr. William S. Porter testified that cerebral hemorrhage apparently had been the cause of death.

Robert Ballard, engineer of the hospital, testified to having to climb through a window to enter the bathroom, the door of which was locked. He found the body of the justice partly on the side in the tub of water.

Dr. C. A. Denny said cerebral hemorrhage had caused death, and the jury returned a verdict to that effect.

STATEWIDE TRUST SERVICE

A Business as an Inheritance

Men who devote their lives to creating a successful business, neglecting meanwhile to create also an estate separate therefrom, often go out of the world leaving an inheritance of doubtful value to their families.

There may not be heirs qualified to succeed in the management; without its founder or moving spirit the success of the business may wane; successors in the control may not prove capable; obligations may exist which will strain the finances. If desirable for the estate to sell out, it may be difficult to find a buyer.

A "going business," then, does not always prove the best kind of an inheritance.

But an independent estate, such as you may create or enlarge under the "Bank of Italy Trust Plan" can be transmitted to heirs and continued for their benefit indefinitely. It will be as good an asset after your death as while you live.

Investigate this admirable plan. Come in and talk to our Trust Officer about it. Read our Booklet which describes it fully.

APARTMENT-HOUSE "LOOTING" A JOKE.

Two young women and a man were yesterday detained by Nick Harris detectives for a short time after it was learned that they were the persons who early Friday "looted" the lobby of an apartment-house at 936 Albany street and escaped from Mrs. C. F. Bates, the landlady, in an automobile. The three were released, however, when it was learned that the whole affair was the outcome of a dare and that the "stolen" articles had all been returned several days ago. No prosecution, according to the detectives, will be made. The officers refused to divulge the names of the "burglars."

APARTMENT-HOUSE "LOOTING" A JOKE.

Two young women and a man were yesterday detained by Nick Harris detectives for a short time after it was learned that they were the persons who early Friday "looted" the lobby of an apartment-house at 936 Albany street and escaped from Mrs. C. F. Bates, the landlady, in an automobile.

The three were released, however, when it was learned that the whole affair was the outcome of a dare and that the "stolen" articles had all been returned several days ago. No prosecution, according to the detectives, will be made. The officers refused to divulge the names of the "burglars."

SOLID VOTE TO LIFT AUTO BAN.

Council Unanimously Orders No-Parking Amendments.

Two-for-Minute Limit to Obtain Till Four P.M.

Musical Traffic Control Device will be Tested.

By unanimous vote the City Council yesterday afternoon started the parking ordinance on its way to repeal. The City Attorney was instructed to prepare amendments to ... ordinance changing no-parking ... in the congested district to ... until 6:15 p.m. and permitting ... parking from 10 a.m. to ... The vote of the Council was ... with applause by the business men present.

Managing Director George M. ... of the Business Men's Co-operation Association, which has led ... fight to have the no-parking ordinance changed, said after the ... meeting:

"While we asked to have no-... begin at 4:30, we are willing to try out the 4 o'clock plan ... are grateful to the Councilmen for the action they have taken. ... are willing to co-operate with ... in every way in helping to solve the traffic problem."

When told of the action of the Council, Mayor Snyder said:

"I am glad the Council amended the ordinance. One thing is certain: If the amended plan is to be tried the business men must meet us good on their offer to hire or ... contributions help the city ... special officers or extra police-... to patrol the congested district ... 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and enforce the 2-minute regulation. MECHANICAL EXPERIMENT.

The Automobile Club of Southern California will today formally ... to pay for the trial installation ... the downtown district of a mechanism of regulating traffic ... by means of electric ... at each street corner. The ... was opened informally yesterday ... to give the mechanical ... a trial and the police will be instructed to assist in enforcing ...

Orders yesterday before the Council included P. E. Woods, Automobile Secretary Mitchell of the Automobile Club of Southern California, Harry Philp of the Broadway Department Store, R. J. Busch, ... Hansel Wood and ... Fralick.

Merchants gave specific instances of loss of business as the result of the working of the no-parking ordinance and answered in detail statements made in a communication read to the Council at the beginning of the afternoon session by Chief Engineer Osborne of the Board of Public Utilities and Engineer Sachse of the State Railroad Commission. The engineers opposed any change in the no-parking ordinance until at least a thirty-day trial had been given; but in case the Council should decide to amend the ordinance, the engineers recommended that the no-parking hours be between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m.

MATTER OF CAR FARES.

Mr. Osborne stated to the Council that any hour later than 3 p.m. would nullify the results desired from the ordinance — namely, the ending of street congestion and the enabling of the street cars to run on time. These, with rerouting and one-man cars, are methods devised by the State commission and the railway companies to avoid a necessity of increasing car fares.

After telling of the improvement in the car service and of the reduction of the number of accidents, the engineers stated in their report opposing restoration of parking:

"We are convinced that if conditions are again brought about as they existed during the last few months, it will be practically impossible for the companies giving street railway and electric interurban service to maintain their schedules. While an increased street railway fare will be an added burden it will not and cannot result in better service. It is a choice between good service and reasonable traffic conditions at low fares and poor service and congestion with higher fares."

VIGILANTES CREDITED.

Secretary Mitchell of the Automobile Club of Southern California, stated that he believed the falling off in the number of accidents on the streets is not entirely due to the workings of the no-parking ordinance, as credit must be given to LOSES WIFE, BUT WINS HILL LAND.

Health Seeker Triumphs in Entry Contest in Which Divorce is Feature.

Despite the fact that his wife refused to live on the land, and later got a divorce, Dr. Hansen had not established 93.76 mountain acres in the Big Tejunga Canyon by a decision handed down yesterday by the General Land Office, affirming a finding of Register Groves and Receiver Mitchell of the local Land Office.

The government contested the entry on the grounds that Dr. Hansen had not established a home thereon, and cited his wife's refusal to live there and the divorce court records as proof. However, Dr. Hansen proved that he went on the land in 1910, after traveling all over Europe in the search of health, and that he not only recovered his health, but erected an $8000 home on the entry.

CRIES OF LIBEL IN S.P.C.A. WAR.

Prosecution of "Insurgents" Threatened by Officer.

Profit-Making Charges Aren't Personal, They Answer.

Plan for Action in Courts Put up to Attorneys.

New charges which, it is declared, may lead to criminal action against a group of prominent women identified with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, were made yesterday in a written document delivered by "insurgents" of the organization at the offices in the Washington Building.

This document accuses the officers and board of directors, or their agents and employees, of having conducted the affairs of the society so that there was "a pecuniary profit." Robert A. Anderson, vice-president of the society, who received the charges, said last night:

"This new charge is of such a serious nature that we cannot permit it to pass, and with a view to starting criminal proceedings against the women who make it, we have turned the case over to the attorneys of the society.

"The accusation is absurd on the face of it, as Mrs. Anita M. Baldwin, president, has donated more than $16,000 of the $19,000 expended by the society during the year, and it hardly stands to reason that she would pay that amount to 'manipulate' the affairs of the society so as to make a 'pecuniary profit' out of the remaining $2000."

ASKED TO TALK.

Mrs. Baldwin refused to comment upon the situation, except to say that the "insurgents" have been invited to attend the annual meeting of the society, May 11, at the Alexandria Hotel and there give public utterance to the charges. All expenditures by the society have been passed upon by Mrs. Baldwin as president, it is stated, and a complete report of the financial standing of the organization will be presented at the annual meeting.

The charges are made by the same women who recently declared that acts of cruelty have been committed by employees of the society. All were identified with the old organization before Mrs. Baldwin and the present board of directors took charge and two are life members of the society. Those who signed the paper detailing the charges are Mrs. Ricord Gradwell, Mrs. L. F. Williams, Mrs. A. J. Madison, Ida Frances Underhill, Rosalie Kercheval and Frances Lyon.

The written charges of mismanagement of the finances of the society were presented at the offices of the S.P.C.A. in the Washington building yesterday by a group of women headed by Mrs. Gradwell. The document was addressed to Mrs. Baldwin and the board of directors.

It contains eight other charges. These have to do with the inspection of the books, the minutes of the directors' meetings, financial reports and membership rolls. Demands were also made to inspect the by-laws and to have a meeting called for the election of officers.

The women were denied permission to examine the books by Mr. Anderson, who says he informed them the records were being used just then for the compilation of the annual report.

THE OTHER SIDE.

In reply to Mr. Anderson, the signers of the charges stated last night that the expression "pecuniary profits" referred only to the sale of dogs and other animals by the society and there is no question that such sales have been made.

"Two months ago, when I obtained the only interview I have been able to get with Mrs. Baldwin," said Mrs. Gradwell last night, "I made no mention of money until she intimated that dogs sold by the society cannot be traced, in the interests of humanitarianism, because the society has not sufficient funds. I asked then that the files be turned over to me and stated that I not only would assume the responsibility of tracing the dogs, but would also bear the entire expense personally. Mrs. Baldwin stated that the animals could not be traced unless we employed an entire city police force, or something to that effect."

The signers of the charges to which Mr. Anderson objects declared as a body last night that there is no attempt to accuse the officers of the society of making personal profits from its operations, but that their sole object is to get action on charges that employees of the society have been guilty of gross cruelty to animals in their care.

They repeated that an investigation of these charges of cruelty recently conducted by Mrs. Baldwin was highly unsatisfactory in view of evidence they have in the form of affidavits from old members and former employees of the society.

As to the refusal of Mr. Anderson to show the books, Mrs. Gradwell and others who presented the new charges declared last night that the vice-president stated the books and files could not be seen at that time, but were being prepared "for the public." Asked why it was necessary to prepare them for the public, they received no reply, these "insurgents" declare.

TRUCK AWAY BULKY LOOT.

Using pass keys, burglars early yesterday morning entered and looted the establishment of the Original Custom Tailoring Company at 105 North Spring street. According to N. Julian, the owner of the shop, the thieves took cloth and clothing valued at about $1000. The police stated after an investigation that the burglars used a motor truck to haul away their loot.

VALUABLE BROOCH GONE.

A diamond and pearl brooch valued at $1200 was lost by or stolen from Mrs. L. O'Brien of 1253 Bond street while she was shopping downtown yesterday, she reported to the police. Mrs. O'Brien offers a reward of $100 for the recovery of the jewelry.

Damaging Story is Told by Photographs.

TRUCK KILLS YOUTH.

Driver Held in Jail on Suspicion of Manslaughter.

Stanley Sonora, a 12-year-old schoolboy living at 1807 Pennsylvania avenue, was fatally injured when he was struck by a truck, driven by I. Goodman of 627 San Benito street at East First and Cummings streets last night. He died five minutes after he was taken to the Receiving Hospital. The body is at the Vesper and Harn funeral rooms.

The truck driver was held in the Boyle Heights jail on suspicion of manslaughter. He declared that in trying to avoid another machine that was passing him on the right he swerved too far to the left and his truck was hit in the rear by a Los Angeles Railway car. Then he lost control of his car, he stated, and it struck the lad, who was riding a bicycle, knocking him through the plate-glass window of a drug store.

The boy's skull was fractured, his chest was crushed, and he had internal injuries.

FALL MAY BE FATAL.

Motorman Tumbles from Street Car; Skull is Fractured.

Paul J. Walton of 5007 Rangeview avenue, 25 years of age, a motorman for the Los Angeles Railway was possibly fatally injured last night when he fell as he was getting off a Grand avenue car at West Eleventh street. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where it was learned that he had a fracture of the skull.

According to Detective Sergeants Burgess and Gamash, who investigated the accident, the motorman, off duty and in civilian clothes, had to push his way through a crowd to get to the step. His momentum caused him to lose his balance and fall to the pavement.

TOO TORRID AT BAY.

Angeleno Prostrated by the Heat in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—The first case of heat prostration in San Francisco in more than a year was reported today by the Board of Health. Fred C. Dean of Los Angeles, was overcome and taken to a hospital. He was revived later.

SURRENDERED BY BONDSMEN.

H. B. Hopkins, who recently pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery and was out on bail pending a hearing on probation, was surrendered by his bondsmen yesterday. He was rearrested by Capt. Wilcox, a District Attorney's investigator, and lodged in the County Jail.

WATSON'S REAL NAME BOYD?

Another "Wife" Found Who Says it is and that He's from Memphis.

A clew which may lead to the discovery of the true name and early history of Walter Andrew Watson was received in Los Angeles last night in a letter from Mrs. Jack Hilton, of Conway, Ark.

That Watson's true name is Robert Dixon Boyd, that he claimed to be from Southern Texas, but in reality was from a good family of Memphis, Tenn., and that he married her under the name of Jack Hilton, June 21, 1913, and disappeared three months later, is set forth in the letter. She says she found the names of Louis A. Hilton and Charles Newton Harvey marked on his clothing and other articles of his. The officers say the names Louis Hilton and Charles Newton Harvey were used by Watson as the names under which he married two of the women now missing, and whose property was found in his possession and in warehouses on the Pacific Coast.

That her three-months' husband's sister told her the man made a practice of marrying women with money and deserting them, and that he had married at least a score of them before the marriage to her in 1913 was the additional charge of Mrs. Hilton.

Another woman, who told of losing $4000 and who positively identified his photograph, last night annexed herself to Watson as an additional "wife". She is Mrs. James Creamer, now of Spokane, and formerly of Couer d'Alene, Idaho, where she says she married Watson under the name of Creamer, October 31, 1917. March 2, 1918, the man vanished with the money, she said. She declared he said he had lots of property, wanted her to go to Mexico, and suggested they make wills in each other's favor. Watson claimed he was a government agent, the woman said.

A photograph of Betty Pryor, formerly of Wallace, Idaho, and said to have married Watson under the name of Milton Lewis, closely resembles a small "stamp" picture of an unknown woman, found in Watson's possession, with several tax receipts on property in Colorado held in the name of Elizabeth Pryor.

"We are going into the Borrego Valley, and go over the route mapped out in Watson's own handwriting, before we are satisfied that a trace or the body of Nina Lee Deloney is not somewhere in this part of the State," Sheriff Cline said last night.

The discovery among Watson's effects of money order receipts yesterday led to the information that Watson was in Los Angeles January 31. He is known to have left Santa Monica with Nina Deloney Harvey January 24, arrived in Sacramento alone January 28, and through the money order receipts is now placed back in Los Angeles January 31. These receipts show that he sent money to the Humboldt Savings Bank. The serial numbers were identified today at the Express company offices as having been issued in Los Angeles. Other receipts showing that Watson, using the full name of James P. Watson sent four $25 orders to R. Watson in Ortonville, Minn., gave the officers a new clew which may lead to the discovery of another "wife" or some relative.

A letter from Nelson, B. C., where the suspect married Katherine Kruse in 1913 contained the first photograph received here of the suspect with one of his "wives," and confirms the fact that J. P. Watson and Walter Andrew, the name given by him at the time of his arrest, is the same man. In British Columbia and other Canadian points Watson was known as a commercial traveler for the Robin Hood Mills, the letter said. Transportation certificates of the Northwest Commercial Travelers' Association of Canada, for 1912, 1913 and 1914 give the name of James P. Watson, and on the back carry the indorsement of Robin Hood Mills and Brooks-Corning Company. Among Watson's papers were found membership cards of the Indiana Commercial Travelers' Association and one of the Illinois Commercial Men's Association.

The State Identification Bureau at Sacramento, yesterday wired that the records of its office show on arrest or conviction for Watson anywhere in the State, and that the finger prints of the man do not correspond to any in the files of the bureau.

Another typewritten letter turned up in the Ludvigson case yesterday. Relatives of the missing woman wrote from Santa Rosa that the last they heard of Alice M. Ludvigson, married to Watson under the name of Louis A. Hilton, was a typewritten letter which they felt was not composed by her, saying she was going for a long trip to South America.

Newton Harvey, formerly of Shelburne Falls, Mass., was definitely eliminated from the case last night. A telegram from The Times' correspondent in Boston said that Harvey is employed by the Fiberoid Company of Springfield, Mass.; that his home is in Thornbury, Ont., and that he had been in communication with relatives and friends at the time Watson was placed under arrest here. Harvey is married and has two children. The eastern authorities and Los Angeles officers believe Watson probably knew Harvey came from the same district and, knowing his habits, record and other details, used them for his own purposes.

GIRL AWARDED "PRICE OF SIN."

Clara Barker Wins Glendale Nest from Zinc Man.

Too Bad Didn't Keep Him in Jail, Says Court.

Woman Found Unchaste, but the Lesser Culprit.

Miss Clara Eunice Barker, whose liaison with Charles W. S. Munro, wealthy Trenton (N. J.) zinc manufacturer, led to sensational litigation in the local courts, won a victory over her erstwhile affinity in Judge Wood's court yesterday in a suit to recover real and personal property worth $27,000, his gifts during their infatuation. This property includes the love nest in Glendale and the furniture which she transferred to him for $4500 in Liberty Bonds, under coercion, she charged.

In commenting on the case, the court remarked at one stage yesterday:

"It is too bad they did not keep him in jail. If he did not violate the Mann act, a different construction must be placed on the evidence than the one he gave it."

Mr. Munro admitted during the trial that he bought the Glendale love nest, furnished it and made Miss Barker a gift of the property. They resided together in this bungalow until Mrs. Grace Munro, his wife, brought about his arrest.

The court found that Miss Barker was an unchaste woman, affirming an allegation by Mr. Munro, but decided against him on the allegation that she sought the first interview with him. He also found against him on the allegation that the threat to expose him to his family and friends was blackmail.

Attorneys Clark and Richardson, in arguing the case, raised the point of confidential relationship between Miss Barker and Mr. Munro. They contended that she could not come into a court in equity because her hands were not clean, and that the property given her was the price of her sin. Judge Wood held that it were better in this case if the maxim did not apply than if it did.

"If I distinguish between the two, she is the lesser sinner," he said.

In the lost love suith rought by Mrs. Munro, Miss Barker won the judgment. A new trial was granted and Mrs. Munro was awarded $1 for the loss of her husband's love and $1000 punitive damages. Miss Barker was represented by Attorneys Hanna and Morton. Former Judge Clark was granted a stay of execution by Judge Wood and it is expected an appeal will be taken from the judgment in the suit to reclaim the property.

Local Men Lured Aboard Ship and Held at Pistol Point.

Police Rescue Them as Vessel is Le... Arctic.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—More than 100 men and boys, most of them from Los Angeles, were rescued tonight by police from a three-masted barkentine in San Francisco Bay, about to sail for Alaska, aboard which the men said they had been lured by promises of employment in northern canneries and had been compelled by armed guards to remain.

Two Chinese, whom the men accused of threatening them with revolvers should they attempt to escape from the ship, were arrested.

The men said they were unable after boarding the vessel, to obtain satisfactory assurances regarding their employment in Alaska, and demanded that they be placed ashore. Their demand was refused, they said, and the Chinese were armed and ordered to prevent their escape.

Harry Wokoff, a student, who gave his address as 433 South Hope street, Los Angeles, evaded the guards, and swam ashore. He notified police of the conditions aboard the barkentine. The men were removed by a police launch.

Mrs. H. C. Wikoff of 433 South Hope street, says her son Harry, aged 20, and until recently a sailor in the navy, left Los Angeles harbor on the President Sunday morning, bound for Alaska, with about 100 other men from here.

They were to have their passage both ways, and all expenses, together with $215 net for two months work in the salmon canneries. They were shipped from here by an employment agency. Before undertaking the trip, Harry had been at Fresno, where his father is putting up an undertaking chapel.

The People and Their Daily Troubles

Through the Widow's Lorgnette

By Helen Rowland.

Time, Tide and the Modern Woman Wait for No Man.

"This is the first time you've let me inside the door for a whole week!" complained the Bachelor, with bitter reproach, as the Widow waved him into the little rose-colored den, with its cheerful fire and gay lamps. "I feel just like Tweety after he has been shut out in the cold all day for chewing up a slipper or stealing the roast! What've I done, anyway?"

"There, there!" she soothed, compassionately, "it's all over now. I HAVE been rushed!" she admitted, disposing her chiffon and brocade draperies in the big damask chair with a flutter that sent up a bewildering fragrance of violet sachet. "But isn't that just like a man—to assume that nothing but a heinous offense on HIS part could possibly make a woman want a little time to herself!"

"Time!" exclaimed the Bachelor. And he took in the Widow's small and frivolous self with a glance of assumed scorn. "What do YOU do with time?"

"Oh, I use it for little odds and ends, like going Christmas shopping and attending charity-board meetings and committee meetings, and going to lectures and the gym, and studying the social problems and keeping up with half a dozen clubs. But I suppose," and her violet eyes widened challengingly, "that it I—if you—if we were married——"

"Go right on supposing," urged the Bachelor, complacently, lighting a cigarette. "I love to suppose that. If we were married—?"

"You'd expect me to hang around the house, waiting for you, all day!" flung out the Widow, with prompt defiance, "an dto cling around your neck, and tell you how lonesome I was without you, and beg you to hurry back, and quiz you about where you were going, and extract a lot of promises from you, every time you tried to leave the house!"

"Heaven forbid!" exclaimed the Bachelor fervently.

"What——"

"Heaven forbid that I should expect it. There aren't any more nice, futile, clinging wives, with nothing to do but worry about a lonely fellow like me!" And the Bachelor regarded the upcurling smoke from his cigarette with a sigh.

"Ah," agreed the Widow, "the war finished them all off. And in your hearts, you and every other man are secretly glad of it! Time, and the modern woman wait for no man! The sigh that a woman heaves, when she closes the front door behind a man, in these busy, strenuous days, is not half so often a sigh of regret as a sigh of relief!"

"I've noticed that," muttered the Bachelor mournfully, "and, when they murmur sweetly, 'Must you go?' they mean, 'Go——you must!' They even seem impatient, when you linger to hold their little hands, or take more than twenty minutes to say 'Good-night!'"

"Good heavens! There's no pleasing a man either way!", and the Widow flung up her hands in a gesture of despair. "When we clung and hung around your necks, and tried to keep you home evenings, and hadn't a thought or an interest in the world outside of you, we bored you to death, and you were continually struggling to escape from us. You even wrote long articles for the papers, urging matrimonial vacations for husbands and wives, and maintaining that home should be made 'a privilege, not a prison,' and that husbands should be allowed at least two nights off a week, for their clubs, and that wives should cultivate some interests outside the home. But now that we have had those interests thrust upon us by the war and the economic situation, and everything—now that some of us have to work, and some of us have professions, and some of us have politics, and all of us have clubs, or charities, or careers, or hen-parties, you're—you're worried to death!"

"I'm not worried!" protested the Bachelor. "I'm neglected! I'm lonesome! I'm hurt in the region of my aplomb! I have to go around making dates with a girl, two weeks ahead, just as though she were a dentist or an oculist or a box at the opera! It takes all the heart and the spontaneity out of a flirtation——"

"Not to find her sitting around listening for your telephone call, every time you happen to drop in to gladden her sight!" broke in the Widow. "Of course, it does, you poor, spoiled dear! But, think of the mental anxiety it saves you, when you want to STOP 'gladdening her sight' or to go home early, evenings or to stay away altogether!"

"Whatdye mean 'mental anxiety!'" grumbled the Bachelor, "I'm tired of being just 'among-those-present' in a girl's life. I want somebody to brighten my life!"

"Well, Bobby," and the Widow brought one small jewelled fist down emphatically into the palm of her other hand, "if it ever so happens that I am chosen to 'brighten your life,' you'll have to remember that a woman must have women friends, and at least one evening off a week, for her club——"

"I won't hang around your neck," promised the Bachelor humbly.

"And an occasional Saturday afternoon, for a tea, or bridge, or a political meeting——"

"I'll learn to knit!" put in the Bachelor anxiously. "I'll find some interests outside the home!"

"And a latch-key!" finished the Widow positively. "And you must promise, never to question me when I come in late from a committee meeting——"

"I promise," agreed the Bachelor. "And never to telephone you during business hours, nor to go through your pockets."

The Widow tucked her hands gleefully down into two ridiculous little chiffon pockets on her tea gown.

"We do have pockets now—as well as latch-keys, don't we?" she gurgled happily. "I always said, there'd never be any real equality between the sexes, until a woman had as many pockets as a man. And, now, we've got more!"

"You've got more of everything!" groaned the Bachelor, "but, I'll try to be a sweet, devoted, little hus band to you, if——"

"And, I'll promise to be a good, kind wife to you, Bobby," cooed the Widow joyously, "and take you to the country club with me, sometimes, and let you sit and watch me read the newspaper evenings—when I'm not too busy."

"And will you give up your wild ways, and not bring your bachelor girl friends home, unexpectedly to dinner?" persisted the Bachelor.

"I'll do everything Bobby," promised the Widow gently, "to make myself worthy of a pure, sweet Bachelor. I'll even spend all my spare time at home, and hang around your neck, sometimes—when I feel sure it won't bore you!"

"Then," said the Bachelor, leaning back, with a sigh of relief, "I'll consider it."

"What!"

"I'll consider your proposal," said the Bachelor, "A man must be sure of his heart, before he gives it into a strong woman's keeping, in these days," he added gently.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Answer: Certain soils in Europe that have been farmed for 1000 years are as good as the new ground in America. There are ten elements that are necessary to the growth of crops. Of these carbon, hydrogen, oxygen, iron and sulphur seem always present in the quantities necessary and inexhaustible. The five that may be exhausted are potassium, magnesium, nitrates, phosphorous and calcium. Soils should be analyzed to determine which of these materials are needed and the proper fertilizer or crop rotation used. Thus may the worst of so-called worn-out soils be brought up to standard.

Q: Can the old principle of barter be applied to the present trade situation? H. T.

A: The exchange of commodities for commodities without the use of money is actually being practiced in international trade today. Certain traders are loading ships with materials known to be in demand in foreign countries, are taking them to those countries and are exchanging them for goods that are known to be salable over there. The transaction is pure barter and circumvents the difficulties presented by the exchange situation.

Q: Was Admiral Sims born in the United States? R. G. E.

A: He was born at Ft. Hope, Ontario, Can., October 15, 1858. He was appointed to the United States Naval Academy from the State of Pennsylvania in 1880.

Question: Is there an English newspaper in Jerusalem? A. M. D.

Answer: The Jerusalem News is printed in Jerusalem daily, and is sold for 1 piastre—which is about 4 cents in American money.

Q: What is meant by the phrase "Bulls and Bears" in finance? T. M.

A: This is a common designation in the stock markets for two classes of operators. The "bulls" are those who seek to advance prices, and the "bears" are those who endeavor to bring them down. The terms are said to be derived from the fact that a bull tosses up with his horns, while a bear tears down with his claws.

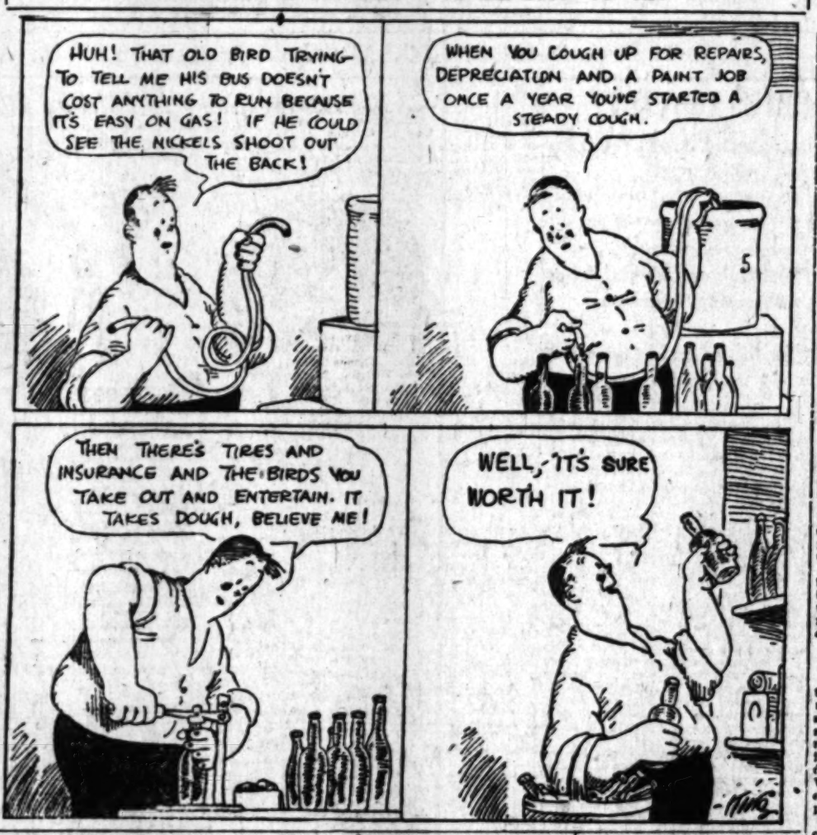
GASOLINE ALLEY—HE'LL SAY IT IS!



Q: What is meant by Pisgah-sight? C. P. G.

A: The term "Pisgah-sight" refers to Mt. Pisgah. It was from this mountain that Moses first viewed the Promised Land.

Q: Can chimney soot be used as a fertilizer? J. K. V.

A: Chimney soot has value as a fertilizer. It can be used to advantage as a dressing around rose bushes and other flowers.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES"

Was Amusing.

LOS ANGELES, April 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Mrs. J. B. Brown: Your letter to The Times about "importing" three ladies from the "far East" to talk politics was amusing.

Oh, dear me, Mrs. Brown! I know that you have a good husband. I'll wager that you have a rose-covered bungalow and a Ford. And I'll bet husband says "charge it" and hands you the receipted bill, else you wouldn't bother with politics. And you wouldn't get so het up about ladies from the "far East." Where is that land? Located in the United States? Were you speaking of Timbuctoo?

Oh! dear me, Mrs. Brown. I've been a business woman for "yars and yars" and I've had politics and everything. And let me say I'd rather be somebody's rib than be President. Then I could grow fat without caring and my figure could get out of plumb and I wouldn't care a darn. And I'd have somebody to put the cat out at night and somebody to get up in the cold and light the gas furnace and get The Times often' the front porch and read to me all about whose gonna' be next President, maybe. And I'd rather cook a dinner for a man and have him lick his chops and say, "Ain't nothin' as good as your cookin', gal," than to be in the next Cabinet.

The greatest "right" a woman has is being a woman. She is either a home-maker, which is the foundation of national surety—or she is not. Politics and home-building do not go together. JUDY.

Parents Can Help.

LOS ANGELES, April 25.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The menace to our country by the desertion of teachers on the wholesale scale from the service of this State and in all other States of the Union is one of the most threatening, and disastrous events since the Great War. The figures in one of your editorials today entitled, "A Disappearing Profession" are alarming.

If there is any one thing that the country should take drastic measures to prevent, it should be this. Protect the very backbone and hope of the nation, the "little red schoolhouse" that has made us what we are, that was never perfect, but came nearer to it than anything on earth. It is education that stands between Bolshevism and the best traditions of our country. If we are to face such a catastrophe then must we depend upon parents to take upon themselves more faith and more seriously the guiding and enlightening of their children.

After all the parent has always had a bigger opportunity than the teacher. The great trouble has been that it has not been made use of. The practice of reading aloud in the home is without any exception, the first way to begin. It can be begun at an amazingly early age. A Catholic is said to have once remarked, "Give me the child from 3 to 7 years, and you can have it afterward."

To illustrate the pliability and openness of the mind at that stage we have only to go back to our own early recollections to be struck with their vividness, and tremendous impressions.

These parents who have the gift of telling in simple words the thrilling tales of history, mythology, can begin where anyone else. Without knowing the child is achieving a treasure, start upon the road of knowledge. He absorbs like a sponge, and the images remain with him all his life. Feed this new-born mind and natural craving which that sacred opportunity lasts.

PASADENA, April 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Why not adopt a few short, snappy, pithy slogans for Hoover? So many have said about Hoover being a business man—sure he is a business man, we want a business administration—but there are lots of business men. Hoover is a Christian, as well as a business man. He has been successful financially. It is obvious that he would not need to run for self-aggrandizement.

Hoover for California.

California for Hoover.

Many people, especially those religious and semi-religious, want to know how a man stands with God. They know it is better with God that he has a high degree of honor. People want a man for President to be more than merely skillful in business or in handling men; they know he will need courage and a Christian man has a reservoir of power always to lean on in times of need. We know that the Christian Quaker training and measures up to Christian standards in his work.

As to being educated, we all know he is a Stanford graduate, and after having the great knowledge of human experience. As a business man he really only started when he got the chance to be a powerful financier in order to serve humanity. His business achievements at that time were stupendous.

Now we have a chance to get a man in the White House on the Republican ticket who is really a business man and is not afraid to do some big men around him and get them to work. Let's do it. The politicians shall not rule.

The history of Presidents has been, for the most part, that they have died comparatively poor men. The office has not called out the business men. They could not afford to sacrifice business opportunity for public honors. Now comes Herbert Hoover who is willing to make a financial career to be our presidential servant. Do not let this opportunity pass.

We must work hard, however. Johnson and Lowden, as well as those of Harding, will have great support at the conventions and have among the people.

If McAdoo runs on the Democratic ticket he will poll but few votes for the reason that he raised railroad wages during the war. We must not forget that the people who have worked for the war have all felt a special loyalty to Hoover.

Cheer up and let's have patience and G.O.P. administration. The country is all right and there will be all right. This talk of hard times may be "Wall Street" propaganda to lower prices of securities so they can buy them and then sell on a bull market. Hurrah for Hoover. Help him!

An Exception.

It was a model prison, and the warden was talking with his latest "guest."

"Now, my man," he said, kindly, "have you a trade, or are you skilled in any line?"

"Why, yes," the man replied.

"Good! We always put men to work at their specialty. I'll do so with you."

"I am afraid you won't, sir," the man replied regretfully.

"Oh, yes, we will. What are you?"

SUES TO GET INDIAN LANDS.

Government Starts Action Against the Espee.

Concerns Congressional Grant for Mission Tribes.

Through Atty.-Gen. Palmer, and Assistant United States Attorney Bryan, the government brought an action in the United States District Court, yesterday, against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and the Southern Pacific Company, to quiet title to about 6000 acres of land along the line of the road in Riverside County and to estop the defendant corporation from exercising any control over the property or clouding the title to the same.

The suit is based on a grant of land made to the Texas Pacific Railroad Company, the predecessor in interest to the defendant corporations, in 1856 which grant was accepted by the Southern Pacific and is now claimed by that company. It is declared by the government that what was known as the Smiley Commission selected the lands involved as a reservation for the Mission Indians; that the area was not at that time subject to selection, as it was not a part of the public domain, but belonged to this tribe of Indians, by virtue of a bill for the relief of the Mission Indians, passed by Congress, January 12, 1891, and approved by President Harrison.

It is further declared that the government has offered the Southern Pacific other lands in lieu of the land set apart by the Smiley Commission for the use of the Indians, but that the road has declined to accept the offer.

The Smiley Commission was appointed by President Harrison to select a reservation for these Indians, and the lands in dispute were picked out as a site for their home. Repeated efforts have been made to get the lands for the purpose set out in the bill creating the reservation. The act of the commission was about the last in California to set apart a home for the Indians of this State.

FINIS WRITTEN TO LONG FIGHT.

Woman Who for Years Held Land Against All Comers Finally Moves.

After nearly ten years, Mrs. Hyrel C. Gill has abandoned her fight against Uncle Sam. When Deputy United States Marshal Moore went up into Millard Canyon, yesterday, to serve the order of injunction issued out of United States District Judge Bledsoe's court, he found the cabin deserted, and the Gill herd of goats gone.

Mrs. Gill's case was one of the most protracted and bitter ever brought to the attention of the local Federal officers involving the occupancy of the public land. Mrs. Gill simply refused to quit her mineral claims in the canyon, and at one time it was almost concluded to allow her to do as she pleased.

The woman was entitled to congratulation from one point of view. She went into the canyon alone, and made for herself a home. When her title to the mineral claims was attacked she appeared as her own lawyer, and even appealed to the commissioner of the General Land Office and the Secretary of the Interior.

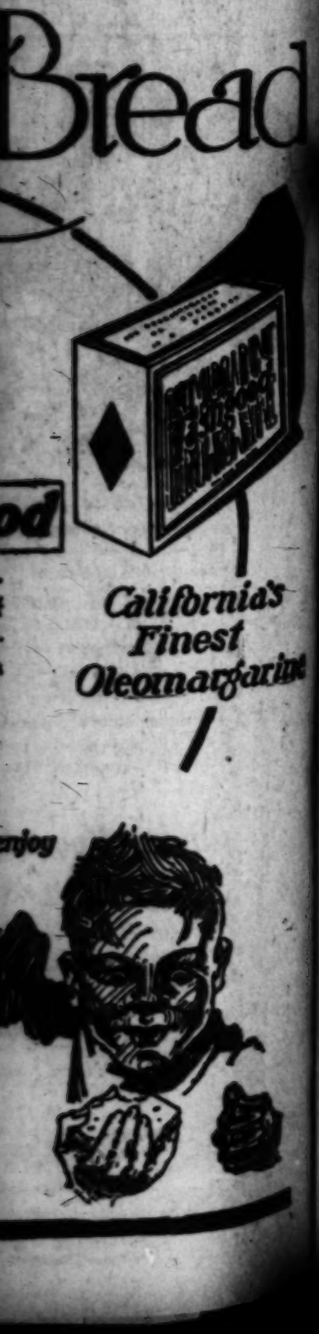
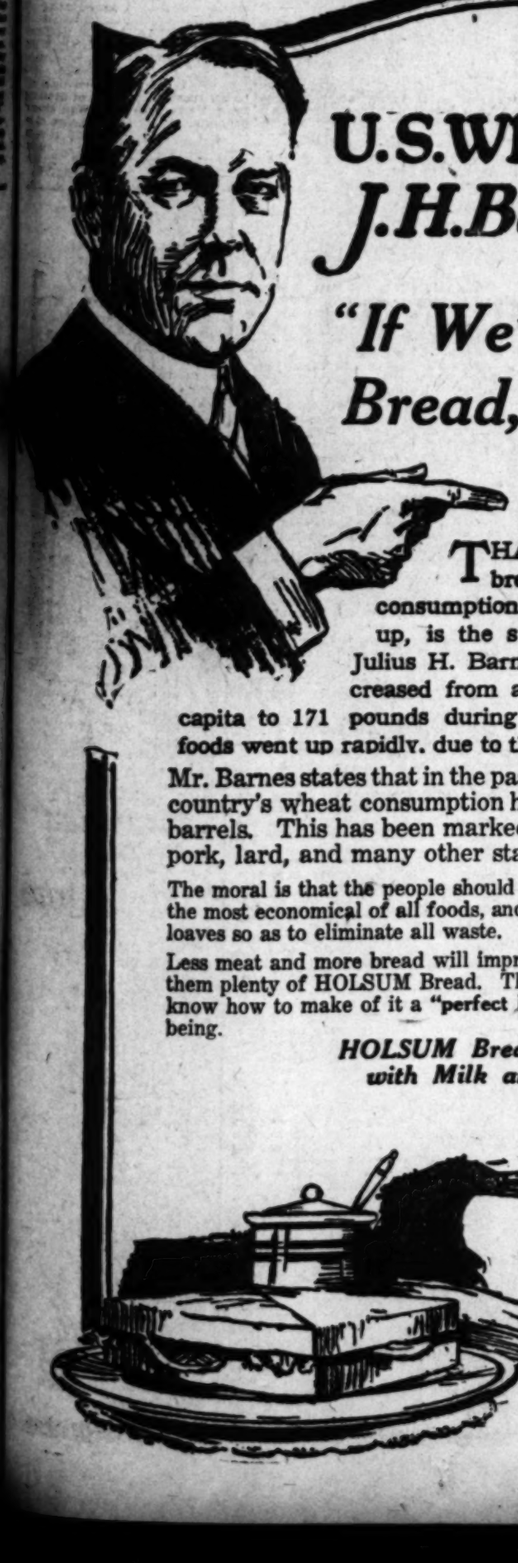
At Your Grocer's





U.S. Wheat Director J.H. Barnes says—

"If We'll Eat More Bread, Food Prices Will Drop"

THAT reduced consumption of bread and consequent increased consumption of other foods has forced prices up, is the statement of Wheat Director Julius H. Barnes. Bread consumption decreased from a normal of 235 pounds per capita to 171 pounds during the war. Prices on other foods went up rapidly, due to the increased demand.

Mr. Barnes states that in the past few months, however, the country's wheat consumption has increased several million barrels. This has been marked by drops in the prices of pork, lard, and many other staple foods.

The moral is that the people should "Get Back to Bread." Bread is the most economical of all foods, and especially so when baked in big loaves so as to eliminate all waste.

SLOWING UP.

Although New York is paying common labor $6 for an eight-hour day against $1.75 for a nine-hour day before the war, it is difficult to supply the demand. Yet the streets are thronged with idle men. The trouble is that few want to work or else the average man wishes to put in two or three days a week at high wages and then loaf. The loafing worker takes no pride in his job or interest in his task, although he is better paid and working under better conditions than the world has heretofore known. It is difficult to make industrial progress under those circumstances. When the employee has no pride in production and no joy over good workmanship the tendency is rather backward than forward. There is a stimulus to invention, however—to create machinery that will take the place of men and will not strike for the mere love of excitement.

NOT THE TRUE HEIR.

In touching upon the claim that Hiram Johnson is rightful heir of the Roosevelt tradition the Chicago Tribune remarks that it is not easy to allow the pretense in view of the political company now seemingly enjoyed by this Roosevelt claimant: "One cannot exactly see Col. Roosevelt, if alive, marching with the I.W.W. or the pro-Germans or with Hearst and William Hale Thompson." Presenting Johnson as the natural inheritor of the Roosevelt legacy is merely a matter of political duplicity. Theodore Roosevelt had no understudy any more than Julius Cæsar or George Washington. When he died the mold was broken. Were he alive today he would be the very first to repudiate the political friendship and ambitions of Johnson, founded as they are upon the social and industrial elements that opposed the nation's flag in time of war. Roosevelt would have slapped the faces of the Bolshevists and Germans who voted for Johnson in Nebraska and Dakota.

A REAL OPTIMIST.

Atty.-Gen. A. Mitchell Palmer is one of the most sweetly optimistic souls whose picture we have had upon the screen. He still believes that he has reduced the high cost of living—done it almost single-handed, for that matter. When confronted by the figures he does not blanch or turn pale. He rubs his hands and smilingly explains that, even if they do not disclose any conspicuous droop, they have been a saving barrier against a robust advance. But for the matchless strategy, foresight and activity of his department prices would have been so high they could not have been reached by shells from Big Bertha. But as it is he has the situation safely under control and all the profiteers are eating out of his hand. That's about what he says. If all the people who are convinced that Mitchell Palmer has reduced the cost of living will cast their votes for him he will get one ballot from a portly and handsome Pennsylvanian and not much else.

THE COAL MAN.

The fuel dealers of California are going to hold their State convention at San Diego. There is one town whose interest in the coal men would seem to be very remote, but the people will welcome them heartily nevertheless. It is announced that the fuel dealers contemplate a wide educational campaign to get the people of California into the coal habit and induce them to stock up with the stuff in the summer months. This is a preparedness programme mighty hard to put into effect. It would be much like trying to sell a carload of snow shovels in Venice on the Fourth of July. There are children in Southern California who never saw coal, and while rheumatic residents from Iowa recognize its value and importance, even in this sunny clime, it has not been accepted as the fuel for general use on the cool nights of the rainy season. But it is coming to be more and more desired. New homes have their furnaces for the burning of coal and it is accepted on equal terms with gas, wood and electricity as an agent for raising the temperature of nippy nights. A use for the genial coal merchant may be found even in sunny California.

EXTRA PAY AND OVERTIME.

The idea of an extra rate of pay for overtime is spoiling the nation's efficiency and production programme as well as the tempers of the workmen. The men are after the overtime instead of the regular task. They want to work on Sundays if they get double pay, and they want the day shortened to six hours because it will then be necessary to work overtime at extra pay to get any results.

There is no reason why an advanced rate of pay should go with the extra hour. A merchant who is selling ten pounds of nails for a dollar does not collect fifteen cents because a purchaser wants an extra pound, nor does he get twenty cents if it is bought on a holiday.

Overtime work should be avoided if possible in order to keep in touch with the dictates of supply and demand. Where it is necessary or advisable it should be optional with the worker—if circumstances will permit. The man who wants the added income should be given the opportunity, but it should not always be necessary to increase the rate of pay simply because a little more production is desired and vitally needed.

THAT "LITERARY DIGEST" POLL

Herbert Hoover's popularity with the American people is clearly revealed in the returns from the second week of the Literary Digest's impartial Presidential poll.

The Digest has no candidate for President. It is a publication which prints extracts from the opinions of other papers, but voices none of its own. It is one of the few papers printed in the English language that has no editorial page. In order to get a line on the popular choice of the country for President the Digest mailed 11,000,000 postal cards to men whose names appeared in directories and registers throughout the country. The recipients were asked to return the post cards with their preference for President marked thereon. One hundred and fifty thousand of those postals have been returned to date. GEN. LEONARD WOOD IS THE FIRST CHOICE AND HERBERT HOOVER IS SECOND. Senator Hiram W. Johnson also ran.

That there is likely to be some wet weather at San Francisco about the first of July is indicated by the vote that Gov. Edwards received in the Democratic balloting. The Democratic vote stands: Edwards, 7563; McAdoo, 6740; President Wilson, 6491; Gov. Cox, 3649; W. J. Bryan, 3855. Bryan's humiliation at seeing one who pledged to make New Jersey "as wet as the Atlantic Ocean" standing at the head of a list on which Bryan himself is the last man is so easily pictured that a verbal description would be superfluous. Bryan read Edwards out of the party; and he came back and took the lead in the preference poll.

Gen. Wood's vote is more than four times that of the leading Democrat, a fair indication of the way the sentiment of the country is divided between the two leading parties. The low vote for Wilson and McAdoo and the fact that Atty.-Gen. Palmer is sixth in the Democratic list may be taken as an indication that the country is wholly out of sympathy with the present Democratic administration.

Gen. Wood's total vote is 32,361. Hoover is second with 22,908. Then Johnson, Harding and Lowden come along in the order named. But the most surprising thing about the vote as tallied to date is that the great majority of the returns are from the States where primary contests were on, and that Hoover, entered in but a single State contest, that of California, stands second on the list. The California vote is of itself worthy of critical analysis.

When the post cards were mailed by the Literary Digest, Hoover had not yet consented to stand as a Republican candidate, while the Johnson campaign had been on for six months. The vote for the two in this State stands: Johnson, 3679; Hoover, 2308. Keeping in mind that the post cards were sent almost exclusively to men it is easy to see what will happen to Johnson when the women for Hoover vote is registered next Tuesday.

It is also illuminating to consider that Senator Johnson received but 3679 votes out of a total of 6798 cast in this State. Wood, Lowden, Harding and Coolidge all have their friends in California. But there will be no Wood, Lowden, Harding or Coolidge tickets in the California primary. It is a clean-cut issue between Hoover and Johnson. Whom do you suppose the supporters of Wood, Lowden, Harding and Coolidge are going to vote for? Can you picture a friend of any of them voting for the only candidate on either ticket that has made an open bid for pro-German and radical support?

Recall the defi that Gov. Coolidge threw into the teeth of the pro-Germans and Reds in Massachusetts in his campaign for Governor and compare it with the bait that Senator Johnson is scattering for them in his platform speeches. Surely no man who admires Coolidge could cast a vote for the Johnson delegates.

Read the embittered attacks that Senator Johnson has made upon Gen. Wood in the Middle West; the false charges about campaign contributions; the accusing finger pointed at his war record; the hue and cry raised against him in the German settlements; Johnson's charges that Gen. Wood was unfair to the Reds when sent to quell riots during the steel strike. Do you imagine that any friend of Gen. Wood can be enticed into casting a vote for Johnson delegates?

Consider the Hearst-Johnson betrayal of Gov. Lowden in the Illinois primaries. Senator Johnson agreed months ago that he would not enter the Presidential primary in Illinois, provided Lowden's friends would not file a list of Lowden delegates in California. Lowden's friends kept their pledge; but when the time came for the Illinois primary Johnson made a combination with Hearst's Chicago papers and with Mayor Thompson of Chicago to have Johnson's name written in on the ballot. The result of this betrayal gave the city of Chicago to Wood. Hearst and Johnson thought they could carry it; but, despite their betrayal of Lowden, Johnson ran third in Chicago and could not be said to have run at all in the State at large. How are Gov. Lowden's friends in California going to view this Hearst-Johnson treachery? Lowden has himself denounced it; and it is not likely that his friends in California will repay it by voting for the Johnson delegates.

One has but to compare the platform addresses of Senators Harding and Johnson to discover that about the only thing they have in common is a seat in the United States Senate. Johnson is a bitter-ender; Harding is a mild reservationist. Johnson has the indorsement of the Nonpartisan League; Harding has repeatedly denounced the disloyal utterances and acts of the officials of that league. Johnson has appealed for support to the Plumb Plan League; Harding has opposed and defied it. Since the armistice Senator Johnson has aligned himself with the pacifists; Senator Harding has denounced them. How many Harding votes do you figure Johnson will get in California?

The Hearst newspapers have already asserted that there will be a walk-out in the Chicago convention and a third party will be organized if the Republicans decline to nominate Johnson. Do the friends of any other candidates care to cast votes for the Johnson delegates in California, thus helping to increase the number of delegates who will form the rump convention of Hearst and Johnson?

How are the women of California going to vote? Do you figure that the politicians are clever enough to entice them away from Hoover? The women of California are no longer tyros in the political game.

The Difference.

They know what Hoover did for the women and children of the Allied countries during the war. They know what he is doing for them yet. Do you imagine that the women who learned to Hooverize in the food campaigns will fail to Hooverize in selecting a candidate for President? The issue in California is very largely that of the women voters against the politicians. The women of Southern California have set forth to defeat the man who did so much to defeat the League of Nations. They would no more vote for a "bitter-ender" than for a descendant of the Hohenzollerns. They fought the pro-German propaganda during the war and they are not going to see those who fought with them defeated to make another German holiday.

The Herbert Hoover campaign for the Presidency is just getting under way. His loyal supporters in California are sanguine of his success. But they know that the fight must be carried right up to and through election day. They are not underestimating the strength of the Hearst-Johnson political machine. Johnson's weakness in his home State has been fully exposed in the Literary Digest test vote. He received only about one-third of the number of votes cast; and he is not like to receive a greater percentage in the Republican Presidential primary next Tuesday. If he were to win the California delegation he would be no nearer the nomination; for the Hearst papers only claim sixty-nine delegates for him to date in a convention of 990 delegates, of which half have already been named. Johnson could not win if he had California. Hoover may win without it; but it would be a sad reflection on the California voter if the State were to reject Hoover and select a delegation pledged to a "bitter-ender" and an angler after pro-German and Red support.

INTERPLANETARY MESSAGES.

Undoubtedly Marconi is a genius in the mechanics of wireless telegraphy, but when he indulges in conjectures on astronomical phenomena he shows his ignorance of the basic principles involved. When we realize how difficult it is to send radio messages to distant localities on the earth, covering at most but a few thousand miles, how can we suppose that such messages can be transmitted across the mighty void that exists between the earth and the nearest planets?

The astromoners of Yerkes Observatory, of international fame, have intimated in recent dispatches that occasional tremendous explosions in the sun might, and probably do, produce etheric disturbances powerful enough to reach the earth across a distance of 93,000,000 miles, as in cases of disturbed transmission of intelligence along telegraph wires, usually coincident with the appearance of great sunspots. But even that explanation is hazarded only as a remote possibility.

Dr. Charles Steinmetz, an electrical engineer and an authority on the transmission of electric waves, believes that if the sounds caught by Marconi came from any planet it would be more likely from Venus than from Mars. Mars is a small planet, but little more than half the diameter of the earth, and when nearest at the present opposition is 54,000,000 miles distant, while Venus comes between the earth and the sun at every revolution and is then only 26,000,000 miles away. At that time the earth is the brightest star in the heavens as viewed from that planet.

But Venus, though of about the same size as the earth, is enveloped in a dense atmosphere filled with aqueous vapor, and unless any inhabitants have different eyes from ours they have never yet even caught a glimpse of our earth and its attendant mood. So we must dismiss the pleasing conjecture of Dr. Steinmetz.

Another professor, Dr. Jacoby of Columbia University, projects an ingenious, if not plausible conjecture to the effect that the radio disturbances may have been caused by the crash of two distant worlds in a collision like that which produced the brilliant nova in Perseus in 1901, or that more recent one in Aquila on June 8, 1918. In either case the collision must have occurred centuries ago, for if the etheric sound traveled with the velocity of light long periods of time must elapse before they could reach the earth and affect our radio apparatus.

We are gravely informed that one "professor," name not mentioned, proposes to ascend to a height of five miles to get nearer the planet he wishes to inspect, which is only 54,000,000 miles away. Probably this wise professor hopes that if he can get that much nearer Mars he can see little children playing in their sand piles on the Martian ocean beach. Why are such absolutely childish absurdities?

Another stunning suggestion comes from Claude Collins, who proposes that a gigantic rocket be so constructed that he can ensconce himself in a chamber and be fired to its destination among the heavenly bodies. If that rocket should leave the earth with a velocity ten times that of a cannon ball it would take nearly two years for it to reach Mars, and the chances are a trillion to one that it would miss the target. Would the traveler on that journey ruminate or hibernate?

Nor can we expect to communicate with Mars by means of an artificial light powerful enough to be visible by an inhabitant of that planet. To produce a light strong enough for that purpose, says Dr. Farss of Bryn Mawr, would require a searchlight of 766,000,000,000,000 candle-power and its cost would be too enormous to contemplate. The largest searchlight now in existence is of 1,230,000,000 candle-power, and it would take the combined light of 680,000 of these, according to Farss, to produce the 766,000,000,000,000 flash. Such a scheme will not be financed right away.

But, while men of science may express the belief that interplanetary messages have not been received, none will go so far as to deny the possibility of such an event at some period in the future. Too many things regarded impossible a century ago have since been accomplished. It is unsafe to hazard the statement that the genius of man may be restricted in any direction. It can, however, be authoritatively stated that things lately conjectured by wild-eyed enthusiasts and ignorant sensation-mongers have not been accomplished as yet and are not likely to be by any agencies, scientific or mechanical, now in use.

THE TEST OF AN ACTRESS.

It is likely that the stage could say to the screen: "You made me what I am today. I hope you're satisfied!" For it seems probable that the stage took its cue for the bedroom farce from the motion-picture idea of putting the ingenue in her nightie at every conceivable opportunity. No movie is complete today unless the heroine dons her nightie at least once every few hundred feet and gazes wistfully and curifully through the windows into the Cooper-Hewitt moonlight. No motion-picture actress has a chance to get on these days unless she owns not less than six pairs of pajamas, eight varieties of boudoir caps, a plump arm to throw casually over the coverlet and at least four fat curls. An actress's histrionic gifts are measured by her ability to slip languidly into bed, while the audience holds its breath, and without losing any footage, rest on the precise spot where the electric moonlight has sifted onto the pillow. There are even actresses of remarkable artistry and rare gifts (such as Betty Compson and Olive Thomas) who can move an entire audience by taking a bath before its eyes. We saw Olive Thomas do this in "Footlights and Shadows." Twenty-five wives moved their husbands bodily from the theater—this perhaps being the reason why the photoplay is best known as "moving picture."—[May Film Fun.

WHAT HOOVER HAS DONE.

BY WILLIAM J. VARIEL, U. C. '87.

"WHO LIFTED THE LID OFF OF HELL?" is the way Elbert Hubbard, in the October number of the Philistine, 1914, characterized the war that had just started, and the conditions wrought by the invasion of Belgium. The invasion found something like four and a half millions of Belgians within the iron ring of the invading army, supplies of all kinds were seized by the invader, and all means of food production were destroyed, and the means of importation of supplies were cut off by the blockade, and it became evident to those who saw conditions that, unless assistance on a gigantic scale were at once obtained, the vast population of Belgium must perish during the coming winter. There was at this time residing in Brussels one Shaler, a mining engineer from Nebraska and a graduate of an American university.

Shaler got busy with the committee of prominent citizens of Brussels, and was intrusted by it with a half million of francs to go "somewhere" and purchase some 2000 tons of flour, rice, beans and peas needed to supply the soup kitchens in Brussels. Shaler went to England, the nearest place where food was possibly obtainable, and with characteristic American energy, succeeded in buying the food, some 2000 tons, but —diplomatic obstacles prevented it from being moved out of England and into Belgium. Shaler met Rickard, another American engineer, Californian, graduate of the University of California of '95, known in the days of '87 at Berkeley as the kid brother of Tommy Rickard, '87, who was a classmate of Warren Gregory, later enrolled with Hoover in Belgium, and now foremost in the endeavor of making him Chief, President of the United States. Rickard promised Shaler to help, but, said Rickard to Shaler, "Get Hoover on the job; if anyone can save Belgium, Hoover is the man."

Rickard took Shaler to Hoover, who was told of the frightful plight the Belgians were in, and of the absolute necessity of getting vast supplies of food and clothing immediately in order to save an entire race from annihilation. Ambassador Page was interviewed by Hoover, Shaler and Rickard. Hugh Gibson, another Californian and college man, a man who did things "over there," came over from Brussels and added his testimony of the necessity of immediate action for relief. Hoover, a man of vision, saw that something must be done, and quickly, to save the Belgians, and especially the Belgian children, from starvation. The 2000 tons of food which had been purchased by Shaler was in some way shipped to the dock and loaded on two small channel steamers that had been chartered; but—the steamers could not be cleared without a license, and the license had been refused by English authority. Shaler had left affairs in the hands of Hoover and Rickard, and had crossed over to Rotterdam, Holland, to make arrangements to receive the food, which he no doubt knew would, in some way, be finally released.

On October 23, 1914, Hoover and Rickard called on Lloyd George, then Chancellor of the Exchequer, and asked for a license to get the food out of England. Lieut. Kittridge, another Californian, U. C. '12, who spent two years under the banner of Hoover in Belgium, tells of the interview between Hoover and Rickard with Chancellor George—one of the greatest interviews that ever took place in the world, when judged in terms of what followed in the cause of humanity. Says Kittridge: From the beginning of the interview, it was clearly apparent that Lloyd George had received them, intending to deny their application (for a license,) but in as diplomatic manner as possible. He spoke of the shortage of food supplies in England, and of the difficulty of securing shipping to carry cargoes across the North Sea to Holland. "It would probably be impossible for you to buy the food you speak of in England," he said, "and even if you could find the food, you wouldn't be able to find ships, or to obtain the railway cars to move it to the docks, or the labor to load it on the vessels."

Hoover let him finish these discouraging remarks, and then in his quiet, but significant way, told him that the points he had brought up were no longer subject to discussion, as THE FOOD HAD ALREADY BEEN BOUGHT, SHIPPED TO THE DOCKS, AND LOADED ON SMALL STEAMERS THAT HAD BEEN CHARTERED TO CARRY IT TO HOLLAND. THESE STEAMERS WERE READY TO SAIL AND WOULD LEAVE AS SOON AS THE LICENSES WHICH THE COMMISSION REQUESTED WOULD BE ISSUED. (Bing!) The Chancellor listened to the tale of marvels with clearly increasing amazement at each sentence of Hoover's statement. This procedure was something an English politician was not in the habit of encountering. But Lloyd George apparently realized even then that he had to deal with men of no ordinary character, who would admit no defeat. After a moment he smiled his surrender and promised that the license would be at once issued, but not before he had turned to Hoover with a twinkle in his Gallic eye, and shaking his finger threateningly at him, had remarked: "You should know, young man, that other men have gone to the Tower for less than you have done. But such commendable energy in such a cause deserves to win. I congratulate you."

The license was at once obtained, the two little steamers with their 2000 tons of food started at once for Rotterdam, and within forty-eight hours after the cargoes were unloaded at that neutral port, they were on their way to Belgium by barges under convoy.

Who was Hoover, the man whom Rickard said was the man to save Belgium? He was an American mining engineer, who for several years had been and was then engaged in vast mining enterprises in various parts of the world, having offices in London and in the United States, whose operations had been in Australia, China, and Russia, and where he had done big things in mining operations, management and administration, and who, at the time the war broke out, found his mining enterprises "shot to pieces," and, who had been chairman of a committee of Americans then in London, that was organized to aid stranded Americans to get back home or to get necessary funds, temporarily to tide them over until they could get passage home. This work of assisting his fellow-Americans had been finished when Shaler dropped in from Brussels, as stated, but his organization was intact and at once became the original COMMISSION FOR THE RELIEF OF BELGIUM—C.R.B., as it was called—all they had to do was to change the heading of their literature and—the organization for relief of Belgium commenced.

So favorable was the impression made on Lloyd George, then Chancellor of the Exchequer, by Hoover and his associates, that within a few months the Allies were giving a subsidy of ONE MILLION POUNDS ($5,000,000) PER MONTH to permit the indefinite continuance of the work of the C.R.B. The foodstuffs went first to Rotterdam (neutral country,) were there unloaded and sent by barges under convoy to Belgium.

The first food arrived in the Belgian capital November 2, 1914, but this was a mere starter, and there was a continuous flow of it thenceforth, until within a few months, it reached over 100,000 tons per month, and this continued until after the armistice in 1918. And Belgium's population was saved. The story of the details of the organization of the commission and its operations would take volumes—but Hoover was the inspired head and directing genius of the vast enterprise—he was not alone—he needed loyal, able and brave and brainy assistants—and he got them. He not only used his organized corps of workers, but he knew of a "bunch" of American college graduates, picked men in their country—there were 150 of them who were then at Oxford and Cambridge universities pursuing or hoping to pursue post-graduate work under the Cecil Rhodes scholarships—those were the fellows Hoover knew he could depend on for the work ahead in the field, and when he sent one of his associates to ask for volunteers for immediate service the whole bunch to a man, volunteered for the service and were soon in Belgium, within the German lines directing the distribution of food and clothing among the Belgians, and we can imagine that when they went on their way, their only direction from Hoover, their chief, was to "Go to it, you fellows, and see to it that the Belgians get the stuff."

Hoover's organization grew to enormous proportions, the personnel being made up mostly of college men—old and young graduates, undergraduates and professors. Forty-three American colleges and universities were represented. There were twenty from Harvard, eighteen from University of California, seventeen from Princeton, eleven from Stanford, ten from Yale, six from Columbia, five from Cornell, and the rest of the institutions (I wish I might have space to name them all) had one, two or three representatives.

In the four and a half years of the existence of the Commission for the Relief of Belgium (C.R.B.,) the commission purchased, or otherwise obtained, transported over seas and distributed to the Belgians and French within the German lines more than 900 whole cargoes and 1600 part cargoes, representing more than 5,000,000 tons of food and clothing, 95 per cent. of which was furnished by the Allies and American treasuries, $30,000,000 being received from the outside world and the overhead or administration cost amounted to only one-half of 1 per cent. We have the statement of Lieut. Kittridge for the above, and he knows; and as Kittridge again put it, "A fleet of seventy steamers, averaging 5000 tons deadweight cargo capacity each, was continually in the service of the commission, carrying supplies from overseas to Rotterdam.

Over 500 barges and canal lighters were in constant service on the canals in Holland, Belgium and Northern France, distributing the supplies to the warehouses. Over 25,000 Belgians and French were engaged in 160 district warehouses and in nearly 5000 communal stores, in the work of distributing these supplies under supervision of the American delegates of the commission. The normal programme provided for the delivery of over 100,000 tons of food each month to the population, doled out in the form of daily rations scientifically calculated to contain the minimum amount of protein, albumen and carbohydrates, and the minimum number of calories that would sustain life and health. This ration system was carefully checked and enforced, allowance being made for the food products obtained from local sources. . . . Over 3,000,000 destitute or partially destitute people had to be cared for, and over 25,000,000 garments were distributed gratuitously to the poor." That was some enterprise to supervise and direct.

This Herbert Hoover, who, when the great giant America got into the war, was compelled to leave his fields of operations in saving the children of Europe, because no American could remain behind the German lines after we got into the war, and to come back home in America to become the great Food Administrator, came back in a ship that undoubtedly had been marked for destruction by German submarine captains, and undoubtedly because Hoover was on board, for he had for over two years been behind the German lines, and "knew too much" to be permitted to reach the shores of America. The fact that the ship immediately preceding Hoover's ship and the one immediately following it through the lane across the Atlantic were torpedoed, and that over fifty S.O.S. calls were received on Hoover's ship during its voyage furnishes some evidence of the activities of submarines at the time, in those waters. No, the torpedo was not manufactured that was to get his ship, he was to survive the war, for other and greater service. "There's a divinity which shapes our ends, rough-hew them as we may."

And this is the man whom millions of his countrymen desire to see in the President's chair. They believe him fitted for the great position. They believe him possessed of the mental fiber, training, nerve, patriotism and executive ability and experience in doing big things to enable him to fill the big office of after-war President of this country. His whole life has been one replete with service and accomplishment.

This is the man we think necessary to take up the great problems that now are before us. The world has changed; the world is smaller; oceans are no longer barriers. America is a world power, and as such needs a man of vision and knowledge of world conditions to direct her during the next few years.

Clean Housekeeping

Housekeeping is the greatest business in the world, and American housekeepers may well be proud of their profession—the oldest of all industries. Upon its management and operation depends the success or failure of every other business in the land.

Good Housekeeping is largely dependent upon the means of house cleaning. The ...ence of 400,000 home makers proves ...t a house of ordinary size can be kept ...e from dust and dirt without the help ...ard, but not without an OHIO-TUEC ...ric Vacuum Cleaner.

In a word, the OHIO-TUEC cleans without beating and pounding. By employing high suction power alone to take out the dust and dirt, it leaves to its slow-revolving brush only the task of picking up, without any wear or friction of the surface over which it travels, all lint, thread, hair and litter.

1. Slight subluxations at this point may cause so-called headaches, eye diseases, deafness, epilepsy, vertigo, insomnia, wry neck, facial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, etc.

2. A slight subluxation of a vertebra in this part of the spine may be the cause of so-called throat trouble, neuralgia, pain in the shoulders and arms, goiter, nervous prostration, la grippe, dizziness, bleeding from nose, disorder of gums, catarrh, etc.

3. The arrow head marked No. 3 locates the part of the spine wherein subluxations may cause so-called bronchitis, felons, pain between the shoulder blades, rheumatism of the arms and shoulders, hay fever, writers' cramp, etc.

4. A vertebral subluxation at this point may cause so-called nervousness, heart disease, asthma, pneumonia, tuberculosis, difficult breathing, other lung troubles, etc.

5. Stomach and liver troubles, enlargement of the spleen, pleurisy and a score of other troubles, so-called, may be caused by subluxations in this part of the spine, sometimes so light as to remain unnoticed by others except the trained Chiropractor.

6. Here may be the cause of so-called gall stones, dyspepsia of upper bowels, fevers, shingles, hiccoughs, worms, etc.

7. Bright's disease, diabetes, floating kidney, skin diseases, boils, eruptions and other diseases, so-called, may be caused by nerves being pinched in the spinal opening at this point.

8. Regulations of such troubles as so-called appendicitis, peritonitis, lumbago, etc., follow Chiropractic adjustments at this point.

9. Why have so-called constipation, rectal troubles, sciatica, etc., when Chiropractic adjustments at this part of the spine will remove the cause?

10. A slight slippage of one or both innominate bones will likewise produce so-called sciatica, together with many "diseases" of pelvis and lower extremities.

When I speak of vertebra being subluxated or displaced I refer to its being separated more or less from the one or below.

Health may continue in varying degree until the nerve pressure is adjusted away. I use only my hands to make adjustments, which I do in a manner that is no part of the teaching or practice or any other health form of an origin than Chiropractic.

The Chiropractic adjustment, by restoring normal action to these nerves, supplies new life force to the weakened parts of the body. You owe it to yourself and family to investigate this wonderful science.

Perry Whiting, rich business man, was denied a divorce from Mrs. Lillian Whiting on the ground of desertion in his cross-complaint by Judge Crail yesterday. Last Friday Judge Crail refused Mrs. Whiting a decree on the ground of cruelty.

The trouble that brought them into court, Judge Crail said, was due almost exclusively to pride. He said that both are fine people who allowed pride to break up their home, and it would be better if they lived together again.

"A married life to be successful should be unselfish," said the court.

Mr. Whiting denied his wife's allegations of cruelty. At one part of his testimony, tears came into his eyes. He was speaking of Madeline, his wife's daughter by a former marriage. He said he loved her as his own daughter, and wanted her to be free to go to him for anything she wanted.

When Madeline told him that Mrs. Whiting's first husband had died, he said he offered his assistance to his wife, from whom he was then separated, drove to her home and allowed them the use of his automobile. In leaving Madeline, he gave her $5. He told her:

"No matter what happens between your mother and myself, if you want money or anything, come to me."

PRIEST PASSES ON.

Death Claims Assistant Pastor of St. Vincent's Church.

Rev. Daniel Riofrio, assistant pastor at St. Vincent's Church, 1887 South Grand avenue, for the past thirteen years professor of languages in old St. Vincent's College and for three years chaplain of the Los Angeles Orphan Asylum, died yesterday while in the performance of his priestly duties.

For years he had done devoted work among the Mexican and other Spanish-speaking people of Los Angeles and was highly esteemed and much beloved by them. He was 54 years of age and had been a priest twenty-eight years.

The body will lie in state in St. Vincent's Church tomorrow at 2 p.m. At 7:45 p.m. vespers of the dead will be chanted. Thursday at 9:30 a.m. the office of the dead will be chanted, followed by a solemn farewell mass at 10 a.m. Monsignor Harnett will preside at the chanting of the office and Archbishop Gillow will pronounce the absolution.

MINIMUM WAGE AND H. C. OF L. DISCUSSED.

COMMISSION AGREES HIGHER PAY FOR WOMEN IS NECCESSARY.

Any compensation under $18 per week is not sufficient for a working woman, representatives of all industries told the Industrial Welfare Commission, last night, at a mass meeting held at the Hall of Records. A. B. C. Dohrmann, chairman of the commission presided at the meeting, and called on the different classes of workers for their opinion regarding the wage situation.

During the discussion Mr. Dohrmann declared that the commission was convinced that a higher minimum wage for women workers was required. He said the only question to be considered was the additional amount necessary.

Speakers at the meeting, all women, stated that it cost the average women worker $6 per week for room, $6 for meals, $2.50 for laundry, and about $2.75 o $3 per week for clothes. If a woman earns only the minimum wage, as it is now fixed, many workers are unable to make both ends meet, and large numbers continue in debt.

Married women who work for the pleasure of the thing, according to a number of those who addressed the meeting, are responsible for the low wages. Mrs. Katherine Edson asked one of the speakers if she believd there was a surplus of labor, and the woman replied, "there is not a surplus of women workers, but a surplus of married women working for the fun of it."

The commission started a two-day hearing yesterday at the Union League Building. In the forenoon representatives from the canning, fruit and packing industries were heard; in the afternoon the commission heard suggestions from the general manufacturing, candy making, paper and wood box manufacturers, garment and needle trades industry.

The hearings will be resumed this morning when the laundrymen, mercantile houses, hotels and restaurants, apartment-houses and other lines of business will appear before the commission.

Representatives from the different chambers of commerce and other industrial associations have been invited to attend the meetings here. The commission has recently completed a hearing in the northern part of the State.

Other members who attended last night were Alexander Goldstein and Walter Matheson.

Arrange Campaign for Raising Hundred Thousand.

At a meeting in the synagogue last night, plans were laid by the Congregation Sinai for the raising of $100,000 for development work. The sum is to be sought in a ten-days' campaign.

The "greater Sinai" movement includes a new synagogue, a community center and a Hebrew academy. Leading merchants are behind the move and Rabbi Moses Rosenthal stated last night that the money will undoubtedly be obtained before the expiration of the ten days.

the work of the Vigilance Committee of the club, that is conducting a campaign against reckless automobile drivers.

Councilmen Conaway, Fleming, Langdon, Wheeler and Sanborn spoke of the necessity of keeping alive the business life of Los Angeles, by amending satisfactorily the no-parking ordinance. Councilman Criswell, while speaking on behalf of the street-car riding public, voted affirmatively with the rest of the Council in favor of amending the ordinance.

Assistant City Attorney Stephens will start at work this morning on the amendments, which may be presented to the Council today or tomorrow, bearing the emergency clause. The amendments, when formally adopted, by the Council and signed by the Mayor, will go into effect at once, so that by Friday or Saturday it is expected the 11 a.m. to 6:15 no-parking ordinance will be a relic of the past.

DOSED WITH DRUG, IS CHARGE OF ROGERS.

SAYS EXCESSIVE QUANTITY AFTER BLOW SENT HIM TO COURT SEMI-STUPID.

Earl Rogers, attorney, who is fighting for his personal liberty before Judge Myers, who is hearing charges of excessive use of narcotics, made a demand late yesterday afternoon for a bedside chart which he asserts will show an excessive dose of a drug was given him to quiet his nerves and caused him to appear in court the following day in a semi-stupid condition.

This dose, he says, was administered after he is said to have attacked Deputy Sheriff Couts and to have been struck on the jaw. He asked Dr. Wilburn Smith what effect such a drug would have on a man who had shortly before received a heavy blow on the mouth. Dr. Smith replied that it would make the man groggy and mentally slow. Only a copy of the chart was with the filings, and the original record will be produced in court this morning.

Dr. Charles Bryson, Capt. Bogart Rogers, a son of Earl Rogers; Deputy Sheriff Couts and Policeman Hudson were the witnesses yesterday. The physicians said they never saw Mr. Rogers take a drink.

RINDGE COMPANY IS ENJOINED BY COURT.

The Rindge Company was temporarily enjoined by Judge McCormick yesterday from in any way interfering with the work on the new coast highway through the Malibu ranch. Later the suit brought by the county will be tried on its merits.

The county claims that the Rindge Company plowed up the survey stakes on the new road and that this apparent deliberate purpose of obstructing construction had hampered the work.

The superintendent of the ranch, C. G. Durand, denied that the stakes were purposely plowed down. He said he had instructed his employees when plowing to avoid the stakes.

The court said that it is impossible to cultivate the county's right of way simultaneously with the construction of the road. The inference was that the removal of the stakes was a deliberate act.

Took a Severe Cold.

"Our 5-year-old son Paul took a severe cold last winter that settled on his lungs and he had terrible coughing spells. We were getting worried about him, as the medicine we gave him did not help him in the least. A neighbor spoke so highly of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy that I got a bottle of it, and the first dose benefited him so much that I continued giving it to him until he was cured," writes Mrs. Frank Crocker, Pana, Ill.—[Advertisement.

What has become of that old joke about the High Price of Women's Hats?

There's nothing to it now since the price of a $15.00 wash frock has gone to $45.00. The common bungalows aprons which used to sell at $1 and $1.25 now cost $3.50. Consider also the 9x12 Axminster Rugs—a standard $25.00 value all over the country; find one today for less than $50.00. And the lowly overalls — the $1.00 kind, now bring $3.50 and they're on the rise.

Has Millinery Increased Accordingly?

NO—we can prove it on dozens of items every day. Children's hats which formerly sold at $3.98, today are but $4.48.
A $1.75 fancy Feather is but $1.98 and our $6.75 Leghorns are $7.50 since the raise.

Millinery as a whole is almost as low priced as it ever was.

Brooklyn Eagle Party Spends Night at Huntington.

Crown City Man Gives Camp Site to Boy Scouts.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, April 26.—"No American's education should be considered complete nor will they have tasted to the full the enjoyment which their country offers until they have seen the American Southwest, and particularly the wonderful State of California," said Benjamin W. Wilson, prominent member of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce and the head of one of the largest engraving plants in the world, at the Hotel Huntington here today. He is a member of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle's special train party of New Yorkers touring the West.

The special arrived in Los Angeles this morning from Yosemite. After seeing Los Angeles and the picture studios at Hollywood, the visitors motored in a fleet of autos to Pasadena. They spent the afternoon sightseeing, remained tonight at the Huntington and tomorrow will motor to Riverside. On Wednesday they will motor over Cajon Pass and board their special again, for the Grand Canyon, where they will take part in the dedication of the canyon as a national park.

Prominent among the visitors in the party are former Congressman Edward M. Bassett of New York City; George Dressler, head of one of the large Brooklyn marketing and warehouse concerns and a director of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce; H. P. Jaltenhorn, assistant managing editor of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle and a director of the Chamber of Commerce; James D. Johnson, president of the Middle West Gas and Electric Company; Hamilton Ormsbee, veteran editorial writer and dramatic critic of the Eagle; Commander H. S. Babbitt of the U.S.S. Chester, who was interned in Turkey by the enemy during the war; Dr. Herman T. Peck, head of the Brooklyn health department, and others. Most of the visitors are accompanied by their wives. The personnel of the special numbers more than 125.

Brooklyn is a "city of homes" so the visitors have been especially interested in Pasadena, which bears a similar reputation.

GIVES BOY SCOUTS CAMP.

Henry E. Huntington has given the Pasadena Boy Scouts a six-acre camping site in Rubio Canyon, as a gift to the organization, according to the announcement here today of Stuart W. French, chairman of the adult council for the Boy Scouts in Pasadena. The presentation was made in Mr. Huntington's behalf by William Dunn and F. Griffith of the Huntington interests, this morning. The site is situated just below the Rubio Canyon Land and Water Company's reservoir and in a place of much natural beauty. The Scouts will establish their camp there this summer.

CHAIN BUYS RESTAURANT.

Said to be acting for a new chain of restaurants in Southern California, in which Baron Long and other prominent Los Angeles men are interested, Maurice Rausch of Los Angeles has bought Jack Johnston's restaurant and lunchroom, the largest in the city except the big hotels, for $50,000. The deal was closed today.

GORED BY WILD BULL.

J. O. Bailey, employed by the Live Oaks Dairy, near Lamanda Park, was gored and seriously injured by an enraged bull at the dairy today. Mr. Bailey was treated at the Emergency Hospital here and then removed to his home. He will recover.

CLUB LEADERS FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, April 26.—Resolutions favoring a League of Nations, county and State assistance for maintaining kindergartens, and the installation of a school nurse in Orange county schools were adopted by the County Federated Women's Clubs in annual convention here. New county officers elected were president, Mrs. C. F. Crose, Santa Ana, re-elected; vice-president, Mrs. F. B. Maile, Fullerton; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ruth R. Tiffany, Santa Ana; recording secretary, Mrs. J. H. Swan, Anaheim; treasurer, Mrs. Louis A. Copeland, Huntington Beach; auditor, Mrs. Jesse Chilton, Fullerton.

Mrs. Martha Curtis, 68, a crippled woman, is in a serious condition today as the result of her struggles last night with an unidentified Mexican, who broke into her house south of town some distance from any neighbors and overpowered her. The woman was found by her son in a semiconscious condition, with a number of scratches about her body. Today near-by Mexican settlements were being searched for the author of the crime, who is charged with criminal assault. Confusion in the room indicated there had been a lengthy struggle before the lone woman fainted or was rendered unconscious.

FEAR FOR SAFETY OF MEXICAN GUARD.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MEXICALI, April 26.—Fear has been felt for the safety of Lieut. Mazayanes and his five men, detailed to escort Espainesa de Los Monteros and A. Borboa, the two Mexicans caught while attempting to smuggle 600 rifles and a large quantity of ammunition across the line.

The two men under a heavy guard, were being taken to Mexico City according to advices sent out from official headquarters. No word has been heard from the officers since the party reached Sonora.

The revolution in Sonora broke out three days after the party left Mexicali for the interior, it is said, and it is possible that the revolutionists seized the party, freed the two men and placed a guard over the officers and men from Mexicali.

It is not felt that they would allow a party of prisoners to be taken to Mexico City. Another version of the mysterious disappearance of Lieut. Mazayanes and his five men was given tout today. It is said they left from a port in Lower California for Mexico City, in a small gunboat, arriving in San Felipe soon after the revolution had broken out. The reactionary forces had gained complete control.

According to information circulating in Mexicali today, the overthrow of the government of San Felipe, is the only one in the history of Mexico that was conducted without bloodshed, the rebellious forces taking complete charge, without firing a shot.

Business was carried on in the usual manner, an hour after the outbreak had occurred. The change in administration was the only visible signs of any unrest.

A VANISHED RACE.

George Washington Ready, 88 years old, Cape Cod's town crier, is dead. He retired some time ago and went to Farmington, N. H., to live with a niece.

George had been the official town crier of Provincetown, Mass., for thirty-five years. So far as is known this town and Nantucket were the only towns of the cape resort section that boasted official criers.

George Washington Ready was a character here. When 11 years old he went to sea, like all true cape boys, and his parents moved to Provincetown. When 53 he forsook the sea and returned to town crying.

No one thing in Provincetown caught the fancy of the visitor more easily than the venerable crier, with a staff and the celebrated bell with which he patrolled the narrow, tortuous streets, making his announcements of events to come, of sales to be opened, of the odd matters of information that he picked up and circulated.—[New York Evening Sun.

OPALS GROWN ON TREES!

Opals grown on trees is one of the latest discoveries of science. Such "stones" are now on exhibition in the American Museum of National History, New York. These "opals" were grown in Humboldt county, Nevada, several thousand years ago, by the slow processes of nature. They were formed from trees which were evidently uprooted and buried in a swamp during some earthquake. The trees, many feet under water, became water-logged snags, and then became petrified. The swamp water had become heavily charged with a solution of silica, which acted upon and changed the nature of the wood, while preserving its structure. In course of time, the wood became "opal," and can scarcely be distinguished from the genuine article. —[Hereward Carrington in Leslie's.

TUCSON GETS BIG SHOOTING MATCHES.

ANNUAL RIFLE ASSOCIATION MEET IS TO BE PULLED OFF ON MAY 8-9.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) April 26.—In Tucson, May 8 and 9 will be held the annual matches of the Arizona Rifle Association. This city gets the contest by virtue of having the largest and best range in the southwest, designed and superintended by Col. J. G. Roskruge, believed the oldest expert rifleman in America.

Heretofore the Phoenix Rifle Club has been victor in all joint matches. This year, however, there will be keen competition by Tucson and a number of other cities that will send civilian teams.

There may be a military team from Fort Huachuca and another from Nogales or Douglas, while the newly-organized cavalry troop at Phoenix, the first unit of the new Arizona National Guard, will have representation. There also are expected contestants and teams from the university and high school cadet corps organizations.

The Arizona Sportsmens' Association held its last shoot at Kingman. Thomas L. Edens of Phoenix won the State amateur championship medal, the high average trophy and the class A trophy. In the four-man medal shoot there was victory for the Phoenix team, including Edens, H. W. Heileman, D. E. Morrell and W. B. Twitchell, with a total of 191, twenty above the next contending team. W. E. Mullen of Ray won the individual championship medal and R. B. Robinson of Kingman the State amateur handicap trophy.

NAVY COPS ALL THREE EVENTS.

Simply Swamps Harvard in the Opening Regatta.

Sailors' Victories Were Clean-cut Throughout.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ANNAPOLIS, April 26.—The crimson of Harvard was trailed in defeat over the two-mile course of the Seven River, by the Annapolis midshipmen in a three-cornered regatta between varsity, second varsity and freshmen eight oared shell crews today. The navy victories were clean-cut and marked the second great triumph the sailors have recorded over Harvard oarsmen in two years.

The navy varsity eight, swept across the finish line four boat lengths ahead of their opponents; the navy second crew went over by a five and a half length margin, while the middy plebes won by four lengths.

Official time was:

Navy varsity, 11:48; Harvard, 12.05; Navy second crew, 12:15; Harvard second varsity, 12:38. Navy plebes, 12:24; Harvard freshmen, 12:40.

The races were rowed in an almost continual downpour. Chilly air and an east-southeast wind made the course rough.

BROOKS SHOWS 'EM HOW ON INDOOR GOLF LINKS.

R. Brooks, former assistant golf pro to Chick Fraser at the Midwick Country Club, has assumed charge of the Spalding indoor school and is now busily engaged in teaching the timid ones quaint tricks of the grand and noble pastime.

Oliver Merpall, who shoots a wicked 150 every time he steps to the tee, declares he has improved his game fully fifty strokes since taking a few of Brooks's lessons. The result so impressed one, Charley Keppen, that he blushingly confesses to having persuaded Brooks to take him in hand and make a golfer out of him. Stranger deeds than this have been wrought.

TWO CHAMPS HERE.

Two champion handball players of the Detroit district arrived here yesterday to prepare for the national A.A.U. handball championship to be held at the L.A.A.C. the week of May 22-29. They are L. Henry and E. Smith, members of the Detroit Athenaeum Club, who will enter for both the singles and doubles matches.

Give it Time, Says Jack.

Jack's Mustache is in the Ring.

The foliage adorning the upper lip of Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, looks as though it were taking the count. But Jack says that, by the time his training at Surf Beach, Alameda, is finished, it will be able to meet all comers, as he expects to be. The champion is in the north awaiting trial following indictments by a Federal grand jury and is spending his time going through a stiff training schedule for a match with Carpentier or any other world-title aspirants.

MRS. DEMPSEY TO TESTIFY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—Two letters written by Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, to Maxine Wayne Dempsey, in which he is alleged to have described his method of evading the draft will be used by the government against the fighter and his manager, Jack Kearns, when they are tried on the indictment charging them with conspiring to evade the draft, it was announced today.

The letters, believed to be barred on the ground that they were confidential communications between husband and wife, became admissible when Assistant United States Attorney C. W. Thomas, Jr., described that Maxine Dempsey is not the lawful wife of the pugilist. According to facts in the hands of the Federal prosecutor Maxine Wayne was the former wife of George Glasshoff, a Salt Lake Route brakeman. She and Glasshoff were married when she met Dempsey.

OBTAINS DECREE.

Mrs. Glasshoff, with Dempsey's knowledge, obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce in Salt Lake City, September 26, 1916, the final decree to become effective six months later.

Dempsey married her thirteen days after the interlocutory decree was granted, at Farmington, Utah. The marriage not being valid will leave Mrs. Dempsey free to testify.

The Dempsey-Kearns case is on the calendar in the United States court to be set for trial next Saturday. At that time Prosecutor Thomas will demand an early hearing of the case. Mrs. Dempsey is being held under bonds as a detained witness for the government.

The government is in possession of facts relating to Kearn's "past life in Washington, where he was known as Jack McKernon, which the Federal authorities declare will be a sensation when the case comes up for trial.

FITZ IS STILL IN THE LEAD.

BY ED O'MALLEY.

How are you going to stop this fellow Fitzgerald of the Seals? He is one of the world's best natural batters. If Fitz had a good throwing arm he would today be up in the big ranks battling in the very first line. Year in and year out old Fitz is there as steady as are the tides. He figures to be where he is and it is begging the question that he will stay there.

Los Angeles took a decided slump in the batting line last week and are now next to last in the list. Vernon fell off five points but still managed to trim the Yippers in the recent series here. The Seals are mauling the old pill hard and are causing wiseacres to give 'em an apprehensive slant. Barring accidents Charlie Graham's lads are sure to give the other teams in the Coast League a lot of bother and worry before many weeks have passed and who knows but—but let's not fall into the Hugh Fullerton vein just now—let's bide a wee.

Ernie Johnson and his Mormons are now with us champing fretfully on the bit for a swing at the Bengals. Of course, boys, you'll all be out this afternoon to see our old friend Maggy cavorting around center and Big Bill Rumler mussing up horsehide, and Walter Leverenz shooting a lot of elusive darts and drops and Earl Sheely stretching that right of his almost to the roof of the grand stand for rotten throws from the infield, and good old steady Krug at second making you all forget about the sensational Marty McGaffigan. Well—if you don't believe what we say just drop out and see for yourself.

Batting averages for the Coast League, including all games played to date with the exception of the Los Angeles-Portland game played yesterday compiled by Leo Moriarity:

MILLER BACK AND AS GOOD AS EVER.

Walter Miller, demon wrestling instructor of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, is back from Spokane, where he wrestled Ted Thye on the 15th of this month for the middleweight title. The bout ended in a draw, the police stopping the fracas at the end of three hours' milling with both men exhausted.

Newspaper clippings produced by Miller show him to have been the aggressor in the early stages of the mix-up and to have come dangerously near to obtaining the decisive hold on his rival.

MANY DELEGATES TO ATTEND CONFERENCE.

NEW YORK, April 26.—An invitation of the United States Golf Association to send delegates to the rules conference to be held here Friday, has brought acceptances from many sectional bodies. Wilbur Brooks, president of the Western Golf Association, will attend and there will also be representatives from the Missouri, Ohio, Texas, Western Pennsylvania and Wisconsin Golf Associations. Others, unable to have representatives present, have sent expressions of confidence in any action that may be taken.

CHARLEY KEPPEN'S KILL BALL A CORKER.

Yesterday was Keppen day at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. It was so designated by the Keppen party when he had the good fortune to trim Maj. Robert Warwick in three straight games on the handball courts. Mr. Keppen is authority for the statement that the score of the last game was 20-4 in the major's favor when he began using some of his well-known skull stuff and baffled Warwick so badly that he ran out the game in spite of the heavy odds.

DOUBLE MAIN EVENT TONIGHT.

Another double main event is scheduled at the Vernon arena tonight. Walter Caldwell, the light heavyweight who secured two draws with Cliff Jordan, is matched with Kayo Kruvosky of San Francisco and Young George, the best of the local welterweights will meet Kid Palmer of Arizona.

All four of the main eventers are sluggers. The wise ones are picking Kruvosky to beat Caldwell, as the San Francisco slugger is an old-timer who knows every trick of the game, but the George-Palmer affair has the dopsters guessing.

Palmer has scored a lot of knock-outs, down in Arizona, among his opponents who were stopped being Bert Colima, one of the best of the local 145-pounders. For some time George has been making unsatisfactory showings and tonight's bout will prove whether or not he is still a regular main event performer.

Sailor Joe Tisher, who beat Sailor Kramer handily a week ago is matched with Joe Brown, a tough and aggressive mauler. Tisher has made a big hit in his two starts here and there is considerable interest in his work.

Four other bouts are carded and each should furnish its share of action. Johnny Meyers meets Larry Fitzgerald at 145 pounds, Jimmy Store meets Jack Papke at 135 pounds. Young Papke takes on Marshall Booker at 118 pounds and Fred Young boxes Red Belden at 142 pounds. The first bout will start at 8:30.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) April 26.—Paddy Siglin, second baseman and captain of the Portland baseball team last year, will report again for duty tomorrow, according to announcement today by Walter McCredie, Portland manager. Siglin was sent to Detroit for a tryout this spring and after being ordered back to Portland he held out for a time for a higher salary than was offered, McCredie said.

REDLANDS RELAYERS ARRIVE IN THE EAST.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, April 26.—Word has been received that the four-man relay team of the University of Redlands which recently went East to take part in the Pennsylvania relay carnival, has arrived in Philadelphia. The team made the trip in fine shape and the boys, who had been training hard for weeks, are all the better for their three or four days rest.

They had long enough in Chicago to have a try out on the University of Chicago track. This sufficed to take the kinks out of the long ride.

Whether the change in climate will cut down their speed is a question. It has had that effect on many Coast athletes who have gone to the East. The fans in the south are hoping to see the team figure in the winning.

SOUTHERN LADS SHOW THE BEST.

Sudden of Lick Only Northerner to Make Showing.

BY PAUL DOWRY.

Track athletes of Southern California, particularly those of preparatory affiliation, have been performing to the fine needle point of perfection this season. Ample evidence of this was given last Saturday, when nine new track and field records were established in the State meet held at Berkeley.

It is worth noting that southerners made eight of the nine. By running the 220-yard dash in 21 4-5s, Sudden of Lick was the only man from the North to get his name in the book as a figure smasher. This lad equaled the old mark of 10s flat, in the 100-yard dash.

New State marks for the high jump, pole vault, broad jump, discus, 12-pound shot put, 880-yard run, high hurdles and relay race were made by chaps from the sunny South.

Just two weeks previous in the all-Southern meet, held at Occidental College, records for the relay, shot put, discus, pole vault and 440-yard dash had been broken. Here are both the new Southern and State marks, and the names of the men who hold them:

440-yard dash—Clark (Los Angeles High School) 50 3-5s.; Southern California record.

Broad jump—Nash (Chino High School,) 21ft. 9 1-2in.; State record.

MASTER JESSON GETS AWFUL WALLOPING.

Poor old Ralph Jesson is getting older. The former Pomona football crack took on raw meat in the person of Dr. H. H. Wilson in the semi-finals of Class E of the L.A.A.C. handball tourney yesterday, and had enough at the end of the first game. The doctor won the first game by a score of 21-17 and ran Jesson so ragged that the latter cried quits. He defaulted the last game, 21-0.

What Is Behind The "Outlaw" Rail Strike?

Every phase of the great strike that has extended across the country during the past two weeks is covered in the leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for April 24th. In the opinion of the Jersey Journal (Jersey City) "the outlaw strike is trying either to put union labor out of business or to put the country out of business," and the Evening Post (Chicago) declares that it is "a test of organized labor's ability to control its own affairs. If unionism can not control its forces and can not prove its value as a respectable co-operating factor in the great task of doing the country's work and producing the country's wealth, the verdict will go against it." While Attorney-General Palmer affirms that the strike was the result of I. W. W. leadership, and of the working out of an international Communist program, Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, blames "men like Senator Cummins and Governor Allen, of Kansas, with their legislation to deny a man the right to quit work to enforce a legitimate claim or redress an injury" for the "wave of uncontrollable resentment" which found expression in this strike. The Evening Public Ledger (Philadelphia) declares that "the pressure that greed and stupid opportunism have put upon all wage-earners is almost intolerable. To be promised relief, yet to see the cost of necessities rising steadily about twice as fast as your wages, to see a day approaching when shoes and shelter may be matters of doubt, is to be ready material in the hands of blind agitators."

Read THE DIGEST this week if you would get the news of this great strike as drawn from all available sources.

"The Digest's" Poll of 11,000,000 Voters

The Most Impressive Indication of the People's Choice for the Presidency Ever Given Outside of a Presidential Election

When it is recalled that the total vote cast in the last Presidential election was about eighteen and one-half millions and that in the present poll THE DIGEST is taking, eleven million voters are being asked to name their choices for the Presidency, it will be seen that the results of this poll will give a very accurate idea of the man that the American public want for President. The second week's returns are published in THE DIGEST for April 24th. Every section of the country is being canvassed by mail in this poll, and many thousands of votes are being received daily. From now on up to the Presidential conventions in June, THE DIGEST will print a weekly tabulation of this monster vote, and it is not too much to say that it will be carefully and eagerly scanned by the public, and in all likelihood will have a considerable influence upon the selection of the candidates at the conventions of the two great parties.

All the World-News of the Week in "The Digest"

Besides the two feature articles, before mentioned, this week's DIGEST is particularly interesting. There is a wide variety of news-articles covering International Politics, The War Situation in Europe, Science and Invention, Religion and Social Service, Literature, Drama, Music and Education, while the lighter side of life is reflected in the form of humorous cartoons and other illustrations.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS
Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers.
We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.
The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.
When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; you have severe headaches, nervousness and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days your kidneys will be fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.
Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink that everybody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.—Advertisement.

NEW REMEDY FOR UGLY HUSBANDS

The next morning he will be the kind of husband he promised to be. Honest! I am not joking. It beats anything you ever saw for ending the meanness (billiousness) of men and women, too. The next time you feel lazy, mean, blue, headachy or discouraged take a Calotab. One tablet at bedtime, with a swallow of water—that's all. No griping, no salts, no nausea, no after-effects. You wake up the next morning feeling fine, your liver active, your system purified with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please and go about your business, no danger.

"I Hear So Much about 'Acid-Mouth'"
Yes — we all hear a great deal about "Acid-Mouth" nowadays, because it is believed to be the chief cause of tooth decay.
Harmful acids are not so apparent in a mouth where the saliva functions normally. The composition of saliva is such that it seems to neutralize any undue acidity and to keep the teeth and oral cavity thoroughly cleansed.

Less Than a Nickel a Week
The average American family is 4½ persons (U. S. Census).
This averages for the family less than the price of—
1 cigar per week for father, or
1 street car fare per week for mother, or
1 package of gum per week for the children.
The complex service which we furnish the public is efficient and economical. The cost to the public in the shape of profit is too small to be noticeable in the family meat bill.

BRAND CHARGES TOTALLY FALSE.

erfeldt to give significance to them, for a most liberal estimate would establish that they fall short of 10 cents per annum. So far as the selection of the bank is concerned, I make answer that I was not depositing State moneys, but funds entrusted to me personally, and where is a better place to deposit them than in a bank which, from my connection with it I know to be solvent, and whose continued solvency I could know day by day."

Mr. Westerfeldt's statement that the Los Angeles office refused to advise the head office in San Francisco how much State money belonging to the Fish and Game Commission was on hand is denounced as a malicious falsehood by Mr. Connell. He points out that when advised that an immediate statement was desired it was given at once by telegraphic reply that the only money held in Los Angeles was the amount necessary for repayment to license agents.

THREE MEMBERS.

The State Fish and Game Commission is made up of three members, Mr. Newbert in Sacramento, Mr. Connell in Los Angeles and Mr. Bosqui at the head office in San Francisco. Mr. Westerfeldt's complaint that the branch offices try to exercise independent authority is answered by Mr. Connell as entirely false.

"It will abundantly appear," said Connell, "that the difficulty is not that Mr. Newbert in Sacramento and I in Los Angeles maintain branch offices exercising authority independent of or co-ordinate with the authority of the commission, but to the contrary the cause, and the sole cause of friction, lies in the fact that Mr. Westerfeldt, with Germanic sophistry, has convinced Mr. Bosqui that that gentleman alone constitutes the whole commission; so that when Mr. Westerfeldt 'offstage' pulls the strings Mr. Bosqui responds to the controlling touch with singular alacrity.

"Mr. Bosqui's resentment, or what is the same thing, Mr. Westerfeldt's resentment, arises (aside from the matter of the latter's enforced resignation) from the fact that Mr. Newbert and myself do not recognize his voice as the sole voice of authority—as the Kaiser's voice. Thus, for example, if somebody complained to my office that a fish ladder was required in Pitt River I should not think it necessary to put the State to the expense of my junketing trip from Los Angeles to Pitt River "to investigate." Instead I would refer the communication to Mr. Newbert, nearer the spot, and would accept his report or that of his expert. Mr. Bosqui, however, would be much more inclined to feel that the matter could not be settled until he and Mr. Westerfeldt had, at the State's expense, made solemn inspection of that turbulent stream.

"The specific statements of Mr. Westerfeldt that I consider that I alone have 'any authority in Southern California' and that I have told Commissioner Bosqui that he had no business to visit Southern California for the purpose of investigating important questions are unqualifiedly false. To the contrary, when Mr. Bosqui and Mr. Westerfeldt have visited Los Angeles I have entertained them in my own home and elsewhere and have aided them in whatever work they had, or said they had, on hand to the best of my ability."

Several other charges of Mr. Westerfeldt of discourtesy in the Los Angeles office, refusal to give hearings to particular interests, etc., are branded as false and absolutely denied by Mr. Connell.

ABSOLUTE DENIAL.

"When Mr. Westerfeldt charges that I caused cases against my friends to be dismissed in the police courts, and notified Mr. Fairchild to quit the prosecution of 'powerful concerns which were controlled by my friends,' he excels all his previous performances in reckless lying," continued Mr. Connell. "I never had a case against a friend dismissed; I never notified Mr. Fairchild to quit the prosecution of 'powerful concerns controlled by my friends;' there never were any 'powerful concerns controlled by my friends' which were to be prosecuted."

Concluding his statement to Gov. Stephens, Mr. Connell says, "As you read Mr. Westerfeldt's charges, you will not fail to perceive that his eagerness to injure me has outrun his discretion. Thus he would ask you to believe that the representatives of the sportsmen of Avalon condemn me for neglecting them and their rights in the interest of the commercial fishermen, and at the same time the canners condemn me for a too rigid enforcement of the law and a neglect of their rights in the interests of the sportsmen. Both charges cannot be true. Neither, in fact, is true."

Commissioner Connell has been a member of the Fish and Game Commission for twelve years, being appointed by Gov. Gillett and serving continually since that time. The members of the commission hold office at the pleasure of the Governor and devote their services to the State without salary or other compensation.

Mr. Westerfeldt served on the commission for about five years and then resigned to accept a more lucrative position as secretary and executive officer of the commission.

SOUTH'S LADS SHOW THE BEST.

(Pomona High School) 15 4-5s. State record.

While the college products have been shaving things pretty close no new records have been splattered about save the 3m. 26s. of the Redlands quartette in the mile relay. This smashed an old figure of 3m. 26 4-5s. made by U.S.C. several moons back.

Charley Paddock has come so close to the world records in the 100 and 220-yard dashes that it will occasion no surprise when he does make the grade. Three clocks caught him in 9 2-5s. at Berkeley recently while two had 9 4-5s. A heavy track at Pomona in the A.A.U. meet knifed his chances there, but at that he stepped in 9 4-5s. and 21 2-5s., respectively in his two specialties.

Dan Kelly, for the past fourteen years holder of the world's record in the 100-yard dash, who died recently in Fernie, B. C., was a University of Oregon man. Kelly made his record at Spokane in 1906. It has since been declared that he had a wind at his back, but the record was allowed to stand.

Kelly held lesser records in several other events. He had a Coast record of 24ft. 2½in. in the broad jump, and a mark of 21 2-5s. in the 220. He was also a fast quarter miler, running it in 49 1-5s.

NEW THEFT VICTIM.

Old Burglary Loss Found; Boy in Jail Suspected.

A burglary involving about $1000 and believed to have been the work of Russell King, the 16-year-old "funeral burglar" who is now in the City Jail, was reported to the police yesterday by Mrs. R. S. McGinnis of 833 South St. Andrews place. According to Mrs. McGinnis, her home was looted early in March but jewelry and other valuables were not missed until yesterday. From what the police have been able to learn, it seems that Mrs. McGinnis's residence was one of the places visited by the youthful "funeral burglar." The officers believe they will be able to recover most of the loot. Efforts will be made today to have the King boy identify the McGinnis home.

INTERCOLLEGIATE BOXING.

At last the colleges of the south are to have intercollegiate boxing. The University of Southern California is to have a bona fide boxing match with the University of California (southern branch,) May 14, 1920, at the Cub Institution. The rules are to be governed by the Amateur Athletic Union and all weights are to be entered.

This will make this event the first of its kind for the south as heretofore no college has had boxing outside of the school. Since the recent tournament which was very successfully staged at the Cub gymnasium enough talent has been brought forth to enable keen competition between the two colleges. U.S.C. also sent four boxers north to compete against Stanford and it appears that they made an impressionable showing.

Ben Einsig, who managed as well as staged the tournament at the State university, feels confident that an affair of this kind would prove a success as many local colleges are now teaching boxing. Jimmy Woodward, the boxer-instructor is sure that enough backing will be given to the newly-inaugurated sport. DeWitt Van Court, who refereed the contests that were recently held is lending all of the support that is necessary to make a boxing show a success.

SEATTLE, April 26.—Demaree, Seattle pitcher, won his game from San Francisco, 3 to 2, bunched hits and an error by Agnew accounting for the victory. Smith, San Francisco moundsman, hurled good ball, but Demaree was right with men on bases. Seattle broke a 2 to 2 tie in the seventh when Kenworthy scored Kopp on the squeeze play. The score:

DRAMA O' DUDS.

By Grace Kingsley.

Are our picture shows becoming mere dramas of duds? It would rather seem so. Doubtless critics will soon be writing their opinions something after this fashion: "Totty Two-Shoes, our very best-dressed actress, was a great disappointment in her newest play, 'The Sorrows of Cerise.' She wore only three gowns throughout the picture. In reel one, she reeled into the arms of Percy Gotrox, clad in a plain gingham gown. What an outrage in these day, when ginghams can be made so tastily, too! Many of the women patrons of the theater left their seats in disgust. In reel two she murdered the villain in cold blood, and a common tricollette with no trimmings whatever; and in reel five she fainted in three places in a passionate pink." Etc.

Not but that Irene Castle's latest picture, "The Amateur Wife," at Grauman's, isn't a fairly entertaining story. It is. But there's nothing particularly new in it, but the clothes Miss Castle wears. There are more duds than drama. But perhaps that's what women go to see. I remember a number of ladies at a tea party I attended decrying Griffith's "Broken Blossoms." "What's the matter?" I asked, expecting there'd be some hue-and-cry regarding the morals of the play. Instead of which, one sweet young, blond thing answered, "Oh, there are no gowns in it!"

Miss Castle has improved in looks by becoming plumper, but it's a mistake when she tries to play a girl of 14. As a convent-bred miss, the daughter of a musical comedy star, she comes home to mamma in New York, falls in love with an old-fish man, weds him, is thought to be wanting by him because she is so bread-and-buttery, which situation by the way, is a really interesting bit of psychological drama, leaves him to support herself, and then, when she sees in a morning paper on her way to work, that he's about to be ruined financially she goes back to him he having in the meantime discovered that bread-and-butter is good every-day diet.

The resurrecting of Charlie Chaplin's old play, "The Champion," in which is staged the funniest prize fight in the world, is by way of a brief for Charlie. I should judge. Another feature is a fashion review showing girls dressed in gingham and calico and organdie dresses. The audience may possibly forget there are also a million dollar's worth of girls, shoes, stockings, hats and parasols in the show.

ORPHEUM BILL RUNS PLEASANTLY MEDIUM.

The current Orpheum bill won't set the creek ablaze, but then, as Charlie Murray once justly remarked, "some of us have to belong to the fire department."

Not meaning by that that a critic is necessarily a kill-joy. Still I must admit I've conscientiously and consistently roasted the Four Marx Brothers ever since I've been on the job, every time they bobbed up, but either my taste has changed, or the act has improved with age or perhaps the hot weather mushes up one's judgment.

Anyway it's unanimous now, for I, in common with everybody else in the house, yesterday, got a lot of fun out of the act. The witty conversational interpolations of Julius, the harp playing of Arthur, both comic and serious, and his cutting-up, generally, and the piano playing of Leonard, remain the high spots of joy.

John B. Hymer has been short-circuited, so to speak, so that he returns rather soon with his Uncle Tom make-up and his unique and amusing act, "Tom Walker in Dixie," in which he is supposed to sell his soul to the devil. As formerly, it stops the show.

Two sincere colored gentlemen are Shelton Brooks and Horace George. Brooks sings his own unctuous songs and George pipes them sweetly on his clarinet. As if this were not cleverness enough, Brooks does some wonderful dancing.

Pretty pointless is the chatter put over by Herbert Ashley and Roy Dietrich, with Ashley in Hebrew character; their songs and parodies are better. In a picturesque cyclorama setting, Ben K. Berk and Juanita Sawn do some clever stepping, Berk being a top-notcher. Miss Sawn is very young and pretty and refreshing. Don't be late or you'll miss one of the niftiest wire-walking acts in the business, that of Billy La Mont Trio, in which a sweet lassie of 14 does a thrilling and novel bit on a moving tight-wire.

Donald Bowles Retires.

Henry A. F. Schroeder is announced as Bowles' successor, he having been associated with the producer for nearly fifteen years. As auditor for the general Morosco interests, he directed the finances of all the Morosco enterprises, and was associated with John Cort before joining Morosco.

Mr. Bowles's retirement comes as the result of long illness. His severing of his connection with the theater will be regretted by his thousands of friends, but it is certain that they will also wish him a speedy recovery. During his career here, covering the past twelve years, he has been favorably known to theater-goers as an actor of fine ability, and as a capable director and manager.

The First National productions include Marshall Neilan's "Don't Ever Marry," Constance Talmadge in "The Love Expert," Charlie Chaplin's newest comedy; Anita Stewart's "The Fighting Shepardess," James Oliver Curwood's "A Nomad of the North;" Katherine MacDonald's "Passions' Playground," Mildred Harris Chaplin's "Polly of the Storm Country," and Charles Ray in his debut as a First Nationalite, a picturization of George M. Cohan's "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway."

A feature of unusual interest is also announced by Manager Jack Cailicott, in the securing of the Mack Sennett comedies.

REVIEWS.

"THE MASQUERADER."

By Edwin Schallert.

An idealist in his devotion to the stage and traditions of drama, Guy Bates Post possesses the power to sway his audience by the force of his personality and his acting as few of the younger generation of players. If any of his roles have proved this, certainly the dual characterization in "The Masquerader," which opened last night at the Mason, has furnished ample evidence. That is not to say that "The Masquerader" is a great play. Neither is it a poor play, except in the purity of its form. In its way is is a very clever study of the failure of a weak man on a solid foundation and the success of a strong man on a fictitious. I have always felt, however, that Post has seldom, if ever, had the great chance that he deserves as an actor.

To fully appreciate Mr. Post you have to view him in his attention to elegance in traditions. The mere fact that he declines to submit to the commercialism of an advertising curtain in front of his stage shows the character of the man. The fact that he endows his play with a guiding theme in music is another act of artistic taste.

Taste is, as a matter of fact, the main thought in entire stage presentation. His plays, even, are better than much of the trash that is foisted on the public today, although they are not as good plays as one in a critical moment would expect from such an idealist as Mr. Post.

To the few "The Masquerader" and its people are not new, for some of us made the pilgrimage to Long Beach last fall and saw him act his dual conception at Hoyt's Theater, to the many his production will present a fascination that grows out of seeing a finished and finely-talented actor in a versatile expression of his artistry. The play, also intrigues with some of that magic of deception which belongs to the cinema, a sort of double exposure effect, especially in the garden scene where the one man takes the place of the other in passing through a gate in the hedge.

That he has able support goes without saying. His wife, whose stage name is Adele Ritchie, gives a special prominence to the role of Lady Lillian Astrupp. Alice John was inclined to the tragedienne style as the wife, but is capable as an actress. Elwyn Eaton as Brock, Katherine Raynor as Robbins and others are deserving of special mention.

ARTISTIC HANDLING OF HACKNEYED THEME

A picture wherein direction and correlated acting register a greater triumph than the evolvement of either plot or situation is "Women Men Forget," this week at Tally's Broadway. As was the case with his preceding feature, "Wives of Men," John M. Stahl's latest production reveals his capacity for discerning physchological values in expression and for putting on the screen a warm and enriched photographic composition.

I hope to see the day that Mr. Stahl secures a theme other than a moth-eaten triangle story—one by virtue of which he can manifest his sensitive feeling on a higher plane. For this director really has a peculiar feeling for picture and expression values. In fact, in certain regards he is alone in his results. Perhaps you will think that he has too marked a predilection for close-ups, but note that he succeeds in making the close-up count for a vital and intimate revelation not only of emotion but even of thought.

Her characters exist because they think, as one might say following the fashion of the Cartesian maxim.

"Women Men Forget" brings to the screen a rather ordinary and sometimes arbitrary story, handled in an able and generally artistic manner.

WARFIELD SOON TO RETURN EAST.

David Warfield is not to remain in California, after all, for a vacation as he originally anticipated, the noted actor, who is steadily recovering at the Hospital of the Good Samaritan from the injuries he sustained as a result of being hit some months ago, on a downtown street, by a passing automobile, already feels the urge of ambition to return to the stage and is making his plans accordingly. He will be out of the hospital in about two weeks, and will, in the course of a few days, attempt to walk for the first time in two months. The knitting process in the actor's left leg, which was broken in three places, has progressed very favorably, and he is exceedingly delighted with the result.

"So, you see, I am naturally anxious to return to work as soon as possible," he said yesterday. "I am going back East very soon after I leave the hospital. Oh, I may take a few days or a week's rest. But no longer. I have a great many things that I wish to attend to as soon as possible.

"It is likely that I could return to the stage in about four weeks, but I'm not going to undertake that. I probably will open in the fall in New York."

Warfield really seems to be revivified by the rest which he has enjoyed during his illness. He is filled with new ambition and the energy to achieve, and one can feel that while he is patient about waiting, he is acutely desirous of returning to his activities.

He greeted with the smile which is a familiar part of his stage personality, his wife and sister-in-law upon their entrance into his room bearing with them some special dainty for his evening meal. He has spent no lonesome days since his stay at the hospital—"Oh a few have been dull," said Warfield—but most of the day time is occupied with entertaining friends, and it the actor is alone he derives great enjoyment playing cards with his nurse.

J. A. Graves, vice-president of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, has been a frequent visitor and has kept the actor supplied with oranges from his grove near Alhambra.

NEREIDS CAPTURE FANCY AT PANTAGES.

Those nereids of the vaudeville stage, the Berlo Sisters, are providing a very seductive headline diving act at Pantages Theater this week. An illusion of a pool is furnished in the staging and the girls swim, dive and do stunts under the water. "Ma" Berlo has some amusing patter to lend sprightliness to the picturesque aquatic novelty.

Really remarkable is the bird act in which a group of talkative cockatoos and parrots take part, interjecting appropriate and sometimes inappropriate remarks during the conversation between the people. Sherman, Van and Hyman offer some nonsensical and amusing verses, and sing pleasingly. Florence Rayfield introduces some attractive songs. Renard and Jordan put on a snappy sketch, "The New Hotel Clerk," and the Leoras perform on the Roman rings.

A new serial brings King Baggot, Rhea Mitchell and Grace Darmon to the fore. It is of the well-known detective type, and is entitled "The Hawk's Trail."

THOSE DEAR OLD JOKES OF LONG AGO.

Thanks to Gus Hill and his merry minstrel men, they are with us again, the dear familiar jokes of long ago. If you would revive the memories of your happy adolescence 'way down East, by all means go to Clune's Auditorium this week, where the interlocutor and his end men are quizzing and answering in the voices and the words that they used forty years ago. Yes, and some of the very same men are there, too.

Minstrels are a form of hilarious dissipation dear to the hearts of the extremely simple and the frightfully sophisticated. Here they sit side by side, both intent on a new sensation in the amusement line—a sensation that is new because it is so unconscionably old.

The jokes are hoary to the point of mildew, but they are as freshly succulent as ever, to judge from the laughter and applause heard last night—and who wants to hear a new joke at a minstrel show? The innovation would spoil our pleasure, be we simple or sophisticated.

The cullud gentlemen are as punctilliously polite as they have always been, and the color in their faces and on their lips is the same, but the color in their clothes has grown more gorgeous with the years and the advance of impressionistic art. Their programme of songs and dances is a gay one, and they are liberal in response to encores. You certainly get your money's worth from Gus Hill's minstrels.

Such delightful old friends as Arthur Crawford, Rudy Willing, Jimmie Wall and George Wilson hold forth in the first half of the programme, and then follow a whole series of vaudeville skits from these same entertainers and others, in songs, dances and frolics—a melange of joy.

Antonio Sells His Life.

Antonio Moreno, Vitagraph star, this week granted to the Lord Northcliffe press of England the rights to publish in serial and book form the story of his life from the time of his boyhood in Spain to the present. S. F. Jacobs, representative for Lord Northcliffe, secured the star's permission to use his memoirs. According to Mr. Jacob's statement, Moreno ranks with Fairbanks in popularity with the British public.

Mr. Moreno has had a remarkable and colorful career, and the true account of his rise from a baker's boy in Spain to his present position will be a matter of interest to the fans. He is known to be connected with the Spanish nobility.

Dances as Is.

Ferris Hartman has commenced work with Pathe directing Beatrice La Plante in one-reel comedies. The current comedy is described by the star as of the sort in which she does "the dance of the seven veils with six of them in the wash."

DRAMA O' DUDS.

By Grace Kingsley.

Are our picture shows becoming mere dramas of duds? It would rather seem so. Doubtless critics will soon be writing their opinions something after this fashion: "Totty Two-Shoes, our very best-dressed actress, was a great disappointment in her newest play, 'The Sorrows of Cerise.' She wore only three gowns throughout the picture. In reel one, she reeled into the arms of Percy Gotrex, clad in a plain gingham gown. What an outrage in these day, when ginghams can be made so tastily, too! Many of the women patrons of the theater left their seats in disgust. In reel two she murdered the villain in cold blood, and a common tricollette with no trimmings whatever; and in reel five she fainted in three places in a passionate pink." Etc.

Not but that Irene Castle's latest picture, "The Amateur Wife," at Grauman's, isn't a fairly entertaining story. It is. But there's nothing particularly new in it, but the clothes Miss Castle wears. There are more duds than drama. But perhaps that's what women go to see. I remember a number of ladies at a tea party I attended decrying Griffith's "Broken Blossoms." "What's the matter?" I asked, expecting there'd be some hue-and-cry regarding the morals of the play, instead of which, one sweet young, blond thing answered, "Oh, there are no gowns in it!"

Miss Castle has improved in looks by becoming plumper, but it's a mistake when she tries to play a girl of 14. As a convent-bred miss, the daughter of a musical comedy star, she comes home to mamma in New York, falls in love with an old-ish man, weds him, is thought to be wanting by him because she is so bread-and-buttery, which situation by the way, is a really interesting bit of psychological drama, leaves him to support herself, and then, when she sees in a morning paper on her way to work, that he's about to be ruined financially she goes back to him he having in the meantime discovered that bread-and-butter is good every-day diet.

The resurrecting of Charlie Chaplin's old play, "The Champion," in which is staged the funniest prize fight in the world, is by way of a brief for Charlie, I should judge. Another feature is a fashion review showing girls dressed in gingham and calico and organdie dresses. The audience may possibly forget there are also a million dollar's worth of girls, shoes, stockings, hats and parasols in the show.

ORPHEUM BILL RUNS PLEASANTLY MEDIUM.

The current Orpheum bill won't set the creek ablaze, but then, as Charlie Murray once justly remarked, "some of us have to belong to the fire department."

Not meaning by that that a critic is necessarily a kill-joy. Still I must admit I've conscientiously and consistently roasted the Four Marx Brothers ever since I've been on the job, every time they bobbed up, but either my taste has changed, or the act has improved with age or perhaps the hot weather mushes up one's judgment.

Anyway it's unanimous now, for I, in common with everybody else in the house, yesterday, got a lot of fun out of the act. The witty conversational interpolations of Julius, the harp playing of Arthur, both comic and serious, and his cutting-up, generally, and the piano playing of Leonard, remain the high spots of joy.

John B. Hymer has been short-circuited, so to speak, so that he returns rather soon with his Uncle Tom make-up and his unique and amusing act, "Tom Walker in Dixie," in which he is supposed to sell his soul to the devil. As formerly, it stops the show.

Two sincere colored gentlemen are Shelton Brooks and Horace George. Brooks sings his own unctuous songs and George pipes them sweetly on his clarinet. As if this were not cleverness enough, Brooks does some wonderful dancing.

Pretty pointless is the chatter put over by Herbert Ashley and Roy Dietrich, with Ashley in Hebrew character; their songs and parodies are better. In a picturesque cyclorama setting, Sam Berk and Juanita Sawn do some clever stepping, Berk being a top-notcher. Miss Sawn is very young and pretty and refreshing. Don't be late or you'll miss one of the niftiest wire-walking acts in the business, that of Billy La Mont Trio, in which a sweet lassie of 14 does a thrilling and novel bit on a moving tight-wire.

Donald Bowles Retires.

Retirement of Donald Bowles as Western manager of the Oliver Morosco interests was announced yesterday from the Morosco offices here. Ill health was the cause of Bowles's retirement from active work.

Henry A. F. Schroeder is announced as Bowles' successor, he having been associated with the producer for nearly fifteen years. As auditor for the general Morosco interests, he directed the finances of all the Morosco enterprises, and was associated with John Cort before joining Morosco.

Mr. Bowles's retirement comes as the result of long illness. His severing of his connection with the theater will be regretted by his thousands of friends, but it is certain that they will also wish him a speedy recovery. During his career here, covering the past twelve years, he has been favorably known to theater-goers as an actor of fine ability, and as a capable director and manager.

The First National productions include Marshall Neilan's "Don't Ever Marry," Constance Talmadge in "The Love Expert," Charlie Chaplin's newest comedy; Anita Stewart's "The Fighting Shepardess," James Oliver Curwood's "A Nomad of the North;" Katherine MacDonald's "Passions' Playground," Mildred Harris Chaplin's "Polly of the Storm Country," and Charles Ray in his debut as a First Nationalite, a picturization of George M. Cohan's "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway."

A feature of unusual interest is also announced by Manager Jack Callicott, in the securing of the Mack Sennett comedies.

"THE MASQUERADER."

By Edwin Schallert.

An idealist in his devotion to the stage and traditions of drama, Guy Bates Post possesses the power to sway his audience by the force of his personality and his acting as few of the younger generation of players. If any of his roles have proved this, certainly the dual characterization in "The Masquerader," which opened last night at the Mason, has furnished ample evidence. That is not to say that "The Masquerader" is a great play. Neither is it a poor play, except in the purity of its form. In its way is is a very clever study of the failure of a weak man on a solid foundation and the success of a strong man on a fictitious. I have always felt, however, that Post has seldom, if ever, had the great chance that he deserves as an actor.

To fully appreciate Mr. Post you have to view him in his attention to elegance in traditions. The mere fact that he declines to submit to the commercialism of an advertising curtain in front of his stage shows the character of the man. The fact that he endows his play with a guiding theme in music is another act of artistic taste.

Taste is, as a matter of fact, the main thought in entire stage presentation. His plays, even, are better than much of the trash that is foisted on the public today, although they are not as good plays as one in a critical moment would expect from such an idealist as Mr. Post.

To the few "The Masquerader" and its people are not new, for some of us made the pilgrimage to Long Beach last fall and saw him act his dual conception at Hoyt's Theater, to the many his production will present a fascination that grows out of seeing a finished and finely-tailored actor in a versatile expression of his artistry. The play, also intrigues with some of that magic of deception which belongs to the cinema, a sort of double exposure effect, especially in the garden scene where the one man takes the place of the other in passing through a gate in the hedge.

The jokes are hoary to the point of mildew, but they are as freshly succulent as ever, to judge from the laughter and applause heard last night—and who wants to hear a new joke at a minstrel show? The innovation would spoil our pleasure, be we simple or sophisticated.

The cullud gentlemen are as punctilliously polite as they have always been, and the color in their faces and on their lips is the same, but the color in their clothes has grown more gorgeous with the years and the advance of impressionistic art. Their programme of songs and dances is a gay one, and they are liberal in response to encores. You certainly get your money's worth from Gus Hill's minstrels.

Antonio Sells His Life.

Antonio Moreno, Vitagraph star, this week granted to the Lord Northcliffe press of England the rights to publish in serial and book form the story of his life from the time of his boyhood in Spain to the present. S. F. Jacobs, representative for Lord Northcliffe, secured the star's permission to use his memoirs. According to Mr. Jacob's statement, Moreno ranks with Fairbanks in popularity with the British public.

Mr. Moreno has had a remarkable and colorful career, and the true account of his rise from a baker's boy in Spain to his present position will be a matter of interest to the fans. He is known to be connected with the Spanish nobility.

Dances as Is.

Ferris Hartman has commenced work with Pathe directing Beatrice La Plante in one-reel comedies. The current comedy is described by the star as of the sort in which she does "the dance of the seven veils with

LINK FLOWERS WITH I.W.W.

State Produces New Evidence in "Dugout" Case.

Editor Declares He has no Such Connection.

The District Attorney, in the case of Sydney R. Flowers, editor of the Dugout, a magazine for returned soldiers and sailors, indicted on a charge of criminal syndicalism, produced new testimony in Judge Valentine's court late yesterday afternoon linking him with the I.W.W. This is the first time that such evidence has been offered, and will be followed, it is said, by Deputy District Attorneys Stafford, McCartney and Turney, with other witnesses further forging this link.

Mr. Flowers, who was recently tried on this charge, the jury disagreeing, has declared he had no connection with the I.W.W., but that his purpose was to educate the soldiers and workingmen in industrial freedom.

The witness called by the prosecution yesterday was W. W. Warn, a police officer, who testified he has frequently seen Mr. Flowers at the I.W.W. headquarters, 234 South Spring street. He said he had seen him at least a dozen times, having followed him to the door of the room and that, therefore, he knew where he had gone. Attorney John Beardsley, counsel for Mr. Flowers, did not complete his cross-examination and will continue it this morning.

Despite vigorous protest by Mr. Beardsley, Judge Valentine admitted into the record yesterday a copy of the New Justice containing an article by J. H. Ryckman on "The Truth About Russia." Flowers recommended to his readers various periodicals including "The New Justice." Attorney Beardsley declared that the copy offered was published in April, 1919, while the Dugout did not recommend the magazine to its readers until September.

Judge Valentine ruled that the magazine in question was admissible as evidence because it had been found in Flowers's office when the Federal authorities raided it. He also admitted the May, 1919, Liberator, although Flowers did not recommend the Liberator until October. To this his attorney said: "If Sidney Flowers is to be held accountable for the contents of a magazine published by somebody else before the Dugout was established, he could be held accountable for everything the other man's magazine published back through ten or twenty years."

The Dugout was not established until mid-April of last year, after the April New Justice was on the stands, Mr. Beardsley said.

MOROSCO CASE SET.

No Settlement Yet in Wife's Suit Involving Theater.

Judge Jackson has set down for May 21, the hearing of the suit of Annie T. Mitchell against Oliver (Morosco) Mitchell, which involves the profits from the Morosco Theater and an injunction. The parties have been trying to settle their differences and the case has been continued for that purpose, from time to time. It will now be tried on its merits.

The separate maintenance suit of Mrs. Mitchell, in which she names Selma Paley, an actress, has never come to trial. Mr. Morosco having been in the East since the action was started.

TO ATTEND FESTIVAL.

Councilmen Accept Invitation to Park Department May Frolic.

Members of the City Council yesterday accepted invitations to attend as guests of the park department the May festival to be given on Saturday afternoon at Lincoln Park. Mrs. Sloan-Orcutt, head of the Park Commission, appeared before the Council and outlined the programme of the festival, which will be the fourth given by the department since she became president.

The entertainment this year will include a monster production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," in pageant form with music by Gregory's band and a drill by the R.O.T.C. cadets of the Lincoln High School, with presentation of colors by Mrs. Sloan-Orcutt.

The festival will be entirely free to the public.

ADOPTED ON PLEDGE?

Foster-Daughter Contests Will; Says Estate Was Promised Her.

In Judge Shenk's court yesterday Mrs. Gladys Corison of Long Beach declared that at the time she was adopted by Jerome and Grace Troy in 1903, her foster-parents agreed to give her all their property when they died. Mr. Troy died intestate. Mrs. Troy has subsequently passed away, bequeathing her estate to her sister, Mrs. Lydia R. Williams of Glendale. Mrs. Troy is said to have deeded property worth about $30,000.

Mrs. Corison contested the probate of the will and told of her relations with her foster-parents. The amount involved in the suit is about $50,000.

FLYER IS BANKRUPT.

O. S. T. Meyerhoffer, 710 South Broadway, who lists himself as an aviator, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court, yesterday, giving his liabilities as $5144.45, and his assets as $370. The principal item among his debts is $4148.60 awarded to the widow and children of Andrew Curris, who was his partner in the aviation game, but who was killed in an accident, April 17, 1919, the award being given the heirs of the dead man by the California Industrial Accident Commission.

IN PUBLIC SPEAKING.

A class in public speaking will be organized by the University of California extension division at noon tomorrow in room 413 Metropolitan Building. At the same hour Thursday a class in parliamentary law will be organized. H. J. Stonier will have charge of both classes.

POWERS TO TAKE HIS MEDICINE.

John Powers, self-confessed robber of $45,000 worth of jewels and bonds from S. J. Ward, a capitalist, yesterday withdrew his plea for probation and will take his medicine. His attorney, Claud Morton, made the statement yesterday to Judge Willis, sitting for Judge Craig. Powers was recently a witness before the grand jury and it was said he had implicated four others as sharing in the loot he got at a local hotel. Dorothy Brown, who was arrested at the same time as Powers and later discharged after she gave evidence against him, was instrumental in having him plead guilty.

ROBBERY SUSPECT'S SANITY QUESTIONED.

THREE ACCUSED OF LOOTING BANK PLEAD GUILTY, BUT FOURTH FACES TEST.

Whether Joe Carney, charged with having helped three other men hold-up the cashier of the Vermont branch of the Home Savings Bank, and rob him of $5000, was insane at the time of the crime is a question that will be tested in Judge Willis's court. Bert Edwards, Charles Scott and Ray Pierce, Carney's co-defendants, pleaded guilty yesterday to the charge of robbing the cashier of the bank, and Judge Willis will pronounce sentence upon them today.

Carney's persistent assertions that "President Wilson is a friend of mine and everything will come out all right," caused Deputy Public Defender Aguilar to ask that alienists examine the accused as to his sanity before the time set for his trial, May 7. Deputy Dist.-Atty. Powell is to prosecute the case.

The three who pleaded guilty did not admit that they robbed I. Labowitz, who was depositing in the bank at the time of the hold-up, and this charge was dismissed on motion of Mr. Powell.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS

BY MYRA NYE.

Ebell Club.

Three Los Angeles women composers were honored yesterday, in a song recital by Lawrence Strauss, with Gertrude Ross at the piano, at the Ebell Club. The last number of seven parts, songs composed by Carrie Jacobs Bond, Eleanor Remick Warren and Gertrude Ross, were interpreted by Mr. Strauss, with Mrs. Bond at the piano for her own songs, "My Soul, Do You Remember," and "The Hand of You." Miss Ross accompanied for Miss Warren's song, "Beauty," and for her own, "A Round-up Lullaby," "At Close of Day," and "Go Not, Happy Day."

With many seated in the patio, this was perhaps the largest audience of the year for a Monday afternoon programme. Both tenor and composers were welcomed with enthusiasm.

As an unexpected guest, David Knudsen, from Christiania, one of the most noted actors of Norway, recited a lyric of his country in Norwegian.

Mrs. Mathew S. Robertson, president of the club, told of the success of the club celebration, Friday, of Shakespeare's birthday, when Frederick Warde, the Shakespearean student and actor, gave a lecture recital which she said was one of the events of the year for Ebell.

Mrs. Grantland Long, chairman of the resolutions committee, presented two resolutions for action. Both were unanimously carried. The first indorsed the plan to establish a county industrial farm and to improve conditions at temporary stations of detention. The second resolution was for the raising of teachers' salaries.

Woman's City Club.

His continued satirical allusion throughout his discourse to the "mighty allies," the mighty emphasized with sarcasm, and his long argument against the League of Nations and the peace covenant, seemed rather shop-worn. Mr. Robins ended with a recital of all the things Hiram Johnson had done for California, including suffrage, and stopping just short of claiming our climate as an achievement of the Senator's.

When questions were asked from the floor Mrs. Herbert Cable asked why, if Senator Johnson was for suffrage he never once had spoken for the Susan B. Anthony amendment; and Mrs. Emma Reed desired to know why some credit was not given to the band of men and women who had accomplished reform in policies and politics, and are now, with one or two exceptions, working for Hoover.

BABY'S BODY FOUND IN AN INCINERATOR.

NO CLEW TO SLAYERS OF WEE GIRL KILLED BY BLOW AND HID IN BOX.

Although Police Detectives James and Blackmon searched all day yesterday for a possible clew to the persons who murdered a 2-day-old girl and then attempted to burn the body in an incinerator at the rear of a drug store at Temple street and Beaudry avenue, nothing could be found to solve the mystery. The dead infant was discovered by Julius A. Ronkin, owner of the drug store, when he went to the incinerator to burn some papers.

According to the police the child was killed by a blow over the left ear and was then hid in a cardboard box. This receptacle was discovered on a pile of rubbish near the incinerator by a woman who was burning some other trash. She threw the box into the flames. Mr. Ronkin approached the incinerator just after the wrapping had burned away from the body.

Export Trade Coming West; Need of Business Government.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

Observers are not blind to the fact that the star of export is leading the wise men in every line of productivity to our western shores. They are beginning to understand that Los Angeles is to be one of the country's great export ports in the not distant future, and there is more of a making ready than the average public is aware of. It is true, as pointed out in the current issue of the Americas, published by the National City Bank of New York, advance sheets of which were received yesterday, that the foreign trade of America is confronting a new expansion phase, likely to be quite different from the war-stimulated activities of the half decade or so since war interrupted the world's established trade relations. Up to this time, our expanded foreign trade has been largely in the direction of Europe and South America; in the coming years it will be the Orient that will claim an increasing share of attention from American exporters and importers.

The decision of the National Foreign Trade Council to hold its 1920 meeting on the Pacific Coast, and to devote the major part of the convention's time to matters dealing with trade in Pacific countries and the Orient, generally is a timely recognition of the importance of Pacific trade and of the part it must play in the future development of American business. It must be recognized that Europe will, in the nature of things, regain a great deal of its former trade with less-developed parts of the world as soon as industry again becomes reconstructed in the nations of that continent. Signs that are significant of this trend are already visible and show that, in spite of the demoralization of the war years, the manufacturers of Europe are very much alive to the renewal of their former trade affiliations.

Conditions in the Orient, however, bear a different complexion. That part of the globe has experienced an economic awakening of which the world at large has little comprehension as yet, but which will undoubtedly play a most important part in the readjustment of American foreign trade to post-war conditions. The awakening now so evident in such nations as China, the Straits Settlements, British India and a few others was brought about by a number of factors, but the leavening of the movement came from the increase in the value of silver, the favorite commodity and medium of exchange of these countries.

Federal Reserve Statement.

Gold reserves in the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, according to a comparative statement issued yesterday through the Los Angeles branch, declined nearly $15,000,000 as compared with the preceding week and nearly $20,000,00 from the corresponding week a year ago. The total reserves, which include $535,000 legal tender notes, silver, etc., amount to $135,891,000; for the preceding week, $148,268,000 and for the week ending April 25, 1919, $155,282,000. Total resources are $402,000,000, compared with $415,216,000 a week ago and $322,554,000 last year.

Thomas-Mallory Dividend.

Los Angeles stockholders in the Thomas-Mallory Production Company have intimation that the initial monthly dividend has been declared and that checks will be mailed June 1 to stockholders of record May 25. This company is said to be producing in the northwest extension of the Burkburnett field, and from its one-fifth interest in the Testerman well in Tillman county, Oklahoma.

Wanted—A Business Government.

More than 200 bankers are attending the sessions of the executive council of the American Bankers' Association being held at Pinehurst, N. C. In a notable address yesterday, Richard S. Hawes, president of the association, demanded that the government of the country be placed upon a business basis, that unnecessary employees be discharged, that wild extravagances cease, that the budget system be adopted for governmental expenditures, that the tax laws be adjusted on a sound, economical basis and that the expenditures be administered by efficient men. The present inflation of money and prices, he said, should be gradually reduced, and a more normal standard established to relieve the strained credits of our banks; having in mind always that this transition must be by degrees so as to not augment in any way many existing conditions, or encourage unrest among our people.

Fresno Farms Company.

The William R. Staats Company, which last July offered to the public $450,000 Fresno Farms Company first mortgage 6 per cent. bonds is in receipt of a statement, as of March 30, which reveals a sound financial condition and active demand:

Approximate unsold acreage, 11,000 acres.
Bonds retired since August, 1919, $3,100.

Glenn-Colusa Irrigation.

Blankenhorn-Hunter-Dulin Company are offering a $200,000 issue of 7 per cent. Glenn-Colusa irrigation district warrants, due January 1, 1921. This district, recently organized, is 23 miles in length, and varies in width from 2 to 6 miles. Sixty per cent. of the land is under cultivation, the crops consisting of alfalfa, barley, corn, rice, citrus fruits, and dairy products. The actual valuation of the property in the district is placed at $12,000,000. The Sacramento River will furnish the source of water supply for the district when the irrigation canals, for which these warrants are being issued, have been completed.

Los Angeles Stocks.

The week opened with the market in much better shape than at the Saturday close. Oils were noticeably stronger, practically all of the leading issues registering gains. Liberty Bonds were also in better demand at rising prices. Industrials were soft. The feature of the mines, and of the entire market, was the activity in Telluride, which, on the strength of development stories jumped from an opening of 59 cents to a close of 70 cents, the stock being in strong demand at the latter figure. This issue has enjoyed a sensational rise covering a period of weeks and those who mounted the band wagon when it was selling around 15 cents are correspondingly jubilant.

Ticker Ticks.

Federal Reserve Board's weekly statement shows that net deposits increased $20,000,000; reserve note circulation decreased $5,400,000. Bank cash reserves decreased $4,200,000, causing a decline in bank ratio from 43.3 to 42 per cent.

The Controller of the Currency reports that the total deposits in the national banks February 28 was $16,965,132,000, a decrease from December 31 of $961,291,000.

Average price of twenty industrials yesterday was 95.76, an increase of .30 per cent. Twenty rails, 72.01, an increase of .36 per cent.

Calkins Urges Conservatism.

John U. Calkins, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of which Los Angeles is a branch, has returned from Washington and New York, where he has been some weeks on business connected with the Federal Reserve Board. Calkins says that conditions in the East are improved, with more tendency to conservatism among financiers, but less apprehension, withal, than has existed. While he would not say that the increases of the rediscount rates of the various Federal Reserve banks had been successful in making any reduction in the general expansion, he did believe that it had the effect of getting it under better control or of checking it. Like the recent increase of the rate of the Bank of England to 7 per cent., it was to some extent an experiment.

LATEST NEWS OF FOOD PRICES.

Rail Strike Brings Strawberries Down; High Sugar Cost Also has an Effect.

Strawberries are cheaper. Not much, but a little. There is no chance of a return to the happy days when big boxes of luscious fruit could be purchased Saturday nights for 5 cents, but because of the strike, which has prevented shipments, the price, at a few local markets dropped to 15 cents. Yesterday, however, they sold for $5 per crate, which, translated into retail terms, spells 19 or 20 cents per box.

The Southern California Berry Growers' Association is also having trouble in getting enough cars, and now the high price of sugar seems likely to hit the canneries and household preservers so that later in the season a still lower price may be registered. The berries are exceptionally fine this year. The price for the balance of the week is likely to fluctuate between 17 and 20 cents.

N. Y. COTTON ADVANCES TO NEW HIGH LEVELS.

NEW CROPS UP EIGHTY-FIVE POINTS ON HEAVY SHORT COVERING.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, April 26.—Initial quotations in the cotton market were 10 points lower on May but other positions were 17 to 20 points higher. The buying by shorts and commission houses eventually advanced new crops about 85 points over yesterday's close and the list at the end of the first twenty minutes was firm at the highest levels of the session.

Realizing became more active around 38.90 cents for July and 35.60 cents for October or about 97 to 118 points above Saturday's closing quotations. Reactions of 25 to 30 points followed but there was continued covering and the market became less active but held generally steady during the early afternoon.

The market showed increasing strength after the publication of detailed weather reports which showed heavy rains in central belt sections and the advance was stimulated by private reports of further rains east of the Mississippi. July sold up to 38.80 cents and October to 35.98 cents or 101 and 148 points net higher.

CORN PRICES SOAR ON CONGESTED DELIVERY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, April 26.—Marked congestion in May deliveries of grain combined with a scramble on the part of shorts particularly in rye carried prices up sharply to new high figures on the crop for the year's features, with the finish at the best, figures to a shade under. Corn gained 5¼@5¾ cents, oats 2¾@3¾ cents, rye 7¾ to 8 cents, while barley was unchanged to ¾ cent higher.

Strength in stocks and cotton, an upturn of 25 to 50 cents in hogs, wet and cold weather over the West, and light offerings combined to make it hard for shorts to cover. There was an absence of selling orders at the opening and stop-loss orders were executed much above limits named. Trade was limited. Lard had a range of 5¾@6¾ cents and oats 3@3¾ cents for the day.

There was nothing to indicate that the leading seller of corn of late had been willing to cover but a majority of the pit crowd went home short Saturday night and came in early. Opening trades were above the offers and the sellers of the latter had to cover.

Cash grain receipts showed no improvement. Corn bumped 2 to 6 cents and oats ¼@¾ cents on sample tables. The filling premiums of the cash oats over the futures combined with a holding of May by cash houses, tend to make a sensational condition in this grain.

The range:

What Directors Think of Midway Northern Oil Co. Stock

To the Stockholders of Midway Northern Oil Co.:

A situation has developed which leads your directors to believe it is necessary to advise you to hold your stock until our affairs with the Interior Department of the United States are finally settled. We may say in this connection that the Department is acting with due diligence and that we expect to be in full possession of our property and impounded funds within a comparatively brief period, and that liberal dividends will be distributed as soon as it can be done legally. Your company is getting thirty cents more per barrel for its oil than last year, which alone tends to increase its income about 6 per cent. annually. If production and prices keep up (and everything points that way) your company no doubt can easily pay 24 per cent. per annum on par, which is about 40 per cent. on present market prices on your shares, hence our advice to hold on until you reap full benefits for which most of you have waited so long and so patiently. Call at the office or telephone in for correct information before you are persuaded to part with your stock at present prices.

Sincerely yours,
MIDWAY NORTHERN OIL CO.,
M. M. Miles, Secy.

After an experience of 13 years as a trader upon the L. A. Stock Exchange I have no hesitancy in advising stockholders to increase their holdings in Midway Northern. To the outsider, I say: Get in while the price is low and in all probability you will double your money within the next few months. It's the BEST BUY I have seen as a trader.

California Hydro-Electric Companies

"IT is vitally necessary for the continued growth and prosperity of the vast territory * * * supplied by applicant with electric energy, that its full program of development go forward without serious interruption. I believe it to be in the best interest of consumers that they pay rates sufficient reasonably to enable the company to earn a fair and reasonable return upon the actual investment. Unless this is done it is plain that the utility cannot borrow sufficient funds to carry forward necessary developments * * * It is becoming increasingly evident that the business life of a community * * * is in a very large measure dependent for its growth and expansion, and, in some instances, even its continued operation upon electric energy and as the cost of steam generation is constantly increasing, the necessity for cheaper production of electricity by hydro-electric development has become more and more recognized.

"Of course, it is not to be understood that the Railroad Commission urges the payment of unreasonable rates to stimulate investment in this public utility, but when it is considered that to place this company in a position where it can successfully finance will not result at this time in even an 8 per cent. return on investment it will at once be realized that the burden upon the consumer is not unreasonable."

The above excerpt from decision of April 15, 1920, of the California Railroad Commission in its application of a California electric company for an increase in rates, reiterates the established policy of the people of California to further their own interests and prosperity by offering every needed inducement to capital to engage in the development of this essential industry.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, April 26.—An undercurrent of confidence pervaded today's moderately active stock market, sentiment among traders being much heartened by the better showing of the Federal Reserve Bank and clearing house, at the end of last week.

The railroad strike was considered on the street to have lost some of its recent threatening aspects, although freight congestion was still acute. The street was inclined to pay less attention to the Mexican situation, judging from the strength of stocks involved in the affairs of that country.

There was an abundance of call money at 7 per cent., the local supply being fortified by offerings from interior banks, but time funds gave not the slightest indication of relaxing from their long-sustained tension.

The decree of the United States Supreme Court directing the disintegration of the so-called coal combine, proved to be the real development of the day, coming after the session was more than half over. Reading, the central feature of the alleged combination, made a net gain of 13 3-4 points and affiliated anthracite and bituminous coalers were 2 to 5 points higher at their best.

Much of the early and intermediate movement converged, as usual, around steels, equipments, motors and oils, at extreme advances of 2 to 15 points. These were subjected to occasional realizing sales, but rallied briskly before the close. General Motors overtopping all others, at a gain of 18¾ points. Shippings, tobaccos, sugars and textiles were prominent for large dealings, American wool gaining 10 3-4 on reports that some announcement favorable to the stockholders may accompany tomorrow's publication of the annual report. Sales amounted to 1,032,000 shares.

Trading in bonds was light, Reading 4s gaining six points. Liberty issues also made a good showing, all but the 2½s closing at gains. Total sales, (par value) aggregated $12,775,000. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

The Service We Render

VII, Continuous Bulletins

WHERE clients file with us a confidential record of their security holdings, we cross-index this record, and thereafter furnish them with continuous news bulletins and bulletins of opinion and advice which relate directly to their holdings.

THUS a client receives the news and our current views on the very subjects which are of real interest to him. New developments may occur almost daily, news of importance transpires, and if the investor is not in close touch with Wall Street or other events, he may easily overlook matters of extreme importance to him. This service however, eliminates that danger and completely bridges the periods between the rendering of the quarterly report.

MANY of our clients who make but moderate use of our correspondence privilege, or who are not in a position to give ample time to consultation, find this continuous bulletin feature of far-reaching value. They are never allowed to go to sleep on their investment affairs.

WHERE thousands of investors have found these bulletins indispensable for years past, they should be equally valuable to you. Why not arrange to get this continuous investment protection in your morning mail?

Watch the Business Barometer

The present state of inflation is abnormal. Men with vision cannot help but foresee the crisis of reaction. While today the sky may not be overcast, still the barometer is disturbed.

It is a time for caution and prudence. "Closer prices, closer terms, closer collecting" is the slogan of wise manufacturers and wholesalers. Such men continue to go aggressively after business, but they protect the business they already have by throwing out a rear guard of Credit Insurance.

DEMAND FOR PRODUCE IS BRISK; MARKET FIRM

The undertone of the local produce market was very firm during yesterday's session, the leading lines moving readily at the level of Saturday's market. Price changes were comparatively few. During the early part of the session the buying demand was very brisk, and the country receipts, which were light, were absorbed rapidly. Rail and express shipments were moderate in quantity, a factor which contributed toward the firmness of the market.

The outstanding feature was the unsettled condition of the potato market. Arrivals were again very small, but there was practically no demand, and the price trend was again downward. Daboy river potatoes declined 25 cents per hundred, best stock shifting at $3.50 to $3.75 per hundred, against yesterday. Idaho russets were quoted slightly higher price, the range being from $5 to $5.25. Sweets were 25 cents lower, the commercial and those mostly at the $8 top. Onions were unchanged. Tomatoes were also weaker, fancy stock making a decline of 50 cents per crate, the range being from $2.85 to $3.25 per crate. Arrivals of the latter were very heavy, and of good quality, but there was little buying interest.

Bananas were scarce, and higher, the market ruling around 10 cents per pound for the better grades, as compared with Saturday's top price of 9 cents per pound. Heavy strawberries were in good demand, selling at a premium of 25 cents per crate over Saturday's quotations. Fancy stock, however, was available at last prices, $2.75 per crate, as compared with the low level of $1 per crate of the preceding day. Imperial Valley asparagus again declined 25 cents per crate, owing to the poorer quality of the arrivals that day. Lettuce, however, remained firm and unchanged. Mexican tomatoes also appeared on the market in quantity yesterday, prices averaging about 25 cents per lug higher than the Imperial Valley stock, on account of the fine quality of the offerings.

There was little activity in the shipping market, shippers being unable to obtain cars for perishable commodities. The carlot market for potatoes was very dull, with practically no sales.

German Marks

The German City Bonds that are today being offered on the market are not being sold by the cities that issued them, but are privately owned Bonds that are being sold by the owners for reasons that we have no right to inquire into.

These Bonds come to us through responsible Banks and Stock Exchange Houses. In our opinion, they offer a most attractive speculative investment. They yield 4, 4½ or 5 per cent. on par, and you can buy them at practically one-tenth of their pre-war value. An advance of 1c on the mark gives an added value of $10 to your Bond, as well as increasing the interest rate.

We will sell:

SAYS PAY RISE FOR TEACHERS MEANS MUCH

"Justice to the teachers first, other things can wait," said H. M. Haldeman, president of the Commercial Federation of California, yesterday, speaking of the campaign now being waged by the teachers of Los Angeles city and county for a readjustment of salaries.

Asserting that the public is "riding gaily through life while the teachers are left alone to make their fight against the red menace," Mr. Haldeman declared that "the present industrial disturbances prove that the teacher has not always been able to save her pupils from the radical menace."

"Capable teachers we must have," he added. "A new generation is forming in the public schools. The kind of teaching the children will receive, will determine the kind of government and society this country will have fifteen or twenty years hence."

NEW SURPRISE IN GAS ATTACK.

Production of Order Rocks Plaintiff's Theory.

Woman Shown to Have Signed Order; Must Mate Pay?

Explorations yesterday into the case of the famous disputed gas bill of W. W. Wingo, of 439 Savoy street brought to light the new and astonishing fact, laid before the Board of Public Utilities, that Mrs. Wingo herself, and not Mr. Wingo signed for the gas at the Savoy street home, and on this evidence, the attorneys of the gas company told the board that the company felt justified in shutting off her gas for alleged non-payment of a gas bill of $19.01, contracted before she became Mrs. Wingo. The discovery caused the board to send the matter back to the City Attorney, for further information, in prose or verse.

WITHIN RIGHTS.

The attorneys for the company point out that Mrs. Wingo is the only member of the Wingo household with whom the company has had dealings, and say the inspectors were within their rights when they turned off the gas for which Mrs. Wingo had personally signed under her married name. Mrs. Walter Wingo had previously been supposed that it was husband Wingo's gas that the company had turned off because Mrs. Wingo had not paid an old prenuptial gas bill.

The City Attorney had already held that Mr. Wingo was not responsible for Mrs. Wingo's gas bill contracted before her marriage, but in view of the new turn the case has taken and the counter-attack of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, the bright young men in his office must once more delve in the musty tomes in search of material with which to solve "The Great Wingo Gas Bill Mystery, or Should the Company Have Turned Off Wingo's Gas and Shall Wingo Pay the Gas Bill?"

HOLD 'EM LIABLE?

There is a strong probability that the board may hold that Mrs. Wingo being responsible for the old bill and the new bill she and her husband are jointly and severally liable.

Husband Wingo contended before the board yesterday that even if Mrs. Wingo did sign the new gas application, she did so as his agent and that it was his gas and not hers that the inspectors turned off. He says he is not responsible for the payment of the old bill.

INDICTED STRIKERS ANSWER ROLL CALL.

ONLY ABSENTEE IS MAN WHO IS BACK TO WORK; PLAN DEMURRER AS STARTER.

When the roll of the indicted strikers was called in United States District Judge Bledsoe's court, yesterday, all of the twenty-nine indicted men responded with the exception of James Williams.

Assistant United States Attorney Palmer, who has charge of the case for the government, stated that Williams had been called out on his run over the Southern Pacific, and would not be present. He will appear in court this morning.

The defendants were arranged in a semicircle around the courtroom railing, and every man whose name was called responded. It was then announced that Davis, Rush and McDonald had been retained as attorneys for all of the men, with the exception of Hubert Kittle, who stated he had no lawyer, but would get one if he considered it necessary.

Jud Rush, on behalf of the accused, entered a plea of not guilty as to all of the defendants. It was agreed that a demurrer to the indictment would be filed by noon Saturday, and the document will be argued at the first convenience of the court. Judge Bledsoe will go to Fresno next Monday, for a short stay and the argument may be postponed until his return.

It was also agreed, after some discussion, that the date of the trial should be set for Tuesday, June 1, both sides expressing a desire for an early hearing. It is the understanding that an attack to be made on the constitutionality of the Lever law, under which the indictment is framed, will be one of the outstanding features of the demurrer to be submitted Saturday.

CRIME GROWTH MAY MEAN APPOINTMENT.

United States District Judge Trippet, with the attaches of his court, went to San Diego last night, where the April term of the Federal court will be resumed for the week. There are seventeen criminal cases on the docket, and if Judge Trippet finds that he cannot handle them all during the week, he will be assisted by Judge Maurice T. Dooling of San Francisco, who is spending his vacation in this city.

The increase in the criminal business at San Diego has revived the gossip that an assistant United States Attorney will shortly be permanently stationed in that city. The recommendation has been made by United States Attorney O'Connor, but no action has ever been taken by the Attorney-General.

CONCEALED ASSETS?

George Andrews, alias Albert Annes, Fred Ficea, alias Fred Annes, Albert E. Ficea and James Ficea, the last two being brothers, were arraigned before United States District Judge Bledsoe, yesterday, charged with having concealed the assets of the Annes Bros., formerly in the grocery business in this city, from their creditors. They pleaded not guilty, and the case will go on the calendar Monday next to be set.

BEGIN APRIL TERM.

The April term of Department One, District Court of Appeal, began yesterday, and will continue until Thursday evening. There were but three appeals from criminal judgments on the calendar—Joe E. Costa, on appeal from San Diego county; Henry Barnes, from Kern county, and A. R. Majors, from Los Angeles county. All of the cases on yesterday's calendar were submitted after either oral arguments or an order to submit briefs.

CHURCHES SPEED UP DRIVE.

Reports began to come in rapidly yesterday from Southern California churches participating in the week's campaign for a national fund of $336,777,572. Several churches have reached or exceeded their quotas and many others have obtained a large percentage of the allotted amounts.

Among the reports turned in yesterday was one from the Garvanza Congregational Church, where the entire quota was subscribed Sunday night. A similar report came from the Inglewood Presbyterian Church. One United Brethren church, with a membership of only twenty-eight persons, was given a quota of $1500. At the Sunday morning service, this sum was subscribed, with an additional $478. The First United Presbyterian Church has raised 40 per cent of its quota, the Second United Brethren Church has raised 50 per cent.; the First United Brethren reported that fully a third of its quota had been subscribed and the Sunset Hills Presbyterian Church in its first day of campaigning among its members, reached 70 per cent. of its allotment.

At Baptist headquarters it was stated that more than a dozen churches throughout the Southland were either nearly or completely over the top with their quotas.

The Baptist leaders said some of the smaller churches had probably doubled their quotas while at least one church was believed to have tripled its allotment.

MAY BE INSANE.

Carl W. Kreidler was arraigned before United States Commissioner Long, yesterday, on the charge of sending an indecent letter through the mails, to a San Francisco woman, and in default of a bond of $2000 was sent to the County Jail. It is believed that Kreidler is insane.

Dorsey.
